WESTERN STOCK MARKET.

Special Correspondence.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Jan. 30,-A more even market than that which has prevailed during the past week could hardly be imagined. There were some fluctuations in corn-fed cattle, but the advances about offset the declines and, aside from that classifica-tion, the trend of values from day to lay was generally covered by the stere-typed expression "active and steady." he top prices realized for heavy na ves was $6.55, but there was nothing offered that ranked in quality with the 6,80 cattle of the previous week. The supply of cows and helfers was hardly up to requirements of the packers, and, while the top price remained ange of values was pushed up quite noticeably. The best dry lot cows sold at $4.25 to $5.25, and the top price for helfers was $5.50. Fair to good cows sold at $300 to $4.00, and canners at $2.00 to $2.90. The liberal precipitation of moisture throughout much o buring the latter half of January has timulated the demand for desirable tockers and feeders, and the yards have been kept unusually free from necumulations. The top price for feed ors during the week was $4,85 and the general range of stocker and feeder eattle was from $3,50 to $4,65. Hog receipts were much reduced dur-

WOMAN'S SPHERE.

Bishop Leonard Deprecates Desire of Women for Public Prominence.

Bishop Leonard preached a sermon in St. Paul's church yesterday on "Woman's Sphere," in which he regretted the anxiety of so many women for public prominence, and at expense of their

The bishop spoke from the text:
"Blessed art thou among women;" a blessing coming when not alone as an individual woman, but as a type of womanhood. He said: "So far as any inequality exists between men and women, God has preferred woman, in tha he had chosen her to be the mother o his own divine Son. On this woman holds a unique place, and that it is hers to demand this recognition by proposing for herself the highest ideals and demanding that this position should be recognized.

Bishop Leonard declared himself so far antiquated as to believe that the home was woman's sphere, and said: and mother of strong men, encouraging and inviting them to the very best things. Women have always been on the side of that which is best in all things looking to the elevation of the race. There is no reason why women should not have the right of suffrage and that even in the administration of public affairs they can not make more serious mistakes than men.

obnoxious than an effeminate man. All men who are worthy of the name have exalted woman to a very high place, and her honor and virtue are as sacred to them as that of their own mothers vives or daughters. The great difficulty is that so many women are selzed with an irresistible desire to be promined in the world's affairs, rather quiet retirement to seek to imbue their children with all the graces and virtues which go to make the highest type of character.

As to the claim that even the better class of women are addicted to drink, the speaker thanked God he had never een many women under the influence of drink, although he had been morth fied by seeing in public places women who imbibed with ease and effrontery "Morally it is no worse for a woman to be intemperate than man, as God has not one standard of purity for women and a lower one for men, and the same standard for both. In closing Bishop Leonard said: "It is a blessed thing to be either a man or men womanly, each in his or her place intended them. It is a noble thing to be wife, mother or maiden, and in any of these callings there is much to done in raising and training the youth of the land, encouraging husbands of caring for the sick, needy or fallen Each passed this way only once, and i is his or hers to study his vocation and prepare for the better life which is to begin in another and higher destiny

"THE RACE OF LIFE."

The Rev. Thacher Preaches on How To Win Success.

Rev. P. S. Thacher of the Unitarian church preached yesterday morning on "Success, or the Race of Life, and How In the course of his able discourse the speaker said: "The course is the society in which we live. By 80ciety I do not mean slily idlers who count themselves the essence of huterflies of the summer air. There is not much of anything in them. I mean the people who do the work and business of the world. The most important thing in a race is the start. Our parents control this. It is a pity we cannot select our parents, for it is a great ed. But the pride of birth