GILLETTS LAUNDRY CASTLE SOAP is the cheapest, as it takes less.

When the lips of beauty are parted in a smile, they disclose a row of pearls rivaling in purity those which the diver brings up from the bottom of the Persian Sea. What will preserve these gems of the mouth? SOZODONT, the celebrated beautifier and preservative of the teeth.

A Feature of superiority. The superiority of WHITE'S PHLEBIC FLOWER for diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Blood consists in its uniting harmoniously with the gastric juice, strengthening and enabling it at once to dissolve the food. If the gastric juice is weak the food ferments, giving rise to our stomach, sick headache, burning in the pit of the stomach, the patient also suffering from insufficient nutrition. It aids the Liver, over which it has a specific power, in filtering impurities from the blood. Its action on the kidneys is likewise salutary, increasing the secretions. As a blood purifier, by enriching the chyle, it is without a peer, curing some of the most obstinate and long-standing cases on record. It is pronounced by one and all The Great Blood and Liver Purifier. Price 25 cts. and 1 lb. 50 cts.

For sale, wholesale and retail, by the Z. G. M. I. Drug Department and Moore Allen & Co., Salt Lake City. 423 1/2 N. Main.

GILLETTS EXTRACT. The best to use.

WHY SUFFER TO THE DISCOMFORT and humiliation entailed by a local disease of the skin, when GRAY'S SULPHUR SOAP will rid you of it with certainty and dispatch? It is a remedy which never fails to relieve itching disease, and as a means of banishing defects of the complexion, it is equally reliable. The benefits arising from the use of Sulphur Soap, in cases of skin disease, and of rheumatism, and gout, are well known; but the cost is too heavy to be incurred by many persons who would otherwise be at variance of them. GRAY'S SULPHUR SOAP answers the same purpose, and is both inexpensive and convenient. No one need stir abroad in search of a sulphur bath who has this admirable means of providing one in his own home, and consequently the best, cheapest and most convenient of clothing and bed linen in use, and prevents diseases of an obnoxious nature caused by contact. Sores, ulcers, bruises, scalds, cuts and sprains are promptly remedied by it, and its disinfecting, heating, and soothing properties constitute it a far more desirable remedy for scorbatic ailments than chemicals of any description, since such a costly compound will clean the clothing, often aggravate, and very rarely indeed do any permanent good. Sold by all druggists.

Silk Meeting.—The meeting of the Deseret Silk Association which was announced to be held in the Council House on Friday next, will have to be held in the Fireman's Hall, in consequence of unavoidable circumstances. Sister Zina D. Young requests a punctual attendance at three P. M.

Information Wanted.—Anton Thomas, of Hinesville, South Wales, came to the first company this season. He brought a box from Ellen Riggs, of the same place, for Ann Pitman, of Spanish Fork, Utah.

Any information concerning him will be thankfully received by John F. Mellor, Spanish Fork, Utah.

Destruction by Fire.—We have visited the ruins of the house of John Davis, tailor, Commercial Street, which was completely destroyed by fire, yesterday morning, inflicting a loss of over a thousand dollars, and which places him and family in a destitute situation. Brother Davis has many friends in this City and Territory, who are willing to share the loss with him, and they will be pleased to learn that arrangements are made for those who desire to assist him, to have their donations at...

Base Ball.—The challenge of the new "Salt Lake City" club, Brown Stockings, has been accepted by the Deserets, and the first game of the series will be played on Saturday next, and as fine a game as any we have seen will probably be the result. The Deserets say that they do not feel weakened to any great extent by the withdrawal of Meyers, and are as confident today of success as ever before. The Browns are expected to win, and it must be admitted that they can play a good game, and that they will play their best to defeat their old club who are thoroughly believed, the feeling existing between the leaders of the new team and the old, guaranteeing it. The actual field name of the new organization is not positively known, but that it will be made up mostly of Dale, Meyers, Dwyer, McKean, Gray, Risley, Galt, Lambourn, Elmer, Art and Groesbeck is pretty certain. All these boys are players, and the future will determine their irascibility.

