CATARRH

Of Ten Years' Duration. The Discharges Thick, Bloody, and of Foul Odor. Senses of Smell and Taste Wholly Gone. Entirely Cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Gentlemen:—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has conferred on me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, smelling a foul odor so bad that my presence in a room with others was very offensive to them. I was under the care of some of the most eminent physicians, but nothing in the way of medical skill could relieve me.

MELBOURNE H. FORD, Grand Rapids Daily Times Book Printer.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 5, 1878.

LATER.

Gentlemen: The package of SANFORD'S CURE arrived here on night all right. I don't know what I should have done if it had not been for this remedy. I have tried Nasal Douches and everything else, and although I have been able to stop the offensive discharge, have never been able to restore the senses of taste and smell, but I credit SANFORD'S CURE with all the benefit I have received, and will cheerfully inform them in detail as to the benefit the remedy has been to me.

MELBOURNE H. FORD.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 19, 1878.

EVENING NEWS.

SOJOURNER TRUTH.

"Why, chile, bless your heart, I'se jess glad to see you. I'se come here for a messenger, an' I guess I'se de oldest messenger in de world. I'se been here a good while, chile. It seems when I t'ink on it like as if I'd been in de world ever since de world begun."

Such were the words of Sojourner Truth, the Lybian Sibyl, as she grasped the hand of a Herald reporter who had called to see her; and she fixed upon him her great, luminous black eyes, in which there seemed to smoulder the gloomy mysticism of all the ages of the dusky East. When the visitor entered she was surrounded by three or four Quaker ladies, with whom she was chatting about her long experience of life. She rose with a sprightly movement, like a maid of sixteen. Her presence impressed one with the true gentility of her character in spite of her ebon complexion and her servile origin. There are authentic records which prove that her age is at least one hundred and two years, yet far from being shrivelled and haggard in appearance her skin is as soft and smooth as that of the merest child. The doctors declare that her pulse is that of a young woman. While her face is distinctively of the Nubian cast her features are not gross, and her eyes are capable of the most intense expression, varying from pathos and love to wrath and abhorrence. Her dialect differs essentially from that of the Southern negroes. It is founded upon her early knowledge of the Low Dutch which was her only language until she was twelve or thirteen years old.

A [illegible] that he had heard of her ever since his boyhood and had come to satisfy himself that the was not altogether a myth, the reporter asked if she could tell her exact age.

She replied, "I spec you's heard of ole Sojourner dis many an' many a year. But I can't tell how old I is, cos I don't reckon as I lived at all afore de 'mancipation. What was I born, honey? Well, I was a slave forty year. I growed up among de Low Dutch along de Hudson. Fas' I is, I dunno as ever I was born at all. I foun' myself in de world such a long, long time ago. Why, honey, I 'members the fust steamboat. Dem days I was jes' every bit as big as I am now. I was a-livin' on de shore den. Yes, yes, bless your heart, chile, I saw it. Why, it made noise enough, I tell ye, an' it threw the water up a'most as high as this here house."

"Did you ever see Washington, Sojourner?"

"No, I never did see Washington, but I lived when he did," and this she said with a great brightening of her face and an accent of reverential pride. "When he died, I rec'lect de noospaper was in mournin' and dere was a great time o' sorrow. Years arterward I saw Lafayette. He was on de steamboat a comin' up de river wi' de cadets. He took dinner across de river, on de Dutchess County side. Dere dey roasted a whole ox for him. Den I saw him anoder time when he went up de North River, but I never was very near him. He was on de deck, an' I was on de land. I rec'lect hearin' tell a great deal 'bout Napoleon Bonaparte, too."

"What was your name in those days?"

