

Ellison, Elizabeth Smith, Verna Bowman, Margaret Wilkinson, Annie Raymond.

The marriage of Mr. Benjamin Griffin of Ogden and Miss Maud Smith of Logan was celebrated in Logan on Wednesday. A reception was held for the bride and groom at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, on Thursday evening. Mrs. Griffin is one of Logan's most esteemed young ladies, and a wide circle of friends will greatly regret her departure from Logan, at the same time extending hearty congratulations to both young people.

The Nibley home on West Center street was the scene of a very enjoyable social evening, at which Miss Julia Nibley was the hostess. The party was given in honor of Miss Ina Smith of Salt Lake. The guests were Misses Ina Smith, Dora Wright, Margaret, Maggie, Maggie, Myrtle, Margaret, Rose, Homer, Annie, Nibley, Messrs. George Hansen, Orville Adams, George Torgensen, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hansen and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Lamereaux have at their guest Miss Anna May Clark of New York, and entertained a few friends most pleasantly in their home on Wednesday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lamereaux, Miss Clark, the Misses Anna and Helen Jacobson, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Zina Y. Card, Mrs. E. T. Lloyd. The guests were very much interested in listening to the early church experiences of Sister Card.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Petersen extended their hospitality to a number of friends in honor of the Misses Jacobson of New York. A delicious repast was partaken of and music and games, principally bridge, were very much enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Petersen's guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Lamereaux, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Larsen, Miss Anna May Clark, the Misses Anna and Helen Jacobson.

Mrs. T. E. Daniels entertained Mrs. Ed. Hanson, Mrs. Knox and Miss Lydia Owen at an informal Dutch lunch on Tuesday evening.

Miss Blanche Caine was hostess at a 12 o'clock luncheon, which was served at the A. C. on Saturday last. The table decorations and place settings were very pretty and appropriate for the occasion, it being St. Patrick's day. Covers were laid for seven, the guests being the Misses George, Thatcher, June Blair, Daisy Andrews, Zella Smart, Claire Eldredge, Jennie Ellison and Mrs. J. T. Caine, Jr.

The Misses Bertha Eccles and Eliza Petersen served dinner to several of their girl friends at the A. C. last Saturday afternoon. Those who enjoyed the event were Misses Etna and Edith and Florence Williams of Ogden, Misses Jennie and Elva Ellison, Miss Eva Stoddard and Miss Blanche Caine.

A very pleasant social affair of last week was that given by Mrs. S. A. Langton. Her guests were entertained at supper those present being Mr. and Mrs. Moses Thatcher, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Thatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Thatcher and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Thatcher.

Supt. and Mrs. Taylor of the Logan Sugar factory, who expect to leave shortly for La Grand, Oregon, were entertained at supper by Misses Etna and Edith and Florence Williams of Ogden, Misses Jennie and Elva Ellison, Miss Eva Stoddard and Miss Blanche Caine.

One of the prettiest dancing parties

WALDORF ASTOR, JR., TO WED A "GIBSON GIRL."

The surprising announcement last week that Waldorf Astor, son of William Waldorf Astor, is to marry Mrs. Robert Shaw, sister-in-law of Charles Dana Gibson, has excited a lively interest in social circles in both the United States and Europe. It is as great as that of Mrs. William Astor, of Col. "Jack" Astor and of the latter's sisters all put together.

Mrs. Naomie Langhorne Shaw is a daughter of Col. Chiswell D. Langhorne of Charlottesville, Va., and was the third of the four beautiful Langhorne sisters known as the Gibson girls, one of them having married Charles Dana Gibson. "Naomie" married Robert Gould Shaw in 1897, but separated from him in 1902, one of the principal causes of her differences with her husband being her professed inability to endure life in Boston. A divorce followed in February, 1903, Mrs. Shaw being awarded by the Virginia courts the possession of her two children.

The wedding will take place next month, probably in London.

MELLIN'S
For the Baby
FOOD

Have you ever used Mellin's Food? If not, drop us a line asking about it. We will answer any and all questions and be only too glad to show you how to use Mellin's Food in a way to get the best results. We will send you a sample of Mellin's Food for your baby just as soon as we get your letter and will give you the benefit of our experience.

