A SECOND EDITION OF THE ARTICLES OF FAITH.

The first edition of "The Articles of Faith," prepared by Dr. J. E. Talmage, under appointment of the First Presidency, is exhausted, and a second edition is now in course of preparation. It is now but two years since the first edition of 10,500 copies was ready for sale, and for months past it has been impossible to meet orders for the book. Such a sale of a home publication has never before been reached within the same length of time.

The author specially requests of all who have used the work in class-work or for individual reading and study, that they kindly inform him of any errors in references, or other mistakes and omissions they may have observed. It is by teachers and students who use such a book for detailed study that errors of the kind would be most easily detected. None but minor errors.mostly typographical, and but few of these have been reported to date; but a full report of errors will be appreciated. Reports of the same should be sent without delay to Dr. J. E. Talmage, Salt Lake City.

They drove over and the horse, which had been tied up, was very restless when Mrs. Foisland prepared to leave for home at about six o'clock. Before she could pick up the reins the horse started and a little boy grabbed him by the bit thus turning the animal into the bit thus turning the animal into a court that opens onto First West. The turn was so short that the buggy upset, throwing Mrs. Froisland and the two children out. The little girl was badly cut over one eye and Mrs. Froisland was bruised on the shoulder and much shaken up. She and the children were taken back to Mrs. Keyes' and after a little rest were able to return home.

THE CAREER OF R. C. CHAMBERS.

Announcement That His Death Resulted After a Surgical Operation for Appendicitis-Illness Brief and His Condition Critical at the Time.

ROBERT CRAIG CHAMBERS.

The tidings of the unexpected death | in the latter part of 1872, when he acof R. C. Chambers in San Francisco yesterday afternoon as first given to the public through the columns of the "News," produced such great surprise in this city, that it was only surpassed by the sorrow that followed it.

Mr. Chambers was taken to the hospital three days ago and was operated on for appendicitis. He rallied from the shock and seemed on the road to recovery, until yesterday, when he suf. fered a relapse. It is thought that kidney trouble was a contributory cause of death. There were only two or three persons who knew that Mr. Chambers was ill so that the public mind was not prepared for the fatal tidings. Indeed, it was some time before incredulity gave way to the grief which was later expressed in the flags that were placed at half mast on the Masonic building, the Alta club, the Dooly block, and in many a crestfallen countenance.

A few days ago Mr. Chambers was on the streets of Salt Lake as genial and bale as usual. On March 30th he boarded the train for San Francisco. and there was not one element in his condition or looks that gave rise to the suspicion that he was going to his doom. His object in going to the coast was partly on business but chiefly to visit with his relatives. When he was stricken down a few days ago, the word came in the form of a telegram to C. L. Rood, his confidential secretary. It came Wednesday afternoon and was from Mr. Chamders himseif. He sald that he was not well, but exprected to return home in about two weeks, and requested Mr. Rood to go to Park City to pay off the men at the Ontario. This detail of his business Mr. Chambers generaly attended to himself.

The dispatch did not alarm Mr. Rood to any extent, feeling that Mr. Chambers was only suffering a temporary indisposition. But another dispatch soon followed from F. G. Drum, president of the Ontario company. The message read that Mr. Chambers had been taken to a hospital to underse an operation immediately. Mr. Rood did not know the nature of the a tack, but knowing his chier's strong constitution and vitality, he persuaded himsel, that there was no occasion for any great alarm. As an apparent confirmation of his hope he received another telegram from Mr. Drum about 5 o'clock. conveyed the word that the peration had been performed; that the patient was cheerful and seemed to have paised the critical period. This gave Mr. Rood great encouragement and he went home strong in the feeling that Mr. Chambers would soon recover. While in that frame of mind he was stunned with the dispatch that came at noon yesterday, summoning him San Francisco at once because of the grave condition of his chief. making hasty preparation to leave the final word came, that Mr. Chambers id passed away and then the sad intelligence was announced to the pub Mr. Chambers will be buried at San Francisco by the side of his beloved

While the hosts of his Utah friends will regret that the opportunity was denied them to lay his remains away in the soil of his adopted State, they cannot but feel that it is fitting that ne should lie beside his wife under the dirge of the ocean's breakers.

Robert Craig Chambers was born in Lexington. Richland county, Ohio, Jan. 16, 1832. He is of Scotch descent, his ancestors having emigrated from the land of Bruce soon after the Revolu-tion. "hen the discovery of gold in California was made, Mr. Chambers cationing was made, all, Champers was a mere boy but he felt the irre-pressible thrill, and joined the train of fortune seekers. He went north of Salt Lake and arrived in Sacramento in 1850.

