DENIES HE RESIGNED.

W. H. Wilkins Declares He Revoked His First Communication to Board.

In his reply to the answer filed by the city, W. H. Wilkins, formerly clerk of the board of public works, denies that he ever resigned from his position. He declares that he did write a resignation and sent it to the board but that he revoked the resignation but that he revoked the resignation the next day in writing before the board acted upon it. He admits that he did not take the oath of office or file a bond but claims that the posi-tion was merely elerical and for the past 10 years such action had not been required of the clerk of the board. He declares that he is and alward has head to file a bond

MR. KIMBALL PRESENTS CHARMING PROGRAM.

In the presence of a beautiful audi-ence at the First M. E. church last evening. Mr. Edward P. Kimball sur-prised and delighted his friends by an exhibition of his talents to which many of them had heretofore been strangers. The evening was devoted entirely to Mr. Kimball's compositions and the event was doubly interesting, first on this ac-count, second, because the young com-poser had chosen the date of the hunposer had chosen the date of the hundredth and sixth anniversary of the birth of his distinguished grandparent,

Miss Evans, the soprano, had the principal weight of the evening among the singers, it was her night to shine and she shone. Her numbers were all rendered with truth and feeling, and her observing sources and dealing. Heber C. Kimball, for the event. Meter C. Kimbail, for the event. Mr. Kimball himself presided at the organ and piano and was aided by a very capable group of artists in Miss Phyllis Thatcher, violinist; Edna Evans, soprano; Cloudia Holt, contralto; Marie Kelly, pianist; Hugh W. Mr. Kimball's gifts for composition of the melodic, sweet and sympathetic styles of music was strongly exhibited in the program chosen, the numbers consisting of two organ solos rendered by himself, an offertory and a march, several ballads, a trio for violin, organ and piano, two violin solos and & duet for soprano and baritone. Everything was warmly applauded, the number which won the highest favor being the duet between Miss Evans and Mr. Douvarm applause. It will surpris warm applause. It will surprise many to know that none of Mr. Kinball's compositions are published. He ought to give them to the world, and if none other is printed, the duet of "The Fisherman" ought cer-

SAD HOME COMING

Prest, Andrew Kimball Returns to Arizona to Find Dead Child.

Thatcher, Arizona, June 11 .-- Presilent and Mrs. Andrew Kimball arrived nome from Salt Lake this afternoou after an absence of one week. While attending the M. I. A. conference at Salt Lake they received a message announcing the death of Rachel, Mr. Kimball's youngest child, two and a half years old. Previous to his departure, for Utah, Helen Mar, his next youngest was convalescent, having had an attack of what seemed to be billious fever. On Tuesday the 4th the child was so much improved that Mr. Kimball and his friends in attendance thought it perfectly safe for him to leave. Rachel and the remainder of the family, at this been required of the clerk of the board. He declares that he is and always has been ready to file a bond and take the oath of office if re-quested to do so. He asks that the present clerk, F. R. Christensen, be made a party to the suit. Mr, Wil-kins in his original complaint alleged that he was appointed as clerk under the provisions of an ordinance passed by the city council on Nov. 20, 1905, and that the ordinance fixed the term of office at two years. He was ousted by the "American" administration on March 1, 1906. The city in its answer claimed that Wilkins resigned and also that he had hever qualified for the position by filing his bond and oath of office. These charges are de-nied by Mr. Wilkins.