The only infants' food receiving the GRAND PRIZE at the International Gold Medal, Highest Award, Portland, Ore. 1905.

MELLIN'S FOOD CO., BOSTON, MASS.

of the winter was given in the Pavilion on Monday evening under the management of the Dasso Girls of the A. C. The refreshment room was a thing of beauty in Japanese decoration and tea and rice were served by four little maids from school in Japanese costume.

Mr. Evan Owen of Wellsville was in Logan on Wednesday.

Hon. Lorin Farr of Ogden visited in Logan several days of last week.

Miss Inez Smith of Salt Lake, has been the guest of Miss Julia Nibley.

Mr. Lawrence Ellison of Layton, was a Logan visitor last Sunday and Monday.

The Misses Veda Eccles and Florence Williams came up from Ogden to spend several days with Miss Bertha Eccles.

Mr. S. A. Langton has returned from a business trip to Chicago.

Hon. C. W. Nibley was in Logan the first part of the week.

The Misses Jacobson of New York are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Larsen.

Mr. Grey and Mr. Rufus Cobb of Salt Lake and Mr. Cook of Ogden, all of the Oregon Short Line, made a short business trip to Logan and Richmond this week.

Mrs. G. W. Thatcher, Jr., is spending a few days in Salt Lake with relatives and friends.

Mr. Fred Spence of Ogden visited in Logan several days of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Willey who have been the guests of Miss Anna May Clark, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thatcher entertained a number of friends informally on Tuesday evening.

BRIGHAM CITY.

The most elaborate affair of the week was a banquet tendered to the old members of the Third ward by the ladies of the Relief society. The ward assembly room was handsomely decorated with potted plants, cut flowers and draperies. Long banquet tables were beautifully laid the entire length of the hall. Mrs. Day Evans presided as toast mistress. Budgets were worn by the elderly guests, designating the number of years they each had traveled in their allotted three score and ten. After the feast the honored guests were taken to their homes in carriages.

The officers of the Y. M. M. I. A. of the Fourth ward arranged a delightful surprise on the Y. M. M. I. A. officers at home. The evening was spent playing progressive games, for which prizes were awarded. Mr. Ben Call received the first prize, while Mr. Hyrum J. Hansen carried off the consolation. Dainty refreshments were served, and about 30 guests were present.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Boxelder Commercial club will meet at the club rooms Thursday next and effect a permanent organization.

The Y. M. M. I. A. of the Third ward were hosts at a pretty evening social Tuesday last. The guests of the evening were the Y. M. M. I. A. Dainty refreshments were served, and the evening was spent playing games and enjoying a pleasing impromptu program.

The officers of the Third ward Primary association entertained in honor of Miss Rose Carter, who has severed her connections with the association. A beautiful engraving was presented to Miss Carter as a token of the esteem in which her friends hold her. The evening was spent in games and music. Dainty refreshments were served.

Mr. J. Frank Irving was an Ogden visitor Monday last.

The Mutual of the Fourth ward gave a bazaar last Thursday to which all their friends were invited. The ward hall was tastefully arranged with booths and cosy corners, at which all comers could have their wants gratified. A large crowd enjoyed the evening.

Mrs. E. H. Pierce of Salt Lake is visiting in Brigham, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Madsen.

Another Mutual affair was the social in the Fifth ward with the young ladies as hostesses. Long tables were laid, at which all the guests were seated. The evening was delightfully spent by those present.

EUREKA.

The Knights of Columbus celebrated St. Patrick's day by giving a grand ball at the Opera House last Saturday night. A large crowd was present, and an enjoyable time had by all.

Mrs. George Carlsson, who has been visiting friends at Springville, returned home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Carlos are entertaining the latter's mother, who arrived this week from Blackfoot, Idaho.

Mrs. Mark Hopkins returned to Salt Lake Monday, after several weeks' visit with Mrs. Peter Comer.

