This splendid plow has distanced all competition, and now stands at the head of the list, unequaled by any implement of the kind ever brought to Utah. With the Oliver Plow FALL PLOWING can be done QUICKLY and EASILY and WITHOUT IRRIGATING, no matter how hard and dry the soil. They attempted to take one of Barnum's new giraffes across Rhode Island last week, but just as it was on the Massachusetts line it reached over and ate up about half a haystack in a farm yard in Connecticut, and when the farmer came out with a club and attacked the Connecticut end, the Massachusetts end got mad and kicked a man in Boston and nearly killed him. It created a good deal of excitement at the time in Rhode Island, and most of the people stepped out of the State till it was over.—Boston Herald.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

Lyon's Kathairon is an invigorating tonic vegetable preparation, positively free from any mineral or deleterious substances. It is the most delightful of all hair dressing—cooling the head, allaying irritation, curing headache and throbbing temples, making the hair strong, fragrant, glossy and obedient to control, so cleanly to use that it will not soil the finest fabric, causing the hair to grow luxuriantly and beautifully, removing dandruff and pimples. No man or woman can become bald who will use the Lyon's Kathairon properly. 15 e o d —3—

The Relief Society Woman's Mercantile Association

Is opening a store for the sale of home manufactures in the building lately occupied by the Woman's Centennial Territorial Fair, known as the Old Constitution Building, opposite Z. C. M. I. store.

We are now ready to receive home-made useful and ornamental articles of all kinds, which we will sell on commission.

Many of our citizens have felt the want of a place devoted exclusively to Utah productions, and now that we are, in accordance with the wishes of President Young, uniting our humble efforts in this direction, we confidently trust that we shall not only have the support of all branches of the Relief Society throughout the valleys of the mountains, but also of our brethren and all others who feel an interest in the future welfare and prosperity of Utah.

Commencing as we do without capital, we wish it distinctly understood that at present we can only sell on commission.

Local and Other Matters.

THERMOMETER 48 degrees F. in the shade at 1 p.m. to-day. Rainy.

More Rain.—Another rainy night and morning.

The Storm.—Raining more or less, and most of the time pretty steadily, all day long to-day.

Lecture Postponed.—Judge A. C. Pyper, who was announced for a lecture in the Twelfth Ward school-house this evening has been compelled to defer it on account of the sudden death of his niece yesterday.

At Queenstown.—The steamship Wyoming, on which Elders Ola Olson, J. C. Thoreson, and Alfred Hansen, missionaries to Scandinavia, left New York, arrived at Queenstown at noon on Thursday, 12th, all safe, after a fine passage of 8 days and 11 hours.

Justice's Court.—Alderman Raleigh officiated in the fifth precinct to-day, but was not troubled to any considerable extent. One man was brought up in a state of extreme intoxication, but on giving a bond for his appearance, was permitted to depart until to-morrow.

More of It.—After clearing up finely and giving us the benefit of the sun's rays for the better part of the afternoon yesterday, the storm king returned during the night and evinces no disposition so far to vamose. Drizzling is the order of the day, and umbrellas are an actual necessity.

Information Wanted of any persons of the name of Stockwell in this region, and particularly of the post office address of one John Stockwell, or any of his descendants, who was in Salt Lake City in 1859. Address, G. S. Stockwell, Port Huron, Michigan. Drawer 32.

Holding On.—By letter from Cache Valley, we learn that the grasshoppers have made a considerable impression upon the minds of the inhabitants, to such an extent that they refuse longer to dispose of their grain at the trifling figures which have been almost the rule at sundry other times heretofore. The hoppers are doing some good, at least.

Benefit.—Mr. W. T. Harris, business manager of the Theatre, is to be the recipient of a benefit on Saturday evening, the bill consisting of Boucicault's celebrated "Octoroon." The beneficiary will appear in his specialty of "Old Pete." Mr. A. Thorne makes his first appearance here in some years, and the characters generally are well distributed.

Sudden Death.—We regret to chronicle the death of MissCatherine Pyper, daughter of Mr. John Pyper, of Nephi, at the residence of her uncle, Justice A. C. Pyper, of this city, yesterday. It having been supposed that her medical treatmen had been irregular, a post mortem examination was held by the best medical talent of the city, which developed the fact that these suppositions were entirely groundless. The lady was twenty years of age, and highly respected wherever known.

