WASHINGTON NEWS.

Congressional, Personal, Financial, Etc.

WASHINGTON, 13.—Senator Eaton has prepared a substitute for the Burnside resolution enunciating the Monroe doctrine in regard to the construction of the international ship canal by foreign capital which he will endeavor to have the Senate committee on foreign relations adopt at its meeting on Tuesday. The substitute goes further than the original resolution and protests against the construction of the proposed canal by foreign capital under the guise of a charter from the government of Colombia and intimates plainly that this government will not suffer it to go on. It is believed here the Senate will adopt this resolution and the effect will be to stop De Lesseps from attempting to carry out the enterprise.

After the morning hour in the Senate the franking resolution was referred to the committee on post-offices, 28 to 23, and the Senate resumed the army bill.

Frank Hurd and Judge Taylor are discussing before the House elections committee the right of the latter to the seat from Garfield's district.

At a meeting of the House military committee Sparks presented the report of the sub-committee against McCook's bill to retire Grant. McCook presented a minority report favoring the bill. The committee adopted Spark's report which he reported to the House.

A bill was introduced in the House by Johnston for the relief of Gen. Ord.

The treasury purchased but 10,000 ounces of silver bullion for mintage. Only three bids were received from the Pacific Coast owing to the interruption of telegraphic communication.

Prominent War Department officials speaking with regard to the future retirements, to-day, said there was no doubt that Judge Advocate Gen. Dunn and Surgeon Gen. Barnes would soon be placed on the retired list, but Quarter-master Gen. Meigs would not be retired.

The Senate committee to-day instructed chairman Lamar to prepare and report a bill granting the right of way through the Fort Bliss Texas Military reservation to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and Southern New Mexico Railroads and through the Fort Wingate New Mexico reservation to the Atlantic and Pacific Company.

A special treasury agent returned from the investigation of U. S. Marshal Fitzsimmons, Georgia, and finds he has not co-operated with the revenue officers in suppressing illicit stills, has taken money belonging to the United States and compelled deputies by means of false representations and threats to give receipts for sums they did not obtain, and although at first excited and violent at the charges made he finally acknowledged them. His shortage is $550 and the agent could not learn where the money was, Fitzsimmons claiming that he was responsible for the amount, his resignation is daily expected by the President.

The President gave a state dinner to-night to the Supreme Court Justices which was an elegant affair. Justice and Mrs. Field were present several cabinet officers also present and a few prominent Congressmen and Whitelaw Reid. This is the beginning of a series of dinners to be given before the President retires.

Although the Senate committee on foreign relations at their special meeting to-day did not have time to reach the point of action on the Chinese treaties, it is learned that their examination of the documents so far as it has progressed up to the hour for adjournment, has produced a decidedly favorable impression upon the minds of at least a majority of the committee, and it is quite probable that the expected report in favor of its ratification will be unanimous. Owing to the engagement of various members on other committees there will not be another meeting of the foreign relations committee until next Tuesday.

Senator Saulsbury, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, intends to call up the Kellogg case as soon as the regular appropriation bills now pending for action by the Senate shall have been disposed of. The democratic members of the committee say they have not been advised of any change of opinion among Senators in regard to this case since last session, but they cannot believe that the democratic majority will permit Kellogg to keep his seat, especially in view of what seems to be a certainty, that the democratic ascendancy in the Senate for two years after the 4th of March depends upon ousting Kellogg previously. They are at any rate determined to have the question settled at the earliest moment practicable. The general belief remains unchanged, however, that not less than six or eight democratic senators will vote with the republicans on this question, and thus sustain Kellogg in possession of his seat.

An interview with Delegate Cannon, published in to-day's Republican quotes him as giving December 7th, 1854, as the date of his naturalization and the United States District Court of Utah as the tribunal in which it took place. He also referred to certain transcripts from records of that court which he claims establishes the truth of his assertion and which, he further said, were published by the House and Representatives among the miscellaneous documents of the 44th Congress. These transcripts, as incorporated in the Republican's report of his remarks, consists of what purports to be a copy of a certificate of naturalization signed and sealed by W. L. Appleby, clerk of the court above mentioned, the copy being attested by Alfred Gould, Clerk of the Supreme Court of Utah Territory, Nov. 17, '74.

Senator Booth, to-day, presented sundry memorials from San Francisco, Oakland and other places in California against the passage of the public land commission bill, and recommending sundry amendments of the homestead law.