James Nelson and wife of Robinson left Tuesday for Le Grande, Oregon, to make their future home.

The Odd Fellows of Eureka entertained the grand lodge officers with a banquet at their hall Wednesday evening.

Mr. Otto Matson of Mt. Pleasant is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Matson.

A farewell party was given at Hassell's hall, Mammoth, last Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. William Humphrey and children. After spending a few hours dancing, a delicious supper was served.

The Ladies Socialist club gave one of the largest dances ever given in Eureka, at Odd Fellows hall, on Thursday evening. The hall was beautifully decorated, and each lady present was presented with a bunch of carnations. The ladies of the club proved themselves apt entertainers.

The Ladies' Republican club was entertained most pleasantly on Wednesday night by Mrs. H. P. Fullwood. There were a large number of ladies present, and the evening was enjoyably spent with card playing, music, etc. The hostess served a palatable lunch. The next meeting of the club will be held at the city hall on Wednesday, April 4, when new officers will be elected. All Republican ladies are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Columbia Lodge No. 2 gave a banquet at their regular meeting in honor of six newly initiated members.

The invitation dance given by Robinson Lodge K. of P. Tuesday evening, was a grand social success. A large number of Eureka people attended the affair.

The Ruble Theatre Co. gave three very creditable performances at the Opera House the fore part of this week. Good houses greeted each performance.

The Mothers' club was entertained Friday by Miss Clara Stott, and a very enjoyable afternoon spent.

Mr. James Hixon of Provo is visiting his husband, who is installing the electric machinery at the Godiva mill.

Mrs. George A. Robertson of Robinson visited with Eureka friends this week.

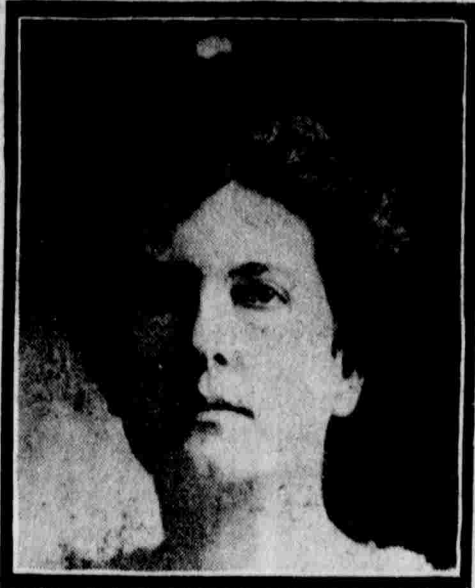

Mr. and Mrs. David A. Dupue have returned from a trip to southern California.

Louis Hassell, a well known resident of Tintic, was married last week to Miss Kate Anderson of Springville.

Cal Kelly and wife of Robinson have returned from a brief sojourn in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Hilma Hales, who has been the guest of Tintic relatives for several weeks, has returned to her home at Spanish Fork.

Mrs. M. A. Browne and daughter, Lillie, were the guests of Spanish Fork relatives this week.

Mrs. CLARENCE BURNS.

IDLENESS MAKES "CATTY" WOMEN, SAYS FAMOUS CLUBWOMAN.

A paper written and recently read by Mrs. Clarence Burns, before one of the many New York women's clubs of which she is a member, has aroused a lively interest among men as well as women.

Mrs. Burns' essay had for its subject the proposition that idleness develops "catty" women while work, lots of it, makes them sweet tempered. She says, among other things:

"Work keeps women sweet. Depend upon it, catty women are nearly always idle. For idleness breeds feminine jealousies, tempers and meanness even more often than love—as the poets tell us is its function.

"The women who are sweet-tempered and amiably disposed toward their kind are the busy women—those who work for their living or for charity—and those best and busiest of women—the dutiful mothers. For the human female cat is rarely a person with an interest in life outside her own selfish self.

"An energetic and ambitious woman with a calling—be it ever so humble—simply has not the time for all those despicable pettinesses that make life a burden for others.

