FIVE KILLED IN THE MINNIE HEALY MINE

Accident Occurred on the Sixth Floor of the One Thousand Foot Level.

CAUSE OF DEATH A CAVE-IN

Ground Known to be Dangerous and Men Had Gone in to Bulk. Head It.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 25.-Five lives were lost by a cave-in of earth and rock in the famous Minnie Healy mine this afternoon. The dead:

Thomas Haggerty, shift boss, Thomas Furlong, miner. William Dwyer, miner, Ike Abraham, miner.

Anton Trinetti, miner. The accident occurred on the sixth floor of the 1,000-foot level. Early in the day Foreman Joseph Kane was informed that the ground in that place informed that the ground in that place was very soft and in danger of falling. He withdrew all the miners who were working there. This afternoon Shift Boss Haggerty took Furlong, Dwyer, Abraham and Trinetti into the place to bulkhead and otherwise strengthen the weak spots.

Just how the fall came will never be known, as not one of the five men was left to tell the tale. Only the time of the fall is known, and that by the noise, which was heard in other por-tions of the mine. Work was at once suspended and everyone went to the rescue. Shift Boss Haggerty was found on the edge of the mass of earth and rocks, buried to the vaist. He was able to tell the rescuers that he and Furlong had nearly got clear of the place when they were caught by the cave. Furiong was only a few feet behind Haggerty. Haggerty had scarcely had time to tell Foreman Kane this much when there came a second cave burying him.

Despite the danger attached to the work of rescue, the miners of the work of rescue, the miners of the Minnie Healy kept right on with it. But it was not until 6 o'clock that the body of Haggerty was found and taken to the surface. That of Furlong will probably not be reached for hours. As for the bodies of Davis and Abraham, it is believed they were too far in when the warning of the fall came to make any considerable run for safety, and it is likely to be day before they are reached.

Trinetti was not killled directly by the fall, but as a consequence of it. Like the others he heard the thing comlike the others he heard the thing com-ing and made a dash for safety. In doing so he ran into a chute down which he fell. His dead body was found in the manway at the bottom of

The work of recovering the remaining bodies will proceed slowly, as the management of the mine will not let the rescue party endanger any more lives, for the reason that there is not chance that any of the men can be found alive.

The Minnie Healy mine is being worked by the Montana Ore Purchasing company. It is the property that became celebrated because of the great legal battle for the ownership, which just at present rests with the Montana Furlong's body was recovered later tonight. It is now reported that Tom Powers, another miner, is missing, and may be under the earth and rock.

The Secret of Long Life and How to Overcome Waste.

To "Know thyself," is to take advantage of life's secrets and equip one's self with an armor which will successfully resist the attack of disease in the battle of life. The old idea of fate or "kismet," and that a person always dies when his time comes, is now exploded. Every mechanism, whether made by God or er made by God or man, has a definite amount of wear and its life can be lengthened or shortened accord-or the human mechanism an end comes to its usefulness, but it has not actually "worm out." Man's system at times gets rusty like the wheels of the watch and only needs a little cleaning and oiling to put it in shape for life's battles.

An imitation of nature's method of restoring waste of tissue and impoverishment of the blood and nervous force is used when you take an alterative extract of herbs and roots, without the use of alcohol, like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. the fact that the state department at Washington did not call attention to the matter. It would also appear, however, matter. It would also appear, however, that the Cuban state department failed to remember this time limit. The treaty was signed in Havana July 2, 1903, and was ratified by the Cuban senate on July 16, since when it has been pending in the United States senate.

The last condition of the treaty was to the effect that the ratifications be exchanged in Washington within seven months of the date of signing.

TO PROTECT HONOLULU.

Col. McClelland Would Put Artillery on the Punchbowl.

Honolulu, Feb. 25 .-- Col. John McClelland .commander of the United States military district of Honolulu, is discussing with Gov. Carter the advisability of placing a battery of the largest guns on Punchbowl crater, close behind the city of Honolulu. It is reported that consideration of this plan may be recommended instead of the recent suggestions of the army board for a gen-eral shore line of fortifications, on ac-count of the Punchbowl fortifications being quicker of completion and more effective than long range defenses along the ocean shore.