"I had different names, first one name and den anoder name. I changed dem wid every change of my masters. First it was Bell Ardenburg, den Bell Nealy, den it was Bell Scrivers, den it was Bell Dumont, and den it was Bell Van Wagener. But bless de Lord chile, He has redeemed me out of all dose names. My chilern is called arter de names ob de masters dat dey were born under. But I'ie got a new name, bless de Lord, I'se seein good times now, an' de Lord he have raised up dis here young man here to write it all down what I say. I want de edeters an' de reporters to know dat I 'preciate de work dat dey does in puttin me in de papers. I know it's hard, caus I never has any stops when I talks, and I preciate it. Dere was Greeley, bless him!"—and the lady's emphasis was affectionate and fervid—"he always sent his reporters to my meetin's, an it did a sight ob good; yes, deed it did, de Lord bless 'im."

"How came you to be called Sojourner Truth? Were you called that in the days of slavery?"

"No, no, chile; bless your soul, do ye spose dose slaveholders could speak o' de truth?" replied Sojourner, with immense energy and a voice that sounded like a trumpet of wrath. "Well, I'se goin' to tell you 'bout dat, and dis is more dan I'se ever told to any reporter. Ye see, I was boun' a slave in the State of New York an' Ulster County. I was sole five times, an' I used to pray to God to make my master an' mistress good. But they didn't get good, an' when narster wouldn't set me free when he promised he would, I left him and went to Long Island. Dere wa'nt no city den, only a few houses on the Brooklyn Heights. When on the oder side I had started out two miles I stopped to get somethin' to eat, an' a Quaker lady, she dat give it to me, asked me my name. It had come to me as I was a walkin' an' a-thinkin, dat I was to have a new name, it had come to me dat it would be 'Journer.' So I tole her as I said de Lord give it to me. She 'sisted dat I must have some other name, an' den as I walked along de sand for two miles furder I kep' a sayin' to myself, 'Oh Lord, give me a name wid a handle to it,' saying' it to myself as I went along; an' all at once dere came to dese words, 'Sojourner Truth,' 'Dat's a good name, Lord,' I said, 'dat's a good name, and I tank you, Lord.'"

Sojourner touched her upon her experience with the Second Adventists in Connecticut. This was a time of great religious excitement. In the year 1846 she had a last interview with her old master, Mr. Dumont, and he gladdened her heart by confessing that he had lived to realize the evil of slavery. In the same year she joined the Northampton Association. She had previously been a moderate disciple of Matthias, the false prophet, and had also listened to the preaching of Miller, who prophesied the end of the world. Her peculiar and remarkable talents becoming widely known, she naturally became an apostle of the anti-slavery cause, and her eloquence was quite as potent as that of more learned and more profound advocates. Her imagination is weird and grotesque, while her mind is clear and strong, and her sympathetic influence is as wonderful as it is intense. She first sat before the multitude in the company of most of the distinguished reformers of this country.

"When de lecterin on slavery burst up I went down to take care of de freedmen in Wash'n'ton during de war." Then she repeated the discourse that she had had with Lincoln when she visited him. She told him that the first time she had heard of him was after he had become President. (And he replied that he had heard of her many times before that. She said, "I thought you was like Pharaoh, an' one time it 'peared 'most like de Lord would eat you up. Mr. Lincoln was standin' up an' lookin' down at me an' smilin', an' he said, 'Well, Sojourner, you see dey has'nt done it yet, don't you?'"

Sojourner then described, in a most poetic manner, a Bible which was shown her by Lincoln, and which had been presented to him by the colored people of Baltimore.

The reporter, when he was about to take his leave, he uttered the wish that Sojourner might live a hundred years longer, and she quickly rejoined:—

"I'se goin' to. God has moulded me over anew, an' he has put new flesh on to my ole bones."

Then she took off her cap and showed a head that is covered with curly and silken hair almost entirely black. There is a narrow streak across the middle and over her left temple which is as white as driven snow. "Twenty-seven years ago," said she, "my ha'r was white as dat paper, but arter I was sick it began turnin' black again. Ain't it wonderful? Mebby I shall have new teeth too. I think de Lord has made me all over again to be a testimony to de nation."—N. Y. Herald.

