

WESTERN PACIFIC MEANS BUSINESS

Surveyors Are Now at Work in the Vicinity of Grantsville.

RUMORS OF JOINT STATION.

Said That Rio Grande Will Join Them in Its Erection—Probable Route of New Road.

The Western Pacific began surveying work in Utah yesterday in the vicinity of Grantsville. A party of engineers, including several who have been working on the Leanington cut-off left yesterday for that place, to pick up the lines of an old survey and running westward.

While no open action has been taken to secure terminal facilities in Salt Lake, it is mooted that the Western Pacific and Rio Grande systems will have a joint passenger station. Inasmuch as both are Gould lines this looks quite probable. It is also said that these roads may make use of the new passenger depot to be built for the Short Line and Salt Lake Road.

It is not even known what the route out of the city will be. Some say it will strike the lake between Saltair and Garfield beach, there across in the direction of Grantsville, up Willow creek and across the mountains. After this there is a level descent to the state line.

It is also said the road will pass from 15 to 25 miles north of Deep Creek, thence southwesterly through Nevada and coming close to Austin, within a distance of Tonopah. From there to Reno through Beckwith pass to San Francisco.

It is true that Rockefeller and Gould are behind this enterprise there is no doubt about the work being pushed with vigor to an early completion.

AMUSEMENTS.

It is announced that Salt Lake has never yet seen the particular version of Camille that the Miller-Engle company presents here next Tuesday; it is an entirely new one, and distinct in every way from the time honored adaptation that has done duty for so many years. The Miller-Engle version was translated directly from the French by Miss Margaret Anglin, who is a French Canadian by birth, and a brilliant French scholar, and then adapted by her to the needs of our modern stage. The reports that come from San Francisco last season when Miss Anglin essayed the role of Marguerite in the first time were of such an unusually laudatory character, that more than usual curiosity has been evoked to see the talented lady in this famous character.

Manager Payer has booked the Jose Minerva for an engaging tour immediately following Mr. Miller and Miss Anglin.

A SMOOTH RASCAL.

Hospital Employe Decamps After Robbing Several Patients.

The police are extremely anxious to locate the smooth individual who was employed at the Holy Cross hospital for four days as an interne. The name of the person could not be learned this afternoon owing to the fact that the hospital officials refused to divulge it. The fellow disappeared either Sunday night or Monday morning, and he took with him $350 belonging to a conspicuous nurse from Park City named James Brieseman, a "old water bear" going to another patient, a pair of trousers, a hat and a cane, and a fourth. The patients are now bewailing the loss of their valuables and hope the police will capture the fellow before he escapes back to his old haunts. He is believed at the hospital, but little could be learned about the man.

Dun's Review for the week ending Aug. 1 has the following to say about business conditions in Salt Lake: Summer quietude prevails in this market, but trade is fair in groceries, drugs, hardware and furniture, and fair business in dry goods, clothing and notions is satisfactory, with shoes quiet. City retail trade is fair only and collections are somewhat backward. Money is in fair supply and demand with rates firm, and local stocks continue inactive.

Dr. LaMonte, the retired naval surgeon residing in this city, says that the Utahs deserting from the navy are invariably boys, while the older bands remain loyal. He says the boys are of the class who are not interested in the rooming streets at night, and cut loose from parental authority as a rather tender age. When it comes to restraint, in the opinion of Dr. LaMonte, they are not as good as the orders of their superior officers, then they rebel, and finding restrictions continue irksome, they quit. Dr. LaMonte calls attention to the fact that this desertion is purely a matter of burglary, and if the boys are caught it will go hard with them. They will find the confinement of a prison even more unpleasant than the necessity of respecting orders of officers on shipboard.

APPROPRIATION FOR STRAWBERRY

State Land Board Will Inquire Into Proposed Reservoir Scheme.

PROJECT AN IMMENSE ONE.

If Proposition is Feasible Enough Water Will be Stored to Irrigate 25,000 Acres of Arid Land.

The state board of land commissioners today voted to appropriate $1,500 to be used in determining the feasibility of constructing a large storage reservoir in Strawberry valley. The action of the board will be of vast importance to the residents in that district as it is proposed to build a reservoir which will store enough water to irrigate 25,000 acres of arid land. The proposition was discussed by the board at its meeting last month and postponed until this morning. It was again considered yesterday afternoon and this morning and a decision was finally reached to make the appropriation.

State Engineer Doremus and former City Engineer P. P. Kealey were present at the meeting this morning and expressed the opinion that the board could not find a proposition in the state which would afford a better reservoir site, should it prove feasible, than that of the Strawberry valley and a reservoir there would do a vast amount of good. They believed the cost of the project was justifying the amount of money in determining the feasibility of the scheme.

Mr. H. C. Jacks, of Spanish Fork, and Hyrum Lemon and J. S. Macbeth, of Payson, were present at the meeting in the interest of the project. They stated that the intention is to construct the reservoir in Strawberry valley and divert the waters of Big and Little Strawberry creeks. The water would then have to be conveyed through a tunnel about three and one-half miles long to the land intended to be irrigated. The cost of the tunnel would be about $100,000 and it would be impossible to get private individuals or corporations to take hold of that part of the work unless the state would first determine the feasibility of the reservoir and whether or not there would be sufficient water to use for irrigation. After deliberating upon the advisability of the scheme the board decided to appropriate $1,500 or as much thereof as is necessary to commence the work.

The habes corpus proceedings instituted in behalf of Fred Bach and "Reddy" Gallagher, two city prisoners who are serving terms in the county jail for battery, were this morning continued until tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. FOLSOM ESCAPES HAVE NOT BEEN CAUGHT.

Placerville, Cal., Aug. 5.—Early this morning Sheriff Boscutt received telephonic advices from Shingle Springs, in which a man named Folsom, who had been in the Placerville hotel in Shingle Springs, was reported to have been seen in the vicinity of Shingle Springs. At the conclusion of the report he threw a $5 gold piece on the counter, received his change and departed with a package of food. Immediately on receipt of this news Sheriff Boscutt dispatched his son Dallas, who is his chief deputy, to Shingle Springs. Young Boscutt, returned by telephone from that point Sheriff Boscutt is confident that he had exhibited photographs of the convicts and that four people, Mrs. Hall, proprietor of the hotel, Maria Craig, who cooked at the hotel, another stranger, George Graham and another man, all of whom saw the man while at the hotel, identified the picture of Folsom as that of the man who had departed with the package of food. Sheriff Boscutt, thus assured, took up the trail and discovered the spot a mile north of Shingle Springs, where the three men were seen. The man who was identified as Mrs. Hall's hotel being found. As young Boscutt was alone on the scene he was ordered to return here with all the men who had been seen at that point this morning from the posse in the Webster Creek district, who are searching for the men who are reported to have robbed the Ingram cabinet on Monday night. This posse, which has the assistance of Ferrell's bloodhounds, did not hit the trail today. It will be sent to Shingle Springs to look for the man who had been seen at that point. Sheriff Boscutt is confident that he will be able to explain the report that two or three men called at Ingram's mine late on Monday night and that another man called at the mine on Tuesday night, unless it be that the Webster Creek party was larger than at first reported, and that it has divided into two parties, one of which is now in the Webster Creek and the other party remaining in the Webster Creek section.