Representative Davis presented petitions signed by many prominent merchants and numerous mariners of San Francisco urging the enactment of a bill to provide for the reorganization of marine hospitals service and a system of quarantine therein.

Howe's bill to provide for ex-Presidents proposes to pay each of them annually one-quarter of the amount of salary while in office. Thirteen citizens of Boston signed the accompanying petition, which refers to Grant as the only President who had congratulated themselves as having earned the gratitude of their fellow-citizens, and concludes with sad stories of the want of earlier ex-Presidents during their old age, and here were very few of our young men's minds, and he believed they that it is beneath the dignity of these wandering from the paths of nation to call on the best men righteousness, and that so vast a their services and neglect to provide majority of them were endeavoring for them after retirement. to walk in that way and manner

The special House committee that would be most pleasing in the investigate the abuse of the franking privilege of God, and would eventually privilege met with closed doors result in the most good to them. this afternoon. The speaker then went on at length

Senator Conkling made a legal and advocate the principle of dealing gument this p. m. In executive session kindly with those who may have sion of the Senate, against the pretexts aside from the path of rectified confirmation of Wm. H. Craigtitude, of appealing to the reason of whose commission expires March such a one; of endeavoring to show 1st. He claimed the term of office him the error of his way by persuadon't expire until four years from sion and kindness, contending that the date of his qualification, which a greater amount of good could be and consequent to March 4th 1877 accomplished in this way than by power to fill an office and using harsh measures which in most of its vacation. On Conkling's of the persons or persons to tion this question was recommitted whom they were applied. In this for further consideration. connection he alluded to the article

The Senate committee on Territories heard an argument from Gen Lew Wallace, Governor of New Mexico, in advocacy of the repeal of the posse comitatus clause of the army appropriation act of 1878, so far as it prevents the enforcement of civil law in the territories by means of direct calls on the military for assistance. The proposition was referred to Senators Vest and Saunders as a sub-committee. The indications are it will be reported favorably.

The committee to-day agreed to recommend the passage of the House bill appropriating $30,000 for the erection of a penitentiary in Dakota.

New York Notes.

NEW YORK, 14.—The Times says: The Chinese treaties gives indications that the Chinese government is uneasy over the migrations of its subjects here and their harsh treatment, but yielded the points embraced in the treaty, because an alliance with the United States is deemed desirable now that so many dangers from without menace the celestial empire. The treaties show the absolute sincerity and friendly intentions of China toward the United States.

The Herald's Albany special says: Conkling has won a famous victory. He not only has beaten his personal foes, but he enjoys the pleasure of beholding most of the volunteer and abject self-humiliation. There is no doubt that Platt will be quite as harmonious and satisfactory a colleague to him as Crowley, perhaps more so, yet every one of the anti-Grant and pro-Blaine New York delegates in the Chicago national convention, who is a member of this legislature, with a single exception, was managed into voting for Platt to-night.

Garfield and the Colored Men.

CLEVELAND, 14.—A colored delegation waited on Garfield at Mentor to-day. Their spokesman congratulated Garfield on his election, complimented him for his gallant defense for the rights of the people in the past, alluded to the grievous wrongs endured by the colored race in the south, such as [illegible] will of the minorities, etc., a tale which has been often told and is well known. He urged in behalf of his people the necessity of creating a national system of education for the toiling masses under the supervision and control of the government not leaving the matter to the changeful policies of political parties. He protested against federal appointments in the south being made in hostility to the republican interests and sentiments. He concluded by hoping for a fearless administration of the laws without favor or partiality under Prest. Garfield. Gen. Garfield in response assured them that his convictions had ever prompted his utterances and his conduct. As to the majority of the citizens being oppressed by the minority in some sections of the south, he asked why it was so? Because the trained man is two or three to one as against an untrained man, and this suggestion was brimfull of significance outside of policies and parties. To make a majority always powerful, makes its members trained and intelligent as the minority itself. The education of the colored race lies at the base of the final solution of their great questions. Government ought to do all it can, but the thirst for knowledge must be prompted by the parents and encouraged by the children. He had felt for years that education was the final solution of the question.

Bishop Hood then read an address from the African M. E. Church bishops, to which Garfield also returned thanks, and the conference ended.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

The usual Sunday services were held in the Assembly Hall yesterday afternoon, an immense congregation being present on the occasion. Elder C. W. Penrose offered the opening prayer.