"The leaders in any sort of enterprise are never 'catts.' You see it takes breadth and clearness of intellect and largeness of heart to get on anywhere. Men or women who have not these qualities find it hard to rise. So the women with the yellow streak in their make-up, seldom reach the top of any ladder. I have seen some of this sort go up like rockets, but they come down just about as rapidly—like sticks.

"If a woman's soul is warped with a yellow streak or a strain of catty nature, her only salvation is work. Heavy, unselfish interests are a sure cure for this sort of a bad disposition. Work brings amiability smiling in its train."

LEHI.

Last Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Stookey very pleasantly entertained the officers of the First ward Sunday School and other guests, numbering 46. Games were played and refreshments served.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Kendall have moved to Salt Lake City, where they will make their future home.

Dr. R. E. Steele returned Monday from an extended visit through California.

Mr. John L. Snow of Eureka was visiting Lehi friends Wednesday.

Wednesday evening the Third ward Relief society gave a pleasant social at the ward hall.

Bishop O. P. Miller of the presiding Bishopric was a Lehi visitor Sunday.

James Southwick, Jr., of Idaho Falls, is visiting Lehi relatives.

Mr. Charles Ohman has returned to his home at Sugar City.

Mr. John Gurdly is visiting friends in Vernon this week.

Mrs. Samuel Stark is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. W. Southworth, the first of the week.

This evening the Fourth ward M. I. A. will present a program and farce in the opera house for the benefit of the missionary fund.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Stookey were visiting in Provo Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Spear of Bloomfield, Ia., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Stice.

Mrs. Jane Vaughan is visiting relatives in Sugar City, Ida.

Mr. Nate Rockhill was visiting Spanish Fork friends Thursday.

Last week Miss May Lunt of Provo became the wife of Leonard Peck of Lehi. The couple will make their home here.

CLUB CHAT.

The Daughters of the Mormon Battalion will hold their regular monthly meeting at the residence of Mrs. Philo T. Parnsworth, 139 east Brigham street, on Thursday, April 12, at 8 p. m.

All members and all daughters and granddaughters, descendants of Mormon Battalion "Boys," are most earnestly requested to be present.

The music section of the Ladies' Literary club was in charge of the program at the general weekly meeting yesterday and gave the following program:

a. Ungarischer Marsch.
b. Ungarischer Tanz von Imre Alfoldy (Two pianos).

Mrs. Horning. Mrs. Treasurer.
Mrs. Putnam. Mrs. Nelson.
Affairs Musical. Miss Berkhout.

a. Berceuse. Mrs. Streleki.
b. If my sons had any pinions.

a. Love Song. Mrs. Chorus.
b. Mazurka. Mrs. Schuecker.

a. The House of Cards. Fease.

b. I love you, sweet. Bartlett.
Vocal solo with harp accompaniment.
Mrs. W. A. Wetzel.

Mrs. W. G. Tuttle.
Widmung. Schumann.
Piano Solo.

Mrs. Alvah Lewis.
Whirl and Swirl (The Flying Dutchman). Wagner.
Club Chorus.

Andante (5th Symphony). Beethoven.
Two Pianos.

Twenty-six members of the Visiting Nurses' association of Chicago, have been appointed officers of the juvenile court of the city. Of course, they are unpaid officers. All these initiatory reforms instituted by women have to be furnished without price until they are proved indispensable.

The nurses were given the privilege of working with the other officers because it was found that a large proportion of the juvenile delinquents were physically ill or congenitally defective. The nurses appointed are engaged in district work and in many cases are acquainted with the families of the delinquent children. Their status as court officers will give them the authority to compel proper treatment of children who are physically in need of attention, power to send children to school or hospitals, etc.

Sixth avenue, West, Seattle, Wash., previous to the convention, that there may be careful and painstaking consideration of each before publicity. Women's conventions are yet on trial, and it behooves us to show systematic improvement.

The Dallas Kindergarten association has issued a little manual entitled "Legal Status of Woman in Texas." The manual was compiled by a reputable lawyer, and contains information gathered from dozens of law volumes, court files, etc. The little book was a gift to the association, and will be sold for the benefit of its treasury.