Third District Court.—Yesterday's proceedings were as follows:

The people, etc., vs. Robert Gardner; indictments for assault and battery; defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

W. C. Neal vs. Cummings; dismissed on motion of plaintiff's attorney.

A. B. Hill and Jos. W. Rands were admitted to citizenship.

A. W. Geist vs. F. W. Randall; dismissed on motion of plaintiff's attorney, each party paying half of the costs.

John Roach vs. Camp Floyd M. Company; dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

Wines & Kimball vs. Stevens & Shurtliff; jury trial. The case was given to the jury last evening.

This morning, at 9 o'clock, the habeas corpus case of Louis Ordner was resumed; Mr. Tilford, on behalf of Ordner, addressing the court on behalf of his client, followed by Mr. Rawlins, for the city. At the conclusion of the latter's argument, the case was again set aside to make way for the regular calendar.

The case of Ordner was again taken up at 1 p.m. The closing argument was made by Mr. Tilford, when the Judge, briefly reviewing the case, remanded the defendant to the custody of the officer and dismissed the writ of habeas corpus. Ordner's counsel gave notice of an appeal.

Eleventh Ward Y. M. M. I. A.—Last evening the annual election of officers of the above association took place, when the following officers were re-elected: J. H. Felt, President; R. Morris, 1st vice president; G. Coulam, 2nd vice president; C. Denney, secretary; J. B. Bean, assistant secretary; Hy. Coulam, treasurer; E. N. Child, librarian, vice H. Cushing. The Association is in a very prosperous condition, having eighty-eight members enrolled. They will meet from this date in the new Schoolhouse every Tuesday evening at seven o'clock.

Judge Titus Dead.—Our many readers will be interested to learn, as stated in our dispatches, that John Titus, ex-Chief Justice of Arizona, and previously of this Territory, is dead.

Judge Titus was an honorable man. He was one of the few federal judges Utah has had who would administer the law as he found it, not arrogating to himself the functions of the legislature in addition to those of the judiciary.

The City Sustained.—The habeas corpus case of Lewis Ordner, who had been imprisoned for non-payment of a fine imposed by Justice Pyper for selling beer without license, was disposed of at 2 p. m. to-day. In summing up the merits and demerits of the case as presented by counsel and witnesses, Judge Schaefer alluded to the fact that the liquor question was a matter which had perplexed the municipal government of nearly every city in the Union, but no satisfactory solution had been reached. The experiment of light license fees had been tried, but this only resulted in expanding the traffic to almost unlimited proportions, increasing crime and vagrancy, and producing an overwhelming proportion of evil, with little or no beneficial results. On the other hand, exorbitant rates had been imposed, and earnest endeavors in the direction of controlling the traffic had been made, with varied consequences. Salt Lake City had seen fit to adopt the latter policy; the Legislature had conferred the authority, and Congress had given its implied consent by not interposing its repeal. The Judge regretted that a special provision had not been made in behalf of druggists, whereby they might sell alcoholic liquors for medicinal purposes at a lower rate than the customary fee, but was powerless to regulate the matter himself. He therefore adjudged that the petitioner be remanded to the custody of the officers of the city.

This ruling is all the more gratifying from the fact that Judge Schaefer has preferred to sit in judgment according to the law as he finds it, without warping it to suit any position he might be disposed to take, as has been the case with a number of his predecessors.

In the State of Maine—Lost in the Forest—A Methodist Prayer-Meeting—Preaching, etc.

FARMINGTON, Franklin Co., Maine, Oct. 5, 1876.

Editor Deseret News:

Since writing to you from Grafton, Oxford Co., this State, Sept. 15th, I have done much traveling and held several meetings. The scenery of this portion of Maine is very hilly and mountainous, abounding in picturesque dells and vales, where "city people" resort during the heated term, to enjoy the fishing, hunting and pure air. The country is nearly covered, save where settlers have made clearings, with forest, and the early autumn frosts have changed the color of the foliage to the most varied and gorgeous hues. To a lover of the beautiful in nature, it is a continual feast to travel through this region at this season of the year.

The portions of the State which I have visited are thinly settled, and the villages often far apart, and traveling in the good old way, i.e., "without purse or scrip," I often meet with romantic incidents and interesting episodes, accounts of which, recorded in my diary, read very much like fiction, so wonderfully is the providence and protecting care of my heavenly Father manifested in my behalf at times. Friends are raised up unto me in the very hour, yes, the very moment, of need, and my way is always opened up for the prosecution of the work of the Master, and though I am often fatigued physically, my spirits are kept buoyant by the blessings I receive.

