CITY ENGINEER ISSUES REPORT

Work Done By His Office for 1907 Is Given Detailed Treatment.

DELAYED BY BOARD OF WORKS

Information as to Expenditures Was Not Filed Until Late, Therefore Volume Comes Late.

The annual report of City Engineer L. C. Kelsey has just been issued. The report is included in a bound volume of 185 pages, and contains a comprehensive statement of all the work done and the improvements made under the direction of the engineer's department during the

of the engineer's department during the year 1907. That the report has not been published until nearly the end of the year 1908 is explained by the delay in filling of data relating to expenditures of the board of public improvements. The report shows among the under-takings of a municipal character com-pleted during the year, the finishing of the Big Cottonwood conduit, and the practical completion of the main inter-cepting sewer on Eighth West street. During the year the report shows there were constructed 3.05 miles of main sewer, 6.8 miles of sewer laterals, 3.24 miles of water supply mains, 7.48 miles of water mains in the distributing sys-tem, 35.68 miles of sidewalk pavement, 3.492 miles of asphalt paving, 2,869 miles of macadam paving, 13.508 miles of curbing, and 14.285 miles of water for the year was $1,207.160.43, almost $200,-000 in excess of the expenditure for im-provenents in any other year. The total cost of public improvements for the year was $1,207,160.43, almost $200,-000 in excess of the expenditure for im-provements in any other year. The city's part was $894,765.45. In 1906 the expenditure for public improvements was $865,477.92. The capacity of the water supply mains for the distributing system is the fasily-increasing population of the city. Mr. Kelsey recommends that the city acquire all water rights in Big and Little Cottonwood and Mill Creek canyons. Among the most suitable ba-sins for storage purposes are those in which are situated Lake Phoebe, Mary, Martha, Catherine and the Twin lakes, in Big Cottonwood, of which surveys are now being made, and the conver-sion of these would increase the city's water supply from 20,000,000 to 25,000,-000 gallons daily. This would make more dependable the city's water sup-ply and remove the hazard of a water famine. The average daily consump-tion of water in 1907 was 19,000,000 galfamine. The average daily consump-tion of water in 1907 was 19,000,000 gal-

In 1907, 12,909 square yards of stone-In 1907, 12,909 square yards of stone-block crossings were laid. The num-ber of cross-walks laid in 1907 exceeded the aggregate for the previous three years by 40, the number in 1907 being 295. During the year 183,393 linear feet of cement sidewalk was constructed by public contract. Two and eighty-nine-hundreths miles of macadam pave-ment was constructed, but as these pavements are only suitable for traffic of vehicles drawn by animal power, and at best are expensive in maintenance, at best are expensive in maintenance, Mr. Kelsey predicts the abandonment of any material for the surface for roadways of a character not suitable

The total length of the clty's street-age was 330 miles, according to the re-port, of which 14.494 miles were improved at the end the year, as follows: Macadam, 3.106; cement, .063; asphalt, 6.850; stone, .315; asphalt and stone,

SALT LAKERS IN GOTHAM. X______

Special Correspondence.

New York, Sept. 14 .-- Salt Lake sent a big delegation of students eastward on Thursday the 10th, over the Los Angeles limited Mr. Joseph Geoghegan with two daughters, left the party at Chicago for the central part of Illinois-where he will place his daughters in school for the winter; Dewitt and George Knox will enter as freshmen at Yale and Lyman Thompson, son of Mayor Thompson, kept on his way to New York, there to remain for a week or two before deciding upon the college he will attend the coming year-Miss Lillian Lane left the party at Council Bluffs, taking train for Knoxville, Ill., where she will continue her studies: Earl Rogers will continue at Lehigh, Pa., where he begins his junior year at that university.

junior year at that university. Miss Nan Clawson accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Easton, had a five hour wait in Chicago, and took advantage of the time by calling on their friend Miss Sallie Fisher, in her dressing room at the New Princess theater. Miss Fisher showed her delight at see-ing her friends and seats "in front" were at once procured.

were at once procured. Mrs. Easton and Miss Clawson were thus enabled to enjoy one of the great-est treats of the light opera musical school that has come their way in a long time. Miss Fisher as the "Stub-born Cinderella" was a surprise from start to finish; the ease and grace with which she handled the difficult part--her knowledge of stage business have won her audiences from the first. Miss Fisher has proved one thing conclusively in "A Stubborn Cinderel-la," that she is an actress as well as a singer. Late in the autumn the piece will be seen in New York. Mr. Jack Barrymore, who plays "Mac" in the piece, and Miss Fisher, are the main attractions of this very clever musical comedy. The finish of the second act where Cinderella goes through the minuet with her Prince and she hears the last stroke of 12 as the ball room with its court ladies and gentlemen vanish and her lover disappears, is one of the most effective and dainty bits of of the most effective and dainly bits of acting and stage work imaginable, and worthy a far more pretentious play than this comedy.

than this comedy. Theere have ben sevral notics about the death of Mrs. James Fergu-son, formerly Miss Louise Young, of 2172 Amsterdam avenue, which occur-red two weeks ago. The family of Mrs. Ferguson is so well known in Utah and the particuars of her death were rather limited so that any la-formation on the subject may be wel-come to them. It is pleasant to re-member that she suffered very little, the grippe, the last sickness she had, was of only a week's duration and only the night before she died was it thought necessary to watch her. The funeral was held at her home, and she was laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery, Long Island, beside her hus-band, who died four years ago. Two sons, Dale and Alan, and a daughter, Gladys, (Mrs. Ben Edwards), and two grand children Andry and Mildred Ed-wards survive her. On the first of October the family moved to 2132 Am-esterdam avenue. One faithful friend who has been a m/nber of the Fer-guson family 30 years and who closed the cyes of Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, and now stands as mother to ber children is Katie Mehan, she is re-garded by all as a dear member of the family.

The Philadelphia from Liverpool, which came in Aug. 22, brought Hon. F. S. Richards and wife, F. Dewey Rich-ards, wife and son Jack. Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Richards left at once for Utah; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Richards went to their home on west One Hundred and Forty-fourth street. Mr. Jack Richards expects to leave for Ithaca very soon to resume his studies at Cornell. The trip taken abroad by the Utah travel-ers was a most enfoyable one: they ers was a most enjoyable one; they went from Naples to London by way of Paris and Berlin, with an occa-sional side trip where they visited with many of the Utah boys who are living in Europe. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Richards in New York welcome them back with pleasure as welcome them back with pleasure they are important factors in the Utal colony. JANET.

Mayo escaped yesterday afternoon from the home of the physician on east South Temple street and started out on a tour of the city. The handsome bird imally wound up at the police station about 5 o'clock and after inspecting the old building decided to locate there tem-porarily at least. Some of the officers fixed up a roost for the bird and Poliy appeared to appreciate the attention hugely. After chattering for awhile with the policemen the bird snuggled up on its improvised perch in the desk ser-geant's office and went to sleep. This morning Dr. Mayo sent to the station for the pet and when Polly saw the keeper, gave a joyous squawk and flew gladly into the arms of the man.
