BREVITIES.

The passionate are like men standing on their heads; they see all things the wrong way—Plato.

How is it possible that mankind will take advice when they will not so much as take warning?—Swift.

A Florida paper regrets that "its space is so taken up that it is compelled to omit all local and telegraphic news."

A wise man is humble, because he thinks of what he has yet to learn instead of what he already knows.

John Jacob Astor, when requested to furnish incidents of his life, replied: "My actions must make my life."

Josh Billings says very truly, "You'd better not know so much than to know so many things that ain't so."

God is the author; men are only the players. These grand pieces which are played upon earth have been composed in heaven.—Balzac.

The putting in order is a delightful occupation, and is at least analagous to a virtue. Virtue is the love of moral order.—Henry Crabbe Robinson.

"Every little fragment of the day should be saved." The moment the day breaks, set yourself at once to save the pieces.

Enmities are more active than friendships. Most people will go much farther to gratify a grudge than to reward merit.

Jaranese tea is the most poisonous of all teas. Over twenty persons have died this season from being poisoned by drinking it.—Ex.

The true motives of our actions, like the reed pipes of an organ, are usually concealed; but the gilded and hollow pretext is pompously placed in front for show.—Colton.

A poor young man remarks that the only advice he gets from capitalists is to "live within his income," whereas the difficulty he experiences is to live without an income.

We don't like to make unpleasant suggestions; but when we find all the papers chronicling an "unexampled activity in cheese," we feel it a duty to caution consumers to be careful what sort they buy.

A drunken Scotchman, returning from a fair, fell asleep by the roadside, when a pig found him and began licking his mouth. Sawney roared:

"What's kissing me noo? Ye see what it is to be well liked among the lasses."

Carlyle, after emptying his quiver of more satirical arrows than any brother

"Sarcasm I now see to be, in general, the language of the devil; for which reason I have long since as good as renounced it."

"Never put anything on paper if you can avoid it," is a maxim in which that witty old diplomat Prince Gortschakoff freely believes. He has just expressed his profound belief and satisfaction that the recent imperial conference at Berlin has resulted in no written document.

The following speech is attributed to a member of the Legislature of Pennsylvania:

"I know wimmun, Mr. Speaker; I say it in no disrespect; I know um; I have had a heap to do with um; they're a useful class, and—and yet with the best of them you may have trouble."

There is a limit to the work that can be got out of a human body or a human brain, and he is a wise man who wastes no energy on pursuits for which he is not fitted; and he is still wiser who, from among the things he can do well, chooses and resolutely follows the best.—Gladstone.

The young ladies of Lowell, Massachusetts, have invented a new plan for securing husbands. They go out boating with the man of their choice, contrive to upset the boat, and then grab him and save his life. The victim, in his first burst of gratitude and admiration generally makes the desired proposal to his heroic preserver.

Are indorsed and prescribed by more leading Physicians than any other tonic or stimulant now in use. They are A SURE PREVENTIVE for Fever and Ague, Intermittents, Biliousness, and all disorders arising from miasmatic causes. They are highly recommended as an anti-dyspeptic, and in cases of indigestion are invaluable as an Appetizer and Recuperant, and in cases of General Debility they have never in a single instance failed in producing the most happy results. They are particularly BENEFICIAL TO FEMALES, strengthening the body, invigorating the mind and giving tone and elasticity to the whole system. The HOME BITTERS are compounded with the greatest care, and no Tonic Stimulant has over been offered to the public SO PLEASANT TO THE TASTE, and at the same time combining so many remedial agents, indersed by the medical fraternity as the best known to the Pharmacopæia. It costs little to give them a fair trial, and Every Family should have a Bottle.

We ask every one to read the following Certificates from many

ST. Louis, July, 1870.—JAMES A. JACKSON & CO.; Gentle-meu—As you have communicated to the medical profession the recipe of the "Home Bitters," it cannot therefore be considered as a secret or patent medicine, no patent having been taken for it. We have examined the formula for making the "Home Bitters," and unhesitatingly say the combination is one of rare excellence, all the articles used in its composition are the best of the class to which they belong, being highly Tonic, Stimulant, Stomachic, Carminative and slightly Larative. The mode of preparing them is strictly in accordance with the rules of pharmacy: Having used them, seen its effect in our private practice, we take pleasure in recommending them to all persons desirous of taking Fitters, as being the best Tonic and Stimulant now effered to the public.

U. S. MARINE HOSPITAL, ST. Louis, Mo., Oct. 8, 1879.—JAS, A. JACKSON & Co.; I have examined the formula for making the "Home Stomach Bitters," and used them in the Hospital for the last feur months. I consider them the most valuable tonic and stimulant now in use.

L. MELCHER, St. Louis, July 6, 1879.—JAS. A. JACKSON & Co.; Having examined the formula from which your celebrated "Stomach Bitters" are prepared, and having witnessed the method of combining the different jugredients, we can safely recommend them as the best tonic with which we are acquainted. From the great care with which they are compounded, and from the choice materials which enter into them, we have no doubt that they will prove, as they deserve to be, the most popular tonic and stimulant in use. Respectfully yours, T, J. VASTINE, M, D. T. G. COMSTOCK, M. D. We cheerfully concur with every word contained in the above
