FIGHT WITH HIGHWAYMAN.

A Chicago Professor Has a Desperate Encounter.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—A lone highwayman and Dr. L. C. E. Zeigler, professor of osteopathy, with offices in the theater building, fought a pistol duel on the prairie west of Garfield Park on the possession of $9,000. One bullet flattened itself against the doctor's watch, just over his heart, and a second passed through his silk hat and tore its way through the nine $1,000 bills that were hidden there in an envelope. The professor believed that his bullets struck his assailant in the hand and the police are searching for a wounded hand.

Some weeks ago Prof Zeigler advertised for 400 cadavers to be used for purposes of demonstration at the schools of osteopathy in Illinois and other states. He announced in his published request for bodies that he was willing to spend $2,000 for the number of cadavers he required, and the police believe it was the publication of these figures that led up to last night's assault.

The police also believe the hold up to have been the outcome of a conspiracy, one of the phases of which was a confidence game whereby Dr. Zeigler was snatched into carrying $9,000 in cash on his person.

The intention is to exploit the East and Europe for the redwood lumber trade.

Canada Trying to Grab Skagway.

Port Townsend, Wash., Dec. 3.—According to advices from Alaska, the Canadian government still retains a faint hope that Skagway is a city of Canada and that some Canadian authorities insist that in the Canadian customs forms Skagway should not appear as "Skagway, Alaska," but as plain "Skagway," with the word Alaska omitted, which action Americans interpret to mean that Canada does not propose to recognize American ownership of that place.

Another move is on foot in Alaska to secure a regular territorial form of government, including a delegate to

PRICE OF SILVER DECLINES.

Not Due to Overproduction but to Falling Off of Demand.

New York, Dec. 3.—The Journal of Commerce says:

Bar silver was quoted in London yesterday (Monday) at 23-1/2 per ounce, the lowest price in about three years, the highest in that period having been reached at 30-3/4 in 1900.

During the past week, the price has ranged at about a full penny. The silver among dealers in silver tends to show that the decline in the price is not due to increase in production, but rather to a decrease in the demand in continental Europe. The two great foreign markets for silver at present are the continent and India, and it is asserted that the competitive buying of these two customers is necessary to maintain the price. India is at present buying about its usual quota of silver, but the demand on the continent has been much curtailed. The domestic demand runs along evenly, with little feature. As to the reason for the decline in the demand from the continent there seems to be some difference of opinion. There is at times considerable speculation in silver, as in metals like copper and tin. It is argued that a large surplus is being carried in this country. This, however, is denied by the refiners, who declare they are selling their product as fast as it is refined, and explain the decline by saying simply that the continental demand at present is dull.

PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE.

Lively Discussion Over Question of Arbitration.

MONROE DOCTRINE IS WANTED.

Supplements That Monroe Intended to Prevent Inter-American Aggression.

Mexico City, Dec. 3.—The session of the Pan-American conference took an unexpected turn today. The order of the day called for a session on the project for a pan-American bank and the exchange of official publications, but at the opening of the session Mr. Diaz, of Paraguay, took the floor and made a speech advocating a comprehensive scheme of arbitration.

Delegate Baez said that the Monroe doctrine only protected the American nations from European aggression. What was needed was another doctrine to protect them from aggression on the part of each other. This desideratum had been supplied by the Diaz doctrine, recently enunciated by Senor Chavero at the banquet given by the Mexican delegation in honor of their colleagues. The basis of the Diaz doctrine, he said, is peace, but peace can only be assured through justice and justice can only be assured through arbitration. Therefore, said Mr. Baez, it should be the desire to proclaim compulsory and universal arbitration as the basis of the international law of the Americans.

The Chilean delegates showed manifest indications of impatience during the speech of Mr. Baez. At its conclusion Mr. Matte, of Chile, said that he thought it would be better for the conference to confine itself to the order of the day, instead of listening to a mere academic discussion.

