A substantial building boom has struck Pocatello this season. Two val-uable contracts were let Monday ag-gregating $53,000 Phil St. Morie awarded a contract to Paul Gartnur for a three-story brick block to re-place the Oneida block, recently des-troyed by fire. The lower floor will be an up-to-date playhouse, and the upstairs will be for offices, and the upstairs will be for offices, and loldgings. The Oregon Short Line also awarded Mr. Gartner a contract for the new supply department build-ing, a brick structure 50 by 135 feet, the brick and mason work alone, was let at $28,240. The Oregon Short Line this year is spending about $109,000 on building improvements including ing a northwesterly direction by way of Monument Point, Pilot Springs, Cedar Creek, Stanrod, Almo, Oakley and up through the rich Carey country to Boise. This would save many miles of railroad travel from Ogden to Boise and ocen up thousands of acres of land struck Pocatello this season. Two valand open up thousands of acres of land beretofore lying idle. Surveyors have just recently surveyed from Oakley up Birch creek into the Junction valley. Another company of surveyors arrived at Kelton about two weeks ago to survey the road this way from Promontory Point. There were several parties here and took a survey of two reservoir sites about nine miles from here on the head of Raft river. They say that everything was very favorable and expected to secure the land and go to work as These with many other as possible.
