CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC R'Y

By reason of its central position, close relation to principal lines East of Chicago and continuous lines at termini, points West, Northwest and Southwest—is the only true middle-link in that transcontinental system which invites and facilitates travel and traffic in either direction between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Rock Island main line and branches include Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, La Salle, Peoria, Geneseo, Moline and Rock Island, in Illinois; Davenport, Muscatine, Washington, Fairfield, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, West Liberty, Iowa City, Des Moines, Indianola, Winterset, Atlantic, Knoxville, Audubon, Harlan, Guthrie Centre and Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, St. Joseph, Cameron and Kansas City, in Missouri; Leavenworth and Atchison, in Kansas; Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul, in Minnesota; Watertown in Dakota, and hundreds of intermediate cities, towns and villages.

THE GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE

Guarantees Speed, Comfort and Safety to those who travel over it. Its roadbed is thoroughly ballasted. Its track is of heavy steel. Its bridges are solid structures of stone and iron. Nothing which skill can devise or money can make it has at the safety appliances that mechanical genius has invented and experience proved valuable. Its practical operation is conservative and methodical—its discipline strict and exacting. The luxury of its passenger accommodations is unequaled in the West—unsurpassed in the world.

ALL EXPRESS TRAINS between Chicago and the Missouri River consist of comfortable DAY COACHES, magnificent PULLMAN PALACE PARLOR and SLEEPING CARS, elegant DINING CARS providing excellent meals, and between Chicago, St. Joseph, Atchison and Kansas City—restful RECLINING CHAIR CARS.

THE FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE

Is the direct, favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. Over this route solid Fast Express Trains run daily to the summer resorts, picturesque localities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. The rich wheat fields and grazing lands of interior Dakota are reached via Watertown.

A short desirable route, via Seneca and Kankakee, offers superior inducements to travelers between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul and intermediate points.

All classes of patrons, especially families, ladies and children, receive from officials and employes of Rock Island trains protection, respectful courtesy and kindly attention.

EVENING NEWS.

Monday, February 21, 1887.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Religious services in the Tabernacle, Sunday, February 20, 1887, commenced at 2 p.m., President Angus M. Cannon presiding.

The choir and congregation sang:

Now let us rejoice in the day of salvation,
No longer as strangers on earth need we roam.

Prayer was offered by Elder Edward Snelgrove.

The choir sang:

I know that my Redeemer lives,
What comfort that sweet sentence gives.

The Bishopric of the Twenty-first Ward officiated in the administration of the Sacrament.

Elder W. J. Beatie was called to address the congregation. He said the present was a time in the experience of the Latter-day Saints when it was necessary for them to be filled with the Spirit of God, that they might be able to withstand the persecutions that were being heaped upon them. It was their mission was to make known to the world that God had instituted a system whereby all may be saved by compliance therewith. It was the faith of the Saints that the time would come when this mission would be recognized by the people of the world, and that all who give compliance to the laws of the Gospel would obtain salvation in the eternal world. There had been occasions in the past, when individuals have arisen who have been endowed by the Spirit of God, and were instruments in His hands whereby the way might be paved for the restoration of the Gospel in its entirety; difficulties and obstacles have been thrown in the way of these reformers, but they accomplished their part. The result of the restoration of the Gospel was that a vast number of people had gathered in the valleys of Utah with a desire to serve God and keep His commandments. Future generations would realize that the Latter-day Saints had a divine mission. They were endeavoring to accomplish the designs of God, and preach His Gospel to all the nations of the earth. Their task was a difficult one, and would not be undertaken by any people, were they not actuated by the principles of truth. By yielding obedience to the Gospel and obtaining the gift of the Holy Ghost they have been made to see the necessity of this work and know that it is of the Almighty. It was their duty to try to show the nations of the earth the necessity of also complying with those principles, that none may have the opportunity to say they were not warned. It was for this purpose that the Elders traversed the land and the sea, that people may be brought to a knowledge of the principles of the Gospel as taught by Jesus Christ. A part of the mission of the Saints was also to purify their lives, that they might be qualified to carry the Gospel to the nations of the earth. They had imperfections which they were trying to overcome, that they might merit eternal life. The Lord Jesus Christ said that all who would take upon them His name would be reviled and persecuted for His sake; while the Saints were being persecuted they realized that I was for the sake of their religion They also know that the persecutions are for their good, binding them more closely together. The work they are engaged in is progressive, and while they know they are frail creatures, they also know that their welfare is watched over by their Heavenly Father.