The president of the Texas federation, Mrs. E. P. Turner, alluded to it in her address before the state federation, and urged that every club woman make herself familiar with the laws which applied to her.

"Every woman," she said, "should understand her legal status, in order to protect her property interests, and those of her children, when thrown on her own resources. Too many times advantage is taken of her helplessness, ignorance and business imprudence, and too many times women do not realize their limitations until brought face to face with a crisis, and unable to save themselves from the designing and unscrupulous."

The women who took Mrs. Turner's advice and informed themselves of the laws regarding women in Texas must have suffered some disagreeable surprise. In the woman's department of the Dallas News a summary is offered. It reads in part:

"Among a number of the most important legal inconsistencies revealed by a study of 'The Legal Status of Woman in Texas' is that the earnings of a wife belong to her husband, unless she chooses to make her a present of them, and that they are liable for his debts; that marriage constitutes him the manager of her separate estate, the earnings, increase of revenues, of which he may squander at will; that he may draw checks on her bank account without her permission and against her protest, though she does not have the same right; that he may invest her moneys as he sees fit, whether or not she approves, and the only remedy she has, even though all the fortune belongs to her, is to appeal to the county court to set apart enough of it to provide herself and children with the necessities of life. Naturally a great many women do not resort to this humiliating extreme in time to protect themselves.

"Then, if thrown on her own resources, to make a living for herself and family, the wife attempts to engage in any business, the law again steps in and declares that in any enterprise conducted for profit the married woman must confine herself to buying for cash only, and be ready to show that the money used was her separate property. Nevertheless, the earnings become community property, and as such the law entrusts them to the husband. However lucrative the venture, she is not permitted to replenish the stock from its receipts, and must draw upon her individual funds to meet incidental expenses. This renders it very evidently impossible for her to continue any business on a profitable basis, except at the will of her husband."

Stuffed sweet potatoes are recommended. Bake in a hot oven, and when they are done cut a long slit down one side, scoop out the inside. Beat up with salt, pepper, butter, and a tiny bit of lemon juice. Fill the potato shells and let brown before serving. This has been done with Irish potatoes for many years, but cooks are apparently just finding out how good the sweet potatoes are.

One of the easiest ways of preparing chafing dish mushrooms daintily is to fry bacon craps in the blazer, taking up with a fork when done. Unless there is too much grease left in the blazer do not dispose of any of it, but drop it in the mushrooms, which have been stemmed but not peeled. Place the hot water pan under the blazer and cook the mushrooms until tender. Add a little Worcestershire sauce or lemon juice, and serve mushrooms and bacon together.

A correspondent asks for a recipe for soft gingerbread. This one is gleaned from an old cookbook, and is probably excellent. Reminiscences of that old cookbook are remarkably pleasant, although this particular gingerbread is not especially remembered. Break a fresh egg in a bowl, stir with a fork, and add a tablespoonful of melted butter and fill the bowl half-full of cream. Fill to the top with New Orleans molasses, turn into a larger bowl, beat and add a cupful of flour in half sifter. Add a level teaspoonful of soda. Add a teaspoonful each of ginger, allspice, and cinnamon, and a little salt. Bake in a sheet.

All the nursery furnishings yet devised nothing has struck such a chord in the small girl's heart as the miniature of her own mother, which is placed on the table edge and turn with a wheel. They are practical, and are quite large enough for the manufacture of dolls' clothes. Even those who care little for playing house enjoy the manufacture of dolls' dresses.

In nearly all the advanced schools

Where does Bridge come from? Persia is said to have given us the game of Bridge, and Turkey, according to R. F. Foster, author of "Foster's Complete Bridge," was the home of this latest popular card game. Mr. Foster says in his preface: "Bridge would seem to be a combination or outgrowth of various other games, notably Gerasch, Siberia and Preference. A game very much like Bridge has long been popular in Holland, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to be derived from the word 'switch,' which is popularly believed to be a Russian word, but there is on such word in the Russian language. The game itself is generally credited to the East, and the elements of it are to be traced in many of the older games of cards. The name is supposed to