Elder John Morgan was the first speaker, who said, in our meetings together the variety of instructions we received seemed to apply to every phase of life here upon the earth, and prepared us for the life to come. He had listened with a great deal of interest that morning to the instructions given in the Conference of the Mutual Improvement Associations of this Stake—instructions to our young men in regard to the duties that devolve upon the young man, as Elders in Israel, as the future Seventies and High Priests in Israel, upon whose shoulders should eventually devolve the burden of establishing the kingdom of God firmly upon the earth. There certainly appeared to be an ever increasing interest day by day in the midst of the Latter-day Saints in regard to the youth, and he could bear testimony this afternoon that that interest was being to a greater or less extent appreciated and acted upon by the young men in Israel. He was placed in a situation that gave him exceptional chances of learning something in regard to this matter. He had a correspondence with some fifty or sixty young men who had been selected from the different States of Zion and sent abroad upon missionary labors, and receiving their letters almost daily, detailing to him the incidents of their missionary experience, he recognized that there was a steady growth among our young men here in regard to the principles of the everlasting gospel, a steady increase upon their part in regard to a knowledge of the duties that had now and should in the future devolve upon them. The instructions that they received from time to time from the stand, from the articles that are published in our Church papers, from the Mutual Improvement Associations and from the priesthood meetings, were having a very great effect upon the young cold weather just now, intermixed with storm and shine. The health of the people is good with few exceptions, generally colds with sore throat. But I regret to have to record the death of a son of Brother Henry Spackman, of this place, who died on the morning of the 9th inst., aged 4 years, 3 months, and 18 days, of diphtheria, after one week's sickness. He was a promising child, and one beloved by all who knew him. We have also an invalid lady in our midst, at the mention of whose name many things are brought to the minds of those who were with the church in early days. Sister Hendricks, wife of the late Bro. Sol Hendricks, is an aged veteran whose name, with that of her husband, has been interwoven with church history for many years. Bro. S. Hendricks was ever valiant for the truth and a soldier. He was wounded in the battle on Crooked River, where he received among other wounds, a ball in the neck, which paralyzed him for life, insomuch that he had to be nursed like a child until death put an end to his sufferings some ten years since, but his wife surviving him has been a motherly, kind, affectionate woman and one that has endeared herself to all with whom she has been associated. She has been sick for full two years and has not been able to attend a meeting during that time, consequently it was thought wise by our bishop to meet with her last Sabbath. Quite a number of the leading men of the ward and members of the choir met at her house, and after singing and administering the sacrament, she was administered to for her health, with the desire that if it was the will of the Lord that she should tarry longer in the flesh, she might speedily recover, and if not, that she might go in peace. After the anointing with oil by Bro. Sidney B. Kent (who was filled with the spirit of the Lord and pronounced many blessings upon her head,) the anointing was sealed by all the Elders present, and some powerful remarks were made by Bro. W. H. Lewis, who said he had known Brother and Sister Hendricks for many years and they had borne the heat and burden of the day, had been valiant in testimony, and always true to the gospel of Christ. Spoke many encouraging words, and blessed her in the name of the Lord. Bro. Sidney B. Kent gave much good instruction, and said Brother and Sister Hendricks were numbered among the great ones of the kingdom of God. They had prophesied many things and he had lived to see them come to pass. He was very much affected, and spoke with great power. He also encouraged those present to live as Sister Hendricks had lived and they would with her wear crowns of glory in the kingdoms of our God. There were some good remarks made by Bro. Wm. Waddoups, which were calculated in their nature to inspire our Sister to bear patiently the affliction which the Lord sees fit to put life of faithfulness such as that of our Sister, and felt to say that all the blessings which had been uttered upon her head should be realized. Gave many consoling remarks and blessed her in the name of Israel's God.

Remarks were also made by Bros. John Kemp, Sen., R. N. Egbert, H. J. Talbot and others, the half of which I regret cannot be given in full but I must say the spirit of the Lord was there and made us feel it is good to be a Saint.

After singing our sisters' favorite hymn "O my Father thou that dwellest," etc., (which seems to inspire the heart with a hope beyond the vail) and benediction by Brother John Kemp, Sen., we returned home.

Respectfully,
WILLIAM BLAIR.
