

WILL BUILD IN EMERY COUNTY.

San Pedro Said to Have an Eye on The Coal Fields.

BRACKEN ASKS QUESTIONS.

Might-of-Way Agent of Clark Road Writes County Clerk for Concessions in Filling Fees.

The San Pedro road is seeking a right of way in Emery county ostensibly for the purpose of tapping the rich coal deposits that are well known to exist in that section of the Utah mainland.

Word comes from Castle Dale that the recorder of Emery county, Mr. Anderson, has received a communication from J. W. Bracken, the Rio Grande Western force of surveyors who was agent for the San Pedro, whose headquarters are in Los Angeles, asking whether in view of the great amount of shoring and other work which will be done in Emery county this summer it will not be possible for his company to come in under a reduced rate for fees. Mr. Bracken puts an strings on his proposition and sets forth that there will be a lot of recording done this year for his company and he asks that it be done at a minimum cost. He says that in California and elsewhere a reduction in fees has been granted.

In the face of this request it is also worthy of comment that the Rio Grande Western force of surveyors is also at work at this time in Emery county under the supervision of S. J. Norris and at present is in the neighborhood of Castle Dale.

Mark Twain's Cousin.

G. C. Clemens, of Topeka, Kan., the noted constitutional lawyer, who bears so striking a resemblance to Mark Twain, (Samuel B. Clemens) that he is frequently taken for the original Mark.

G. C. Clemens, is a man of deep intellect and wide experience. He is considered one of the foremost lawyers in this country. In a recent letter to the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Mr. Clemens says:

"Personal experience and observation have thoroughly satisfied me that Dr. Miles' Pain Pills are a really fine lunch for 10 cents. The project is so important and unique that all friends of the institution will wish it to be in the undertaking. It is even believed that their discovery every student too far from home to get a warm lunch at noon. Further details will be known shortly."

fore attempted by the institution. The plan in contemplation is the provision of a midday lunch for students who do not go home to dinner, but who bring a lunch basket or buy what they eat for lunch at the canteen. Those who were approached about the plan knew very little about it, as the plans are not yet fully matured; but it was learned that the trustees really desire to serve the interests of the students in this important matter, by supplying to those who desire it, a warm, dainty lunch, first-class in every respect, at the bare cost of the materials. This will be the first time that the students and the first intimation the students generally will receive of the project. It is in tonight's "News." A dining room and kitchen will be fitted up in the Lion House, as soon as the first-year classes remove there to Burrall Hall. An experienced chef will be placed in charge, but will not be allowed any commission, since the intention is to let the students have whatever of profit there might be in the undertaking. It is even believed that their discovery every student too far from home to get a warm lunch at noon. Further details will be known shortly.

BLAME LUKE.

Suit in Which Collusive Practice is Alleged.

Thomas C. Patten, J. E. Taylor and Louis Houck have commenced an action in the District court against J. N. Spaulding, Morris Somers, Justice of the peace, and W. F. Hill, constable, to set aside a judgment rendered by Judge Sommer against the plaintiffs and in favor of J. N. Spaulding. The judgment amounted to $39.45 and was rendered May 13, 1901. The complaint alleges that the judgment was entered by Judge Sommer in collusion with the defendants therein, who are plaintiffs in this case, but that such an action was not authorized by them and was fraudulently entered by the defendants. They ask that the judgment be set aside and that Constable Hill be restrained from levying upon any of the property of the plaintiffs. They also ask for an injunction to prevent the defendants from levying upon the fraudulent judgment.

One of the most wonderful sights ever beheld on the Salt Lake stage was seen there last night when the Australian Juvenile Opera company made its bow before a good sized audience. The company is made up of 20 or 30 children, all speaking and singing English with an accent that suggests that they might be fresh from the heart of London. They are dressed and trained, and the whole production is put upon the stage with as much elaboration, skill, and beautiful taste as ever marked the production of any of the highest class of traveling comic opera companies. Indeed, the stage instructor of the youngsters must be a master at his art. The production of the Australian Juvenile Opera company was a most interesting and successful one. The children played and sang with the distinction of their utterance, all suggested the highest professional standard. There was never a moment when the audience was called on to exercise forbearance on account of the size of the performers. The applause and laughter were kept ringing all night.

Where there are so many scintillating little bodies it is hard to say which one of the men hit him on the head and in the mouth with brass knuckles, and Foote returned the compliment by striking one of the men over the head with a gun. Officer Randolph arrested the two men, but while on the way to the station one of them broke away from the officer and dashed down an alleyway. Randolph held on to the other and marched him to the station, where he was locked up. He gave his name as M. E. Cautley. His head was bleeding from the wound inflicted by Foote's gun, but he was locked up on the charge of assault and battery.

FAT NERVES.

A whirl of excitement was recently caused among scientists by the discovery of "how nerves act."

Healthy nerves are fat nerves. It is fat in the core of a nerve that by hardening and softening creates nerve action.

Maybe this explains why Scott's Emulsion has always been such a remarkable remedy for nervousness.

Scott's Emulsion makes fat nerves. It feeds them with fat. Good for all forms of nervousness and for neuralgia.
