Amusements

Lincoln J. Carter's sensational melodrama, "The Heart of Chicago," delighted a large audience at the Grand last night. The play was as well done as on its previous visits. In fact the present company is changed but little from that which appeared last season. The play among sensational melodramas, the railroad train scene at the end of the fourth act was really successfully handled. The train came swooping down without the appearance of laborious stage mechanism to cause the half of the audience to laugh while the other half held its breath. The scene brought certain call after certain call from the enthusiastic house. Another piece of stage realism that was successful was the fire scene in act one. The finale of a mass of burning ruins called forth generous applause.

Of the company the favorites were Johnny Philiber as "Swipes" and Blanche Boyer as "Maggie." The pair made excellent use of their opportunities to portray bits of real street life in a great city, and in doing it pleasantly relieved the heavier nature of the leading characters. John T. Nicholson as "John Ames" was passable, although his enunciation was hardly clear. The play goes again tonight, tomorrow night, and at a matinee Saturday.

The next attraction at the Grand is "The Hills of California," which opens Thursday evening to continue through the week with a Saturday matinee.

HELP FOR CONVICTS.

Christian Union Discusses Conditions Surrounding Discharged Prisoners.

At last night's meeting of the Christian union, a communication was received from the newly organized Christian Endeavor society of the English Lutheran church announcing its entire loyalty to the local evangelical field, and asking for representation in the Christian union. Petition granted, and congratulations extended.

The unsatisfactory condition of things in the matter of the status of discharged convicts was brought up. It was explained that the present custom is to furnish a discharged man with a suit of clothes and $5 and then turn him adrift. If the man has a trade, he finds it some times impossible to get work because he is not a member of the trade union, and he has not the means to get into that union, and it is doubtful if he could do it as being ascertained what his condition was. The man, as a general thing, has no means of leaving at once for his home, or for some other place where he is reasonably sure of obtaining work. But what can he do with only $5 in his command and few or no friends to appeal to? The result is that he becomes discouraged, takes to drink again, and then he is shortly ready for another term in the state prison at the expense of the community. This exception of the discharged convict to go elsewhere for a new start, than to leave him lying around Salt Lake, only to get into trouble again.

It was decided to enter into correspondence with the Salt Lake charities association, with a view to co-operation in furnishing such discharged convicts as may have shown themselves worthy of assistance in leaving their homes or elsewhere on the expiration of their sentences. A letter from one of the members of the Christian Endeavor society at the Grand was read, showing that good work is being done there by the Christian Endeavor movement.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier, New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, analyzed a number of the rough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This remedy was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all poisons makes it the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her child. It is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, and whooping cough. When taken in time it prevents pneumonia. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

WANTS HIS SHADE TREES.

W. F. Noble Files an Injunction Suit Against the City.

The cutting down of the grade for the new sidewalk on H and South Temple streets and the destruction of the trees on that corner has resulted in an injunction suit being filed in the district court against Salt Lake City by W. F. Noble, who some time ago sent a protest to the city council and a claim for damages to his trees and property. In his complaint filed yesterday afternoon Mr. Noble alleges that the sidewalk contractors have commenced to excavate on the corner at the intersection of H and South Temple streets, and that if the work is proceeded with as started it will destroy all of his shade trees and otherwise injure his premises.

A temporary restraining order and an order to show cause were issued by Judge Hall yesterday afternoon directing the city to show cause next Saturday, Nov. 12, why the injunction should not be issued and made permanent.

DONAHUE IN TROUBLE.

Young Earl Duke Accused of Grave Crime at Helper.

Manager Donahue of the Wells Fargo Express office at Helper, Utah, is in serious trouble with the company, and according to his signed confession, gambling and drink are the cause of it. Yesterday he was arraigned before Justice Millard on the charge of embezzling $225 from the company. He pleaded guilty. From his statement it appears that he has gambled and he removed money from the safe, the result of which was the loss of the company's money. He was discharged from the safe, the result of which was the loss of the company's money. He was discharged from the safe, the result of which was the loss of the company's money.

MESSAGE TO FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Interesting News From Cincinnati With Local Confirmation in Salt Lake City.

The thousands of members of fraternal bodies in this state will be interested in the following message from John Theobald, a prominent Forester who lives at 1111 York street, Cincinnati.

John Theobald writes: "For five years, I suffered with stomach troubles, having all the distress and misery that afflict dyspeptics. I could not enjoy eating, thinking of the suffering that would follow if I ate. I found nothing to help me, until I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I am now a cured man and believe that it made a permanent and complete cure."

E. C. Schramm is in demand for his cure for dyspepsia. His cure is in the form of small tablets and sells at 50c a box. The remedy has made so many and such remarkable cures amongst his customers, confirming Mr. Theobald's statement, that he will give his personal guarantee with every box he sells to refund the money if it does not cure.

You Needn't.

You needn't keep distressed after eating, nor belching, nor experiencing nausea between meals. In other words, you needn't keep on being dyspeptic, and you certainly shouldn't.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures dyspepsia—it strengthens and tones the stomach, perfects digestion, creates a normal appetite, and builds up the whole system.