EIGHT HOUR BILL UNDER DISCUSSION.

Ship Builder Downey Says Proposed Legislation Would Cut the Throats of Working People.

MAKES STARTLING ASSERTION.

Declares That With as Good Tools British Laborers Do 60 Per Cent More Work Than Americans.

Washington, Feb. 25.-"Do you mean that the Scotch, the Irish or the English laborers in the shipyards at Glasgow can do 60 per cent more work with the same tools and in the same time than can be done by American shipyard workers?" demanded James O'Connell, president of the International Association of Machinists, of Wallace Downey, a New York shipbuilder, and a representative of the New York Metal Trades association, during the progress of a hearing today on the eight hour bill, before the house committee on education and labor.

"I do mean to say that most emphatically," answered Mr. Downey, "and I am not making the statement from hearsay. It has cost me $5.09000 in the last five years, in addition to gray hairs, to find it out. I spent $90,-000 in purchasing the best tools, in acquiring knowledge of the methods in Glasgow, and tried for three years to convince American workmen that by doing piecework they could accomplish They would not see it, and the shipbuilding interests have suffered. In turn, the laborers have suffered, for the weekly payrolls have decreased.'

Mr. O'Connell declared that he had belief in the statement of Mr. Downey and expressed the opinion that American workers in the shipyards were far superior to those of other countries. Mr. Downey responded with a challenge that Mr. O'Connell make an investigation or consult other builders whose words would be accepted by the world

He said that he hoped that when the systems employed in the English yards were brought to bear in this country that we would be able to pass the foreign yards in the amount and quality of work produced, but deciared that such legislation as is proposed in the eight hour bill is cutting the throats of the working people.

"An arbitrary eight-hour day which would prohibit overtime of any kind would place a handicap on the Ameri-can shipbuilder that would lose for him all opportunity of participating in for-eign trade," said Mr. Downey. He predicted that under such restrictions the shipbuilding industry of this country, except government work, would be a disgrace to the name of shipbuilding. Representative Hearst inquired if it were not possible to acquire the means of manufacture which were used in with them in building. He cited as an example of the reduction of cost in manufacture that newspapers in the last 10 years have dropped in price from 5 to 3 cents a copy to 1 cent a copy, and at the same time the hours of workmen had decreased and wages increased. "If that can be done in the newspaper business, why not in your business? If we have put our brains to work, why don't you?" he asked.

Disclaiming any knowledge of the ramifications of publishing newspapers, Mr. Downey proceeded to give his ideas on the subject. He spoke of the great presses and the intricate plants installed at enormous cost, which, he said, probably were responsible for the decreased cost of producing. "And, now I want to say," he added, "that I take off my hat to the man who invented the machine, the man who had the means and the courage to go to the expense necessary to install it, to the ma-chine itself, rather than to the man who merely stands beside it and feeds in the white paper.

"You asked me why we had not used the same brains in the shipbuilding trust. Don't say trust, for there is none now, and, anyway, I was not in it. But I do believe that to be possible although we cannot do it while staggering under stiding legislation. Our profits in the foreign trade are balancing on the line of 1, 2 or 3 per cent, ready every minute to be toppled over by the movement of the hand. The manufacturing industry of this country has developed far in excess of our consumption, and therefore we need the foreign trade in order to exist. The laborer needs it as much as the manufacturer. I am not a calamity howler, but I believe the present period of unprecedented prosperity to examine the control of the control perity is nearly at an end, and that the country will settle down to something like a reasonable basis. It is then that the workingmen will have to put their heads with ours and be willing to do a part of the calculating in keeping our thousands of mills and factories in operation." eration."

Former Secretary of the Navy Her-bert inquired if the decreased selling price of the newspaper had not been brought about by the better transportation facilities which aided in obtaining large circulations and the education of the merchants of the country to the value of advertising and thus greatly enlarging the revenues of the ewspapers? Mr. Downey said he would prefer to have Mr. Hearst answer the question, but he would venture that the actual labor performed by the day had little to do with the reduction in the cost of production in comparison with the oth-er mediums which had been mentioned: Other employers protested against the proposed legislation. Another hearing will be held on Thursday next.
