E. A Smith		348.00
R. Howe
O. P. Miller		78.00
	Total	$19,658.35

The compensation account for 1888 amounted to $14,654.15.

During the year 1888 there was collected for fines $614.25, and during 1889, $262.50. No provision appears to be made for inspecting the books or papers of justices of the peace, and their accounts are usually accepted as presented.

From January 1, 1884, to January 1, 1890, there was expended on road and bridge account, $143,431 .-87.

In 1888 there was expended on road account $21,000, and in 1889, The work on the county roads is done by the supervisors of the thirty-one districts into which the county is divided. These supervisors present their accounts for labor and material from time to time, and their accounts are allowed without any inspection of the work by a general road supervisor, thus having a wide field open for misrepresentation and poor work.

On February 3d, 1886, Jesse W.
Fox was appointed by the county court general road supervisor, at a salary of $1500 a year, but although no record can be found of the dis-continuance of the office, the clerk informs us that such office was some time ago abolished.

The stationery account for 1888 amounted to $1500, and for 1889 $2,-263.05. No bids were asked for, but the purchases for years have uniformly been made at the same favored places. During the present year bids were asked for furnishing books, an innovation it is hoped will be followed in regard to all the stationery used by the county.

The records of the county court are burdened with items showing the peculiar methods of transacting public business which prevailed for years.

The following ertry appears on April 22, 1884:

"A. Dewey, license collector, report from January 1, 1884, to March 31, 1884, received an being found incorrect, the clerk to write and request him to report all licenses issued not reported, and to request him to deposit hutcher's license book with the clerk, said butcher's licenses to be issued by the clerk,, butcher's and ou his, the liceuse collector's account being straightened, all licenses hereafter issued to be charged up to said collector."

"Nov. 5, 1888.—Suit having been commenced against D. Bockholt in the Third District Court, and said Bockholt having since died, and the estate not being in a condition for said amount to be realized from, suit was dismirsed by consent of both parties."

Respectfully submitted,
F. O. Horn,
W. A. TAYLOR,
D. W SCRIBNER. Committee.

Your jury visited the penitentiary in a body, and found the premises in a good sanitary condition. The buildings are scrupulously clean. The grounds are well kept. There are about forty acres in garden vegetables, potatoes, etc., all cared for by prison labor and the team allowed for that purpose. The crop is looking well and will probably produce sufficient quantity of garden vegetables and potatoes to supply the prison this year. Complaint was made by some of the prisoners who are held for trial that they are not allowed sufficient change of clothing; that they are not as well provided with clothing as are the convicts. The marshal and warden, however, contradicted this. We only have the statements of the two parties, and no other means of knowing the The food that we saw was I well cooked. The bread facts. good and well cooked. The deserves special mention. complaint was made by prisoners that oatmeal and commeal mush, dry, without syrup, sugar, or other sweetening, is given them. Any recommendation the court may think proper to make upon this will meet with our approval.

There were one hundred and ninety prisoners there, twenty eight of whom are awaiting trial.

We have now finished the work before us, and if it is your pleasure we would respectfully ask for our final discharge.

d. W. H. CASADY. Foreign of Grand Jury. Signed.

CITY COUNCIL.

The City Council met in regular session May 27th, M. K. Parsons, mayor pro tem., presiding.

W. H. Dickson presented a praposition of the Utah Water Company, to take the water supply of Salt Lake City. He asked that every member of the council give it careful consideration, and thought that the more carefully they examined the matter, the more favorably they would look upon the proposi-tion. The proposition was laid on the table to come up in its order later in the evening:
J. H. Bacon and others asked that

Main Street, between Sixth and Eighth South streets, be repaired and sprinkled. Referred to the committee on waterworks.

George Arbogast, on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, asked the assistance of the corporation in getting up a magnificent Fourth of July celebration. The citizens had met the committee with a hearty response, and had asked them to go to the City Council. Former councils had always helped in such celebrations. The Chamber Wanted $10,000 to $15,000, and asked the city to furnish $2500 of this amount.

Wm. M. Stewart represented that a four-road street between First and Second North streets, and connecting East Temple and First East streets, had been closed, and asked that it be reopened. Referred to the committee on streets.

George M. Scott & Co. asked permission to store boilers, pipe and machinery on the ground leased by the city at the corner of Second South and First West streets, and offered to pay a reasonable rental therefor. Referred to the committee on public grounds.

The following telegram was read:

Washington D. C., May 27, 1890. Washington D. G., May J., Clity Council:
Hear street in front of my residence is being graded down six feet. Appeal it you to stop consummation of this outrage.
Baskin.

Mr. Cohn said the mischief, if any there was, had already been done.
The telegram was filed.
Arthur L. Thomas and others

asked that the city make a track in Liberty Park, where fast driving could be indulged in. Referred to the committee on public grounds and the Mayor.

J. W. Snell and others represented that several weeks ago they had requested the restoration to its pro-per condition of the Van Natta road, near the Warm Springs. Oue Simon Bamberger had said that their petition was not in good their petition was not in good faith, because they had not used the The petitioners had used the road till the Utah Cement Company had encroached apon it, till its use was impracticable. Bamberger had promised to fix the road, and had done so; he had fixed it so that nobody could use the road at all. Petitioners did not believe his promises to reopen the road, which they would use tomorrow if they could. They would like the road opened immediately. Referred to the committee on public grounds.

J. J. Galligher and others asked