There are a few old timed Saints remaining in this State, who still retain a portion of the light received through the ordinances of the gospel, but the sad examples of shipwrecked faith which I meet with show the danger of being overcome by the world if the Saints remain in it.

The village of Grafton, from which I wrote last, is but a few miles from the New Hampshire line, across which, and twelve miles from Grafton, lies the village of Milan, which I was very desirous of visiting. The region is wild and still unsettled, and there was no direct road from Grafton to Milan, and I had to choose between going by a very circuitous route, more than trebling the distance or traveling afoot over a low range of mountains and through a dense forest which occupies the intervening twelve miles of country. I decided to do the latter, and so, on the morning of the 18th ult., I procured the services of a guide to show me the path by which the woods were first entered and to give me other information concerning the course to take, etc.

I plunged into the dark woods unhesitatingly, and succeeded, by the aid of "spotted trees," in keeping the extremely dim path, for about three miles, then it became lost entirely. I had provided myself with a compass by the aid of which I kept my course some distance further, but the compass worked very unsatisfactorily and my principal reliance was the sun, of which I could obtain occasional glimpses through the dense foliage. At length the undergrowth became so dense as to be very difficult to penetrate, and to add to my discomfort, my clothes were becoming saturated with moisture from the foliage, it having rained the three previous days. Under the weight of these disadvantages my pertinacity reluctantly yielded, and I resolved to attempt a return to where I had entered the forest, but I had been wandering about in quest of the practicable path by which to proceed till I had become somewhat bewildered, so that there were great odds against the chances of my coming out anywhere near the point at which I had entered the woods. However, after a very toilsome struggle with the underbrush, rocks, ravines, etc., to say nothing of the harassing doubts as to whether I was going in the right direction, I emerged into a field and quickly discovered that I was within a stone's throw of the path by which I had entered that dismal forest. Some people may imagine that there is something delightfully romantic in getting lost in a Maine forest, but as for myself I shall hereafter decidedly prefer the plain, unromantic wagon road.

On the Sabbath following this adventure I was in North Newry, where I attended a Methodist meeting and heard a sermon in explanation of the theology of that sect, from which I gleaned some information and a little gospel truth. After the services I made the acquaintance of the minister, and in the evening attended a prayer meeting led by him. It was a good, old-fashioned Methodist prayer meeting, in a New England backwoods village, and, had it not been for the sacred subject of religion involved, the proceedings would have seemed ludicrous and laughable in the extreme to me. At one stage of the proceedings, however, I became almost alarmed. It was when several women rose in quick succession and, in a flood of tears, sobs and groans, tried to tell how they "loved Jesus." This was too much for my nerves to bear unmoved and I seriously began to think that some of the gentlemen present would have to assist two or three of the women from the room, so hysterical did they become. But their enthusiasm at length spent itself and the meeting was brought to a placid close, not, however, till I had given out an appointment for a meeting at the same place on the following evening.

At the hour appointed next evening the house was filled by one of the most attentive audiences it has been my lot to address for some time. Seeing the large turnout and the interest of those present in my remarks, I gave out another appointment for the next evening, same hour and place. Again the house was well filled, though it was raining and my remarks were listened to with marked attention, and many desired more meetings, but previously made arrangements prevented my spending more time in that place.

I am constantly being invited to preach or lecture as I pass from place to place, and it is impossible for me to accept half these invitations, as I have but a little more time to spend in Maine before returning to Massachusetts to do some work there which is awaiting me.

Your brother in the gospel,
B. F. CUMMINGS, Jr.

—Celia Logan writes to the Washington Chronicle, animadverting severely upon the character of the late Charlotte Cushman. Miss Logan claims to know from personal observation that Miss Cushman was parsimonious, envious and selfish. Perhaps so. There is light and shade to every human character, but the shade does not destroy the light.

Paul Walter, part	3	6	D	18 00
Smith Wm J H, part	3	72	D	15 15

I hereby notify all persons owing City Taxes that unless the same are paid forthwith, I shall be compelled to continue to advertise and sell property.

JOHN R. WINDER,
City Assessor and Collector,
Salt Lake City.

To Trappers, Co-operative Stores and Others:

As numbers of our Patrons are already bringing and sending in MUSKRAT SKINS, we wish to state that those pelts are always of an Inferior Grade, when taken from animals which are trapped before about November 15th. We cannot, therefore, purchase Skins taken off prior to that date.
