Lack of Time Does Away With The Delivery of Important Addresses.

WILL BE PUT INTO THE RECORD.

This is Done in Order to Permit of Proper Attention to Resolutions.

(Special to the "News.") Ogden, Sept. 18.—Lack of time and a desire to give attention to important resolutions submitted during the congress, necessitated the elimination from today's program of a great many important addresses, which were simply presented by their respective authors with a few introductory remarks and a then sent to the printer to become a part of the general record. Following are the papers thus presented:

States," he exclaimed, "could realize the stupendous national benefits which would flow from carrying out the nation's comprehensive national policy for the preservation of our great forests and the utilization of the waters of all our rivers and streams, the soil of the nation would be freed with a patriotic enthusiasm which would sweep away all obstacles and achieve the grand result."

He pointed out the dangers in the pathway of this new national policy, but showed how the nation could overcome them by inflexibly adhering to the principle that not another acre of the public lands should ever be parted with to anyone but an actual settler who had built his home on the land and lived on it and got his livelihood from it for the full term of five years required by the original homestead act and by uniting the ownership of land and water.

INSTRUMENTS OF LAND STEALING.
He denounced the timber and stone act, the commutation clause of the homestead act, and the desert land act as mere instruments of fraud devised by ingenious minds for the purpose of despoiling the people of their heritage in the public lands, the pretense, usually false, and sham of the reclamation and settlement of the land. He made the startling statement that the locations of public lands now being made under these laws aggregated in the neighborhood of 25,000, 000 acres a year and were increasing at an appalling rate. He said that unless this raid on the public lands was stopped, this generation would rue the day that it had recklessly wasted the patrimony of the people of the nation in the public domain.

"There is no other way," he said, "to stop these enormous abuses in our public land system except to immediately repeal the desert land act, the commutation clause of the homestead act and the timber and stone act. The timber should be sold by the government at reasonable rates to bona fide manufacturers of lumber. It should not be wasted and thrown away to mere speculators at $2.50 an acre as is being done under the present law.
The commissioner of the general land office is authority for the striking statement that the government has disposed of timber worth over $25,000,000 for about $3,000,000, losing over $22,000,000 by this shameful neglect and waste of our resources, and while this reckless looting of public property is going steadily on, and each month increasing the loss of the government, Congress lifts no hand to stop it, and the raging forest fires annually sweep away millions upon millions of dollars worth of valuable government timber, because adequate funds for the protection of the forest are not provided."