Elder F. S. Richards was the next speaker. He recognized the truth of the remarks of the former speaker in regard to the mission the Latter-day Saints have to fulfil. They believed that God had revealed to them, through His Prophets, the principles of His Gospel; and they also believed they are the only people upon the earth who have that Gospel in its entirety. While they had this idea, they were not so bigoted as to think that they were the only people that will be saved, but understand that all the sons and daughters of God except the sons of perdition will receive salvation according to their merits. The Saints believed there were different degrees of glory. One of these was the celestial or higher glory, which had been compared to the glory of the sun. There was also another condition of glory likened unto that of the moon; and a third, likened to the stars; and as one star differed from another in glory, so would the rewards of those who pass from this sphere differ, according to that which was deserved. The Saints believed that all mankind would be saved except the sons of perdition; but if people wished to obtain the highest degree of salvation they must comply with all the requirements of the Gospel. It was also the faith of the Saints that those who have died may still have the Gospel preached unto them and obtain a degree of glory in accord with their acceptance of the principles of salvation. A little less than three quarters of a century ago Joseph Smith, a simple youth, prayed to God to learn which of all the different religious sects was correct; the answer was that none had the true Gospel in its fullness, but that all had gone astray. The principles of truth were then explained to him, and he accepted them. There was then a difficulty existing in the fact that no one was on earth who had authority to baptize him. This difficulty was overcome by an angel descending from heaven and conferring the Aaronic Priesthood upon Joseph, thus giving him authority to baptize. Afterwards, power to impart the Holy Ghost was conferred by the Apostles Peter, James and John. The more advanced principles and ordinances of the Gospel were explained to Joseph by revelation. This was the way in which the Latter-day Saints obtained their authority; and it was for these principles that abuse was being heaped upon them throughout the length and breadth of the land. It was on account of these principles that many of their brethren, who should be present among them to-day, were absent. But when the Saints are understood by the nations of the earth this state of affairs will not exist. At present the people are not understood. The Latter-day Saints were filled with love and charity toward all the people of the world. The persecution that was being waged against them was not unproductive of good; for it was creating an increased feeling of love in them towards each other. It was only when they were filled by the Spirit of God that they were able to live up to the principles of truth and justice during the trying times they were passing through. The speaker hoped the Saints would always be able to say, The will of God be done.

Elder John Nicholson was the concluding speaker. The remarks of those who preceded him had led him to contemplate one principle inculcated in the system of Christianity, compliance with which was exceedingly difficult, because its practice was met by a strong instinct interwoven with the nature of mortals. He referred to the requirement that Christ's disciples should love their enemies and pray for those who despitefully use them. When we are wronged it was natural for us to retaliate. To carry this carnal prompting into effect was in opposition to the divine behest. The speaker sometimes had much difficulty in suppressing this feeling and preventing it blossoming into action. It was important that we should consider how this mastery over self could be attained, that we may emulate the Savior. The Saints had a wide field for the exercise of affection toward, and supplication to the throne of grace in behalf of those who despitefully use us. We are the most thoroughly, extensively and bitterly abused people on earth. We should hate upon the same principle as we worship. We adore God because He is the embodiment of all that is just, noble and true. We do not worship His personality independent of those eternal principles. On the other hand Satan exhibits the antipodes of these attributes and qualities which are in our Heavenly Father. It is not the person or organized spirit of the evil one that we so much detest, but his actions, his infernalism. In our intercourse with our fellow creatures we find those who exhibit godlike qualities, they are honest, just and true, and because of those qualities we love and respect them aside from any personal beauty that they may possess. Others are satanic, their malicious dispositions being exhibited by cruel and unjust actions. Their deeds are detestable, but it does not follow that our aversion to their conduct, should lead us to attempt to let a little knowledge into them by knocking them on the head with a club. That is not an intelligent process. We can hate their actions without extending that feeling to their persons. If there were a requirement making it imperative that affection should be bestowed upon their depraved and malicious acts, the speaker said he believed it would be impossible for him to conform to it. As far as he could go would be to do such people good if he could and not harm them, but their deeds would not have his esteem. We should leave them in the hands of God, to be dealt with according to the principles of eternal justice, which would overtake them in time. The steps of justice might be silent, but they were sure, her victims could not escape her clutches, and when she grasped them no power but that of Omnipotence could unclasp her grip. The Saints could afford to leave them to receive the reward that would be accorded them and trust in God for deliverance from all their enemies.

The choir sang an anthem and benediction was offered by Patriarch John Smith.