Mr. Bernerio, of Argentina, when he arose to report on the project of the pan-American bank, took exception to Mr. Matte's remarks, saying that the project of arbitration was not academic, but one that vitally concerned the future peace of the American continent. He then went on to show the expediency of the pan-American bank. The Chilean delegate then offered an amendment to the effect that interested governments give their proposed bank a subsidy of $100,000 gold per annum for five years to start with, to be contributed according to population by the several countries. The project was rejected.

WRITE RIGHT.

"Satter Decent, Helpful Things." Good, philosophical has Wilson once said to a new reporter, "Young man, write as you feel, but try to feel right. Be good humored toward everyone and everything. Believe that other folks are just as good as you are, for they are. Give your best and other things to the world, and you will find that God has sent them, in his wisdom, all the trouble they need, and it is for you to scatter gladness and decent, helpful things as you go. Don't be particular about how the stuff will look in print but let 'er go. Some one will understand. That is better than to write so dash high, or so tarnashun deep, deep that no one understands. Let 'er go."

Vanderlip Gives His Views.

New York, Dec. 3.—Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip, vice-president of the National City bank and formerly assistant secretary of the treasury, has returned to his desk after an extended absence abroad. Asked as to the result of his observations, Mr. Vanderlip said: "The situation everywhere on the other side is materially depressed. I think the tide has turned in Germany, but there are a great number of unemployed men there. The situation in Russia was most unsatisfactory when I was there in the spring, but all the information I gathered on this last trip shows that it has been somewhat better. There had at least not become less so. And it was probably more unfavorable in Paris there is depression and great dullness on the bourse

London Papers Praise Buller.

New York, Dec. 3.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: All the newspapers which attacked Gen. Buller for making the speech that led to his dismissal now praise him for his presence at the Devonian dinner and in effect thank him for not applying his friends with a stick to belabor the government. If Mr. Brodie does not see his way to publish the official account of the dispatches telegraphed by Gen. Buller to Gen. White at Ladysmith, it seems likely the mystery will not be cleared up until the meeting of parliament.

Manila, Dec. 3.—Advices from Cebu, capital of the island of Samar, report that the insurgent Gen. Lukban has offered to negotiate terms of surrender with Gen. Smith. To this offer the American commander replied that the time for negotiations had passed.

Lieut.-Commander James M. Held, commanding the U. S. gunboat Frolic, during November destroyed 34 boats engaged in smuggling supplies to the insurgents. Gen. Smith has ordered all male Filipinos to leave the coast towns for the interior. In order to be allowed to return they must bring guns, prisoners or information of the whereabouts of insurrectionists.

Five hundred natives of Cebu, who volunteered to fight insurgents in order to bring peace to Samar, of these 500 have been accepted. They are armed with bolos and spears and are doing scouting duty under command of Lieut. Compton.

At daylight yesterday Lieut. Balboa of the Ninth Infantry, attacked and destroyed a rebel fort, inflicting heavy loss, and completed the others breakfast, which included canned goods. He found at the fort an arsenal with appliances for making and re-loading cartridges.

The American marines are working havoc with the insurgent forces in the southern part of Samar. Lieut. William B. Deserters in Samar are becoming very bold. It is stated, and it is not an infrequent thing to find notices written in English posted on trees and shrubs.

SWALLOWED THE BULLET.

Lord Kitchener once had an extraordinary experience, having swallowed a bullet with which he had been wounded, and which he now preserves as a memento. During the campaign of 1885 Maj. Kitchener was hit on the side of the face by a bullet during a skirmish near Suakin, and was taken down the Nile and thence to the Citadel Hospital at Cairo, where despite all the efforts of the surgeons, the bullet could not be located. The wound was a healthy one and soon healed, and the medical officers came to the conclusion that the bullet had worked its way out without being noticed. The major's nurse one day tempted the patient's appetite with a tasty breakfast, which the major had no soon attacked than he put his hand to his throat, exclaiming: "Bliton, if it was no bone in the steak, I've swallowed a bullet; I felt it go down!" This proved to be the case.—Chicago Tribune.