TO PLAYERS ON THE VIOLIN OR GUITAR.

With a view to making the sale of Strings for all Instruments a SPECIALTY, I have been casting about for strings having the best reputation in this country and in Europe, and have now been rewarded, not only in discovering the "BEST STRINGS MADE IN THE WORLD," but also in securing the GENERAL AGENCY for their sale in this and adjoining Territories.

These strings will be known in this market as "Calder's Strings," and will be numbered 30, 31 and 32.

No. 30 are strings known, for many years, by this number, to the leading musicians of the Territory, as the best strings hitherto offered in this market. Price reduced to 25 cts each.

No. 31, are new unbleached American strings, made from Selected Material only; which have been severely tested by the leading Violinists of the country, and by them pronounced unequaled for PURITY of TONE, STRENGTH and GREAT DURABILITY. Now offered here for the first time. Price 25 cts. each.

No. 32, "These strings have created a sensation in Europe." They are of Italian make, and were perfected in October 1877; since which time they have been thoroughly tested and used at the Conservatories and Opera Houses in Europe. Professors, Artists, Leaders and Members of the Opera Orchestras, in Naples, Padua, Rome, Verona, Venice, and Florence, Italy; Trieste, Austria; Dusseldorf, Prussia; Dresden, Saxony; Munich, Bavaria; and in in all the leading cities of Europe; certify that these strings are WONDERFUL for their STRENGTH, DURABILITY, CLEARNESS of TONE, READY RESPONSE to the TOUCH, as well for TRUENESS in comparing the fifths, and SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS MADE." I have copies of the certificates. Notwithstanding the high cost price of these strings, I will retail them at 30 cts. each.

If have other fine qualities of four length Italian Strings—No. 28, at 35 cts. for two strings, and No. 29, at 20 cts. each.

I purchase the above strings from the manufacturers, and can therefore guarantee their genuiness.

STEEL STRINGS. There are many eastern dealers selling an inferior article of steel strings because they are cheap. I get my supplies from the original manufacturers, and guarantee them genuine. Price, for violin, guitar or banjo, 30 cts. each.

If you cannot get my strings at the stores in your towns, send postage stamps for the amount, and I will mail them to you. Be sure to order by the number so that I may know the kind you want. A discount of 25 per cent will be made when a dozen is ordered. The trade supplied at regular prices.

SAVE YOUR HAIR

TO LEARN HOW TO DO IT READ AND HEED WHAT FOLLOWS.

SAVE YOUR HAIR.—The laws of Health and Longevity demand it, the customs of social life require it. The matter is of great importance in every way.

BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR.—It is the surpassing crown of glory, and for the loss of it there is no compensation.

CULTIVATE YOUR HAIR.—For by no other means can it be saved and beautified.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

Discovered thirty-five years ago by Prof. Lyon, of Yale, is the most perfect preparation in the world for preserving and beautifying the hair.

Besides being the best hair dressing ever produced, Lyon's Kathairon will positively prevent grayness, and will restore new hair to bald heads, if the roots and follicles are not destroyed.

It actually performs these seeming miracles, of which the following is

A FAIR SPECIMEN

I had been entirely bald for several years, constitutional, I suppose. I used a few bottles of Kathairon, and, to my great surprise, I have a thick growth of young hair.

COL. JOHN L. DORRANCE, U. S. A.

In every important respect the Kathairon is absolutely incomparable. It is unequaled.

1. To Cure Baldness.
2. To Restore Gray Hair.
3. To Remove Dandruff.
4. To Dress and Beautify the Hair.

BEAR IN MIND.—The Kathairon is no sticky paste of sulphur and sugar-of-lead, to paint and daub the hair and paralyze the brain. It is a pure and limpid vegetable lotion, intended to restore the hair by natural growth and reinvigoration. It is splendidly perfumed, and the most delightful toilet dressing known. No lady's or gentleman's toilet outfit is complete without Lyon's Kathairon.
