

Number of Ogden Places Robbed-One Thief Was Caught After Many Shots Had Been Fired.

(Special to the "News") Ogden, Oct. 26 .- The suit brought by Atty, J. D. Skeen against County Atty, Hulaniski, to oust the latter from office for alleged negligence of duty, came to an abrupt end in the district court this, noon when, after the prosecution had concluded its testimony the defense made a motion for a non-suit and a dismissal of the charge on the grounds that the prosecution had failed to make a case. The court promptly granted the motion of counsel for defense and the case was ordered dismissed.

MANY BURGLARIES.

MANY BURGLARIES. Ogden was the scene of several proparties last night, but one of the robbers was captured red handed. The fellow gave the name of Charles Gaffey. A roomer in the Ogden House saw Gaffey at work in the cel-bar of Wicker's second-hand store. The roomer, whose name was not barned, secured a revolver and be-gan firing at the burgiar. The shots attracted the attention of the police who rushed to the scene and cap-tured Gaffey before he could escape. The room of Joseph Elsop, at the Windsor hotel, and the room of J. S. Secons at the same place, were burgiarized last night. From the for-mer the thieves secured clothing val-ued at $23. From the latter a quan-tity of clothing and $21 in cash were under the distance of the second hand

The pawn shop and a second hand fore owned by Goldwater was entered by robbers last night and a quantity of fewelry, revolvers and clothing stolen. In all these cases the police are in hot pursuit.

SUPREME COURT OPINION.

In Case of J. W. Hoggan, Appellant, Vs. James C. Cahoon.

The supreme cout today handed down an opinion affirming the judgment of the lower court in the case of James W. Hoggan, appeliant, vs. James C. Ca-boon. According to the facts as alleged in the complaint, Hoggan claiming to be the agent of Cahoon, took charge of some chattels upon which Caboon had a mortgage. Afterwards another party brought suit against him for the recov-cry of the goods and judgment was ren-dered agains<sup>4</sup> Hoggan for $300. Hoggan claimed that the costs incurred by him amounted to $109.95, and Cahoon paid him $133.50 of the total amount of the him fiss. 50 of the total amount of the judgment and costs. Hoggan then brought suit against Cahoon to recover the balance of $240.35 alleged to be due from Cahoon on the judgment. In his answer Cahoon deni d that Hoggan was acting as his again and alleged effects. and we can be a first and alleged affirma-tively that in taking charge of the goods Hoggan did so for himself alone and not for Cahoon. The case was tried before a jury,

The case was then before a jury, which returned a verdict in favor of de-rendant, finding that plaintiff had no cause of action. This judgment is now affirmed by the subreme court. The second secon

King Alfonso's Adventures.

During one of their short trips from San Sebastian King Alfonso and his young queen had a little adventure among the rasherwomen at Arqueta, who were eating their lunch by the side of a brook at which the royal motor-car had come to stop. The king, in his free, boyish way. began to chat with the women, and when, in reply to his query they professed ig-

In reply to his query they professed ig-norance of his identify he announced, "I am the king." Laughingly, one of the women, who evi-dently thought he was making fun of her, replied that he could not be King Alfonso, for she had seen his majesty at Pamplona and he was hundsomer than the man who stood hefore her. King Alfonso laughed at the doubtful ompliment, and, giving a coin to the wo-man, asked her if she recognized him from the likeness. At length she was convinced that she was in the presence of the king, and though she did not return to the subject of his majesty's locks she and her com-panions warmly expressed thei, admira-tion for the benuty of the young queen The king replied that he had not traveled so far for a bride to return with one who would not be admired by all his sub-lects.

As the king and queen were driving slowly along the promenate he pushed close to the carriage to take a good look at the royal couple, holding the keys of his master's premises in his hands the while. The king, acting on one of his humorous impulses, snatched the keys, the pace of the car was quickened, and the over-enthusiastic youth was left la-menting and wondering how he explain to the master ting the king had purfolned his keys. The king's quick per-ception saved the youth from being mis-taken for an assallant.-London Mall.

Curious Friendship.

Curious Friendship. A curious case of friendship between birds most strangely assorted is reported in "The London Globe" from Rosenberg, in Prussia. A hen had just batched a single chicken, when one morning, nobedy knows how, there appeared in the nest a young sparrow, just beginning to wear its first fluff of feather. The chick and tho sparrow became fast friends at once, and the parent hen, taking kindly to the changeling, gave equal case to both alike, the sparrow hopping about the nest at first, and the hen never going far away, and sheitering both her young at night, until, as the sparrow's wings grew strong-er, he at first induiged in little flights, returning to the sheitering wings at night, and finally disappeared altogether into the sparrow world.

An action for divorce has been filed in the district court by Bridget Martin against Terrence T. Martin on the pround of failure to support. The par-ties were married in Providence, R. I., on Feb. 18, 1903, and it is alleged that defendant has failed to provide for plaintiff for a year past.

A complaint has been issued by the county attorney against Joe Zorich, charging him with assault with a deadly weapon upon Joseph Stomes. The crime was committed in a Greek board-banner with the numerals 09 on it, and then went marching down the campus, leaving a guard around the flag. The freshmen gathered and made flag. The freshmen gathered and made an attack upon the sophomore guard. Wollerton Brinton succeeded in climb-ing the pole and turning down the flag. The entire body of sophomores returned to the fray, but Brinton reached the ground in safety. The sophs cried "cut his hair." but Brinton made his es-cape. Subsequently he was found se-creted in the office of Prof. Young, and a pair of shears were brought into requisition. At one time the shears were selzed by classmates of Brinton and thrown out of the window, but be-fore the scrimmage ended. Brinton had been shorn of his hair.
