The "Mormons" to Blame.—It has long been a custom among "Mormons" to blame "Christians" whenever a crime is perpetrated or other violation of law and order committed in this Territory, to lay the blame at the door of the "Mormons" and their polygamy. This practice is not confined to priests and politicians, but is also manifest among their dupes, the poor simpletons who have just enough brains, after stuffing them with drink, to echo parrot-like whatever their masters put into their mouths.

The latest example is given in the Ogden Pilot, which tells of a man named Barney Mowry, who had been for some days "excessively" celebrating Christmas, "taking an overdose of opium," and then rushing wildly about blaming the "Mormons" for what he had done. This is about as far as the average anti-"Mormon" attack. But perhaps the whole item may be interesting.

On Wednesday, says the paper above named, Mowry went into Mc. Cart's saloon with his friend James Beattie for a drink. This was about 5 o'clock. Soon after entering the saloon he asked his friend to wait there a few minutes, as he was going out. Nearly half an hour elapsed before he made his appearance again, when he came rushing in and said, "The Mormons have given it to me. If I go to sleep now, I will never wake up."

His friends noticed a strange look about his eyes, and he at once began to show signs of stupor. Thinking that fresh air might relieve him, Mr. Beattie led him out into the street. Passing down Fourth Street, he succeeded in getting him as far as Mc. Nutt & Huribut's place, where he became so weak he was taken in there and assistance called.

Dr. Carnahan and Mitchell were soon found, and said the patient had taken an overdose of opium in some form. Proper remedies were administered and the man was walked vigorously about for more than an hour until the stupor was apparently broken, and he soon appeared to regain consciousness. The doctors and Mowry's friends worked over him until 5 o'clock, when he was taken to his home.

Weather Report.—By Deseret Telegraph, 11:50 a.m., Dec. 29.
Paris, Idaho.—Cloudy; looks very much like storming; about a foot of snow on level.

Logan.—About four or five inches of snow and looks like more storming; an inch or so fell last night.

Franklin, Idaho.—About three inches of snow; not storming now.

Brigham City.—Cloudy and calm; been snowing this morning; thermometer 40; about one inch of snow on the ground.

Kaysville.—Snowing all morning, about three inches; looks as though it would continue.

Smithfield.—Cloudy and blowing from the north, about two inches of snow.

Richmond.—Cloudy and calm, about three inches of snow on the ground.

Provo.—Slight fall of snow on ground, looks like more soon.

Payson.—Snowing and cold.

Nephew.—Roads very muddy, thawed all day yesterday and last night mild, cloudy and appearance of heavy snow.

Moroni.—blowing hard and snowing.

Ephraim.—Very muddy; blowing, appearance of heavy storm.

American Fork.—Stormy, about inch of snow since 9 o'clock, still snowing and blowing.

Manti.—Very muddy and wind blowing; appearance of heavy storm; not much snow on ground now.

Price.—Fine. A little cloudy in the north. No snow.

Gunnison.—Snowing very hard.

Salina.—Sun shining at intervals; windy; no snow on ground; roads bad.

Heavy Winds.—It was stated in the News on Wednesday that the north-bound train over the Utah & Northern Railway on the evening previous, was compelled to return to Ogden on account of heavy winds.

The Logan Journal says that on Tuesday eight freight cars, one of them loaded, were blown from the track at Mendon. No one was hurt and not much damage was done.

The north-bound passenger bringing mail from the south and east did not arrive till 11:45 at night. The south-bound passenger did not leave Logan until evening. The track was reported all clear Wednesday morning.

Death of Sister Groesbeck.—Elizabeth Thompson Groesbeck, the beloved wife of Nicholas Groesbeck, departed this life December 28th, 1893, aged 63 years, 4 months and 12 days. She was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on the 6th day of April, 1841, by Elder William Smith, at Nauvoo; emigrated to the gathering place of the Saints in the year 1855. She leaves a husband and eight children—six sons and two daughters—to mourn her loss, all of whom were present at her death, except one daughter, Sister Josephine Smith, who is with her husband on a mission to Europe.

She died in full faith of the Gospel, and in anticipation of coming forth in the morning of the first resurrection, and with her latest breath urging upon her children to keep the faith, and live lives worthy of Latter-day Saints.

So has passed away a mother in Israel, whose hand was ever open to bless and succor the needy, whose heart was singularly free from guile, and whose memory will ever be held in sacred remembrance by her devoted husband and loving children.

Funeral services at the Seventeenth Ward Meeting house at 11 a. m., Sunday, December 30th. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

Pat Landers the Second.—This morning, Mrs. M. B. Cremer, of the Thirteenth Ward, entered a complaint at the Police Office against a low specimen of humanity in the shape of a man, who, she said, had been insulting her two little girls, in much the same manner as the wretch, Pat Landers, whose attempts to entice little children has been the theme of several articles in this paper already. The incident related by Mrs. Cremer occurred last evening.

She had sent the children up town on an errand, and as they were returning, they noticed a man who had been following them for several blocks. When near the Delta Saloon, opposite the Theatre, the fellow approached them, offered them money, and tried to get them to go with him into an adjacent alley. The girls fled frightened into the saloon for protection, and a man in there ran out and saw enough of the fellow before he disappeared in the direction of Main Street, to insure future identification. The children also said they would know him again.

To-day, about noon, a telephone call from Wagner's saloon informed the police at the Hall that the man who insulted the girls was at that place. Officer Andrew Smith was immediately dispatched to the saloon and soon returned bringing with him a man who gave the name of C. M. Miller, but protested that he was not the one who was wanted. The gentleman who telephoned, however, is the same who saw and followed the fellow last night, and he declares that Miller is the very man. The case was to come up late this afternoon.