Dashing Highway.—A spanking, prancing pair of horses, attached to the running gear of a wagon, started from the Tibbing Office yard about noon today. They had no driver with them; and, in fact, they did not appear to need one. The two mile track, over which they fairly flew, led them down Main Street, as far as Mr. J. R. Walker's residence, around two or three blocks, and finally brought them up against a tree somewhere near the Court House. Some slight damage was done to one or two vehicles that happened to be carelessly left in the way; but beyond this nothing serious occurred.

Base Ball.—Saturday afternoon, on Arsenal Hill, a match game took place between a nice chosen from the employes of Davis, Howe and Co., and another selected from the workmen at the railroad machine shops. The game was decidedly in favor of the former, by a score of 21 to 17. Where that game between the frog and the snailbird.

The Firemen's Excursion.—On Thursday next the Salt Lake Fire Brigade will go to Ogden to spend the day. As a precaution against accidents that might occur during their absence, a force of 65 men, under the direction of Assistant Engineer H. Dinwooley, will be left in this city.

Tickets may be had at Dwyer's and Raybould's bookstores.

Returned.—Messrs John S. Ladd, and H. H. Emery, who, for some time, have been following the dramatic profession in the State of Colorado, returned to Salt Lake last evening.

Twenty Impolite Things. 1. Cursing and boisterous laughing. 2. Reading when others are talking. 3. Talking when others are reading. 4. Cutting finger nails in company. 5. Joking others in company. 6. Gazing rudely at strangers. 7. Leaving a stranger without a seat. 8. Making yourself here of your own story. 9. Reading aloud in company without being asked. 10. Spitting about the house, smoking or chewing. 11. Leaving church before worship is ended. 12. Whistling or laughing in the house of God.

Early Closing.—Probably no class of beings are engaged in labor more generally wearisome, than the clerks of mercantile establishments. A laborer not only brings to his body, from his tedious indoor monotony, but from the number of hours required. One who has allowed himself to imagine that the life of a mercantile clerk is one of the most desirable, has but to experience it for a short time to learn how erroneous was his mistake.

After a long week to week, year in and year out, they are compelled to a life of drudgery and confinement, beside which the roughest out-door employment would be a pleasure, their faces growing pale, their forms more attenuated, and the seeds of disease sowing themselves in their systems. Sunday approaches, the weary clerk, breathing a sigh of relief as he goes home on Saturday night, plans for the morrow, some little recreation to recuperate his exhausted energies. But here another fiction strikes him in the face. Remember the Sabbathday, to keep it holy. Some obey the Divine behest, and refrain from taking the exercise they so much need, while others are driven by what they consider justifiable reasons to violate the sanctity of the Lord's Day. Who is to blame?

Merchants, employers, men of wealth and influence, do you not see here an opportunity for doing good? By mutual agreement, could not the doors of your establishments be closed an hour or two earlier, thereby permitting your tired employes to get that rest and refreshment which they most otherwise forego, to the detriment of health, or trespass upon the holy Sabbath to obtain? The world is full of the fame of humanitarians, who have exposed the cause of the dumb brute, and devoted their lives, time and means to the amelioration of their condition. Why should not man feel for his brother man?

Horses.—The other day, we mentioned a case of cruelty to horses, inflicted by their inhuman driver. By an advertisement in an eastern paper, we are now reminded that horses can be treated cruelly, and that while working time, and commenting upon the practice of allowing horses to stand on a hard plank floor, while in the stable, which often induces foot diseases, it suggests as a remedy, the use of a mat, made in England, called the Derby Mat, the use of which is made of soft leather, perforated and lined with sponge, upon which horses delight to stand, the pressure of their weight causing the moisture in the sponge to keep their hoofs fresh and damp. This, in connection with our recent notice of a horse shoe, made of cowhide, to be placed upon the hoof, without nails, shows that the humanitarians of the day are studying to alleviate the labor of that useful and patient animal, the horse.

