

CLIPPINGS.

—A young actress in Milan lately fell in love with a priest, and told him the confessional the secret of her heart. He recommended contrition for the "mortal sin," and poor Rachel drank arsenic.

—An old German beggar, 95 years old, who consumed half a bushel of potatoes a day, hanged himself at St. Louis recently, because his stock of the vegetable had given out.

—Victor Emanuel's three sons are to receive new titles, viz: Count of Milan, Count of Turin, and Count of Florence.

—The office-seekers in Washington are technically known as "Prairie Chickens," from the fact that all the prairies of the "great West" have sent to the seat of government every two-legged animal raised there.

—The Light Artillery Guns in the French army are four-pounders, and one of them can be easily carried by six soldiers. They are rifled; the balls are conical shells, instead of solid shot, and have rings of lead around them; percussion within them. They not only kill when they strike, but also scatter destruction around where they burst.

—The Legislature of Missouri has just passed a bill instituting the death penalty for stealing horses and negroes.

—An exchange says, it is estimated that the agitation of the slavery question has cost the country in twenty-three years three thousand millions of dollars. And now, at last, it has cost the Union its existence.

—It is said that the secession authorities of Louisiana have imposed a tax of $7,000 per annum on every public gambling-house in New Orleans. If the law is enforced, it will greatly increase the revenue of the State.

—The Wilmington (N. C.) Light Infantry have adopted for a pompon a natural pine burr, which in the case of officers, is gilded, and for privates is varnished.

—Spurgeon, the splurger, when a proposition was made about heating his new tabernacle, said, "O, nothing of the sort! I shall be the warming apparatus myself!"

—The novelty in dress this season, in Paris, is India foulards.

—The Chicago Wigwam was sold at auction a short time since. The proceeds are to be divided between the Home of the Friendless and the Orphan Asylum.

—Daniel Adams, of Keene, N. H. now in his 89th year, the author of Adam's Arithmetic is about to publish an improved edition.

—Mary Devine, a pauper in the Cleveland workhouse, recently fell heir to $11,000, and suddenly became an object of solicitous interest.

—Experiments, it is said, are being made at Vincennes, France, with a steel cannon, which, as asserted will blow both Armstrong and Whitworth out of the water.

—There is a Bible in the library of the University of Gottingen written on five thousand four hundred and seventy-six palm leaves.

—Florida has just sold half a million acres of land to New Orleans speculators for two cents per acre.

—A newspaper Carrier in Lafayette, Ind., who had been sorely annoyed by a dog, purchased an interest in the animal, and then shot his half.

—Both Houses of the Legislature of Michigan have by large majorities restored the ale, beer and cider clause to the prohibitory liquor law.

—There is a colored woman in Charleston, South Carolina, who pays taxes on $40,000 of real estate and fourteen slaves.

—It is estimated that 35,700,000 friction matches are made daily in the United States. An equal number of percussion caps may soon be required.

—Long John Wentworth, Mayor of Chicago, was badly whipped, according to the local press, by Mr. Allen Pinkerton, recently, on Lake street. The Pinkerton chastisement is said to be the seventeenth he has received.

—Jenny Lind lives unhappily with her husband, who is reported to be a sot. It is likely that she will again appear on the operatic stage.

—It is related by a Washington paper, that an office-seeker recently called on Secretary Chase, having with him his wife and children, and expected, as he expressed it, to be set right to work. He came from Indiana. The children, wife and baggage, were all hauled up at the Secretary's office.

—There are in Great Britain 2,210 cotton factories, running twenty-eight millions of spindles. France has 2,394 cotton factories with three-and-a-half millions of spindles only.

—Jefferson Davis' message to Mr. Lincoln, "With mortar, paixhan and petard We tender old Abe our Beau-regard," has called out in New York a suggestive caricature. It represents Davis and Beauregard hanging together back to back. A scraggy little palmetto tree serves as the spur on Beauregard's boots. Under the picture are these words:

For traitors we have no regard,
We'll hang both thee and Beauregard.

—There was the bloodiest sort of a row on a steamboat near St. Louis recently. The captain wanted to land at the city, but the crew and mate didn't, so the captain shot the mate and the crew beat the captain, and but for the engineer would have killed him. The fires went out and the boat after all went to the Illinois shore.

—Telegraphs begin to be looked upon as the ruin of military strategy, and with their use Konig, a German authority, says it is impossible to exercise real generalship. A telegraphic despatch prevented the Star of the West from reinforcing Fort Sumter.

—A Cincinnati paper suggests that as for a time there will be a great scarcity of uniforms, the red shirt of the Garibaldians should not be forgotten. That shirt was a success. An army in red shirts and glazed caps would not be badly uniformed. A red flannel shirt is good to fight in or to sleep in, and is good for hot or cold weather.
