THE INQUEST AND VERDICT.

Detailed Report of the Evidence in the Coal Mine Horror.

Much Testimony Introduced—Last Evening the Jury Rendered Their Verdict—A Long Examination, Helped by Coal.

Special Correspondence Deseret News.

ALMY, Utah, Wyo., March 8, 1895.

A coroner's inquest has been held in the Temple of Horor hall over the victims of the C. F. No. 5 mine fire-damp explosion. The jury, impaneled by Mr. William Cosier, coroner, were James Bowen, foreman, James V. Avery and Doctor Gradin. The authorities of the mines and a large number of miners were present.

David Thomas, government inspector, was first interrogated by Mr. Bowen, as follows: Can you give the court any information as to the cause of the explosion which occurred in the C. F. No. 5 mine on the 28th day of this month?

Mr. Thomas—Yes. Said yesterday that I have no information other than what I obtained from the men we found in the mine time after the No. 5 mine was shut down, and when we could it only employed about eight men until recently, when the mine was put on full work. Before the explosion occurred the ventilation was in a good condition and the air current averaged 150,000 cubic feet per minute. At one time I was employed in the mine, and I would say there has been a condition of the mine it was not necessary. Since the explosion I have been into the mine, accompanied by Mr. A. E. Bradley, superintendent, Mr. Bowen, Mr. Graham, Mr. Bird, Mr. Bird and other parties named, and examined the whole of the main side workings, which appeared to be in a clean and safe condition. A fall had occurred in the 1st room on the eighth level, but it did not affect the condition of any of the other workings. The atmosphere was clean and showed no gaseous through the workings. From the appearance of the mine material which had been thrown about, either by the force of the explosion or by the men, it is my opinion that the explosion occurred in the eighth entry from the down cut and which ignited the gas and dust was started. It was not to me from the force of the explosion by the force of the explosion that it was a coal dust explosion.

Mr. Bowen—Then your opinion is that it was a coal dust explosion caused by the fire of a blown out shot?

Mr. Thomas—Yes, sir.

Mr. Bowen—Do you think a fall of the overburden would have anything to do with the cause of the explosion?

Mr. Thomas—Well, it would cause the gas, if any, to expand, and might, in case one fire of the mine, and from the appearance of the mine I am of the opinion that it was a dust and not a gas explosion.

A. E. Bradley, superintendent of the mine, was next questioned by Mr. Bowen. Was put on the stand and testified to the cause of the explosion as follows:

Mr. Bradley—I base my own opinion of the mine with the assistance of the men with me, Mr. Bowen, I found a shot had been fired in the eighth room off the 1st entry, and from my examination of the mine I am of the opinion that it was a dust explosion.