Surprise Party.—Last evening, the family and friends of Bishop Brimley, of the 6th Ward, got up a surprise party in compliment to him, yesterday being the anniversary of his birthday. He was invited to take supper at the house of Bro. Clark, of the same ward, where, to his astonishment, he was received and congratulated by his counselors, their wives, sons and daughters, and friends, numbering nearly 40 persons. As soon as the greetings were over all sat down to a well filled table of edibles, which being dispatched, the company adjourned to the school house, where the remainder of the evening was spent in songs, speeches, and the enjoyment of the dance.

The Showers.—The recent fine showers we have had in these valleys the past week or two are of local benefit to our farmers and orchardists. Such a thing as a gentle shower of rain, at this time of the year, was not known in Utah until within the past few years. The oppressive heat we have endured for the past few weeks seems to have disappeared, and has not been so lengthy duration as in former years. Parties who go to our camps for a short stay need to take waterproofs and umbrellas as to shelter themselves from the showers as well as the heat.

13. A want of respect and reverence for others. 14. Correcting older persons than yourself, especially your parents. 15. Receiving a present without an expression of gratitude. 16. Not listening to what one is saying in company. 17. Commencing to eat as soon as you get to the table. 18. Answering questions that have been put to others. 19. Commenting on the dress of others before they have finished speaking. 20. Laughing at the mistakes of others.

The above items were found on an old card, reprinted on new ones, and a package of the latter presented by Brother William B. Barton, of the 18th Ward, to the ward Sabbath School last Sunday morning. They are points that all might apply to advantage.

JOHN... Samuel Chamberlain writes to the Polytechnic Review, concerning a permanent source of knowledge, a village about thirty miles from Philadelphia. He believes that the culture to introduce silk culture in 1849 was chiefly due to the work of a Frenchman, a factor in a village about thirty miles from Philadelphia. He believes that the culture to introduce silk culture in 1849 was chiefly due to the work of a Frenchman, a factor in a village about thirty miles from Philadelphia.

Business, like machinery, must be carried by the dead-point. A school, farm and village, whose continuance will be maintained for some 15 or 20 years, will secure a permanent source of knowledge, and instruction from which the culture will extend year by year. It will not be overthrown as formerly, by causes outside of the silk business. It will keep the subject before the public through advertisements. It will at all times provide eggs, trees, books, etc. The educational advantages will be very great. We are endeavoring to introduce the industrial schools of Europe for instruction in the mechanical arts. But they have passed silk schools for nearly one hundred years, through the years obtained and retained, till now the silk business of the world! It is more than strange that such schools, urged by Mr. Chamberlain, in 1850, should not have been generally established in this country. The present effort ought to have the immediate support of every intelligent and far-sighted capitalist, for through it we shall draw the silk business of the western world to ourselves.

A Story of a Trail. She was a tall, stout individual, and sprung out of the wagon as lightly as a spring chicken after a grand start. He was a little, withered, dried up weasel, and followed slowly, bringing a basket of eggs with him. They entered one of the stores, and the weasel said, "What are you giving for eggs?" "Eight cents," was the reply of the counter-jumper. "Well, here are three dozen," said the fat party, "and I'll take 'em for you." "But I want some yarn to mend my socks," put in the old man. "The weather is warm," replied the fat man, "and you can go without socks."

"But my boots hurt my feet," insisted the old man. "Go barefooted," said she, rather scornfully, "and you'll be glad to change her tune and remark: "Young man, please count them eggs, and give me four yards of calico to make this 'ere dress." "But—" the old man was going to continue, when she raised her index finger and said: "Henry Whistler Davis springs them 'ere eggs are mine; the hen that laid 'em are mine; the corn what fed on 'em was mine, and I've got to have a trail on this 'ere dress as long as Deity goes, and if every toe on your feet turn into gum-bills, you'll hear of four yards of that 'ere calico, or you will hear a bumble-bee humming."

The old man shut, and the clerk yanked off the calico. — Catekill Valley Monitor.