He started to work at once, placer mining on Mormon island in American river. About a year later he followed the tide to Plumas county where rich discoveries were made in the Feather river district. He continued mining there until 1856, when he changed to the mercantile business. From the first had always born such a manly part that in 1858 he was elected sheriff holding that office for two terms. On leaving the sheriff's office, Mr. Chambers again engaged in the mining business in California, until 1869 when he traveled to Nevada in quest of hidden

Mr. Chambers was not fortunate in Nevada, so came on to Salt Lake in September, 1870. His attention was first called to the Camp Floyd district where he became interested in the Sparrow Hawk, an old mine that was once a good producer. In 1872 he became associated with Senator George Hearst of California in the Webster and Bully Her mines in the southern part of the State, but they never yielded anything Mr. Chamber's star of fortune arose ouired an interest in the Ontario, which was then an unpromising hole in the ground. Together with Mr. Hearst he secured a bend on the property for $30,-000. What the history of this celebrat-ed mine has been, is well known in Utah, it being the greatest producer in the State.

The superficial observer is apt to think that when a man discovers a rich mine, all he has to do is to shovel out the ore and regard the increase in his wealth. That is far from the facts. t was no less the brains and skill of Mr. Chambers, than the good fortune, that developed the Ontario into the mine that it became. His conduct of that great property marked him as one of the most skillful mining experts in

Mr. Chambers' wealth grew rapidly, and he showed himself to be a man of capacity, for he made judicious investments, branching out in various enterprises, but he concentrated the greater portion of his energy upon the Ontario.

He was the manager of the Ontario up to the time of his death and was also superintendent of the Daly. He was president of the Daly-West, one of the most profitable mining properties in the State

Mr. Chambers was a man who exercised considerable thought in the field of political economy, which naturally took him into politics. He, however, never seemed to aspire to any distinc-tion in the political field, only entering for the good he could do his State He was always a member of the Demo-cratic party, and in 1896 was elected to the State Senate from the district com. sed of Wasatch and Summit counties. He was a delegate to the last four national conventions, but was unable to go to Kansas City last summer because slight filness.

He was honored several times by being voted for, for United States Senator. but it was always over his protest, he steadfastly decilning to enter the race. Mr. Chambers was married to Miss Eudora Tolles in 1884. She was the daughter of James M. Tolles, a Call-fornia ploneer. She died in 1895 with no children having come to comfort the ereaved husband.

There are several sisters and brothers who are left to mourn the loss of Mr Chambers. They are the Misses are the Misses. Chambers and Mrs. John S. Martin of Kansas City, George R. Chambers of Lee's Summit. Missouri, Cyrus Cham-bers of Washington, D. C. To estimate the wealth of Mr. Chambers would be largely a matter of spec dation. His holdings were so numerous that it is not likely that he knew the extent of them himself. But from the best that can be ascertained his fortune is placed between one and a half and million dollars. whether or not he made a will, but if he died intestate his wealth will go to his brothers and sisters. He held valuable eal estate in Sait Lake, San Francisco and Kansas City, stock in various en-terprises, live stock and lands, but the bulk of his interests was in mines Besides a numerous amount of lesse nining interests he held 10,000 shares it the Ontario, a large interest in the Dalnearly one-third of the stock of the Sal Lake street railway. He was the senio member of the firm of Chambers & Whitney, owners of a large ranch in Wyoming. He was also heavily inter-ested in the Ireland Stock company, Mr. Chambers owned an apartmen 000, and a home on Sacramento stree where his mother-in-law, Mrs. Toller s now living. He also owned an orang and fruit farm near Palermo, southern California, and a half interest in the Salt Lake Herald. He was sole owner f the latter until about two years ago when he disposed of a half interest to Mr. Chambers carried a life insurance policy of over $100,000, and within the last two years his holdings have appreciated very materially, especially the Ontario and Daly-West.

Robert C. Chambers was a man wh bore the respect of everyone, and the love of a great many. His benevolent gifts were done quietly and without ostentation. In that regard he carried ou the Divine behest by not letting his right hand know what his left had His temperament was cool and deliberate. He never bestowed his confidence promiscuously. He followed the advice of Polonius, he made few confidential friends but when made he grappled them to his bosom with books of steel. He was full of humanity. It hurt him to see his fellowman suffer for food or for clothing and much more through the grief that attends the los

Mr. Chambers was absolutely honest and his integrity was unswerving. He won the respect of men and retained it He bore acquaintance, because the deeper he was sounded the more genu ine was the substance of which he wa made. He was a capitalist but a friend to the laborer. No strike ever occurre under his management, and every di ference that arose between he and h employes was settled amicably. In his death the material interests of Utah oose one who has done as much a any other in advertising them to the world, and attracting the eye of capi-tal to this State. He was a pleasing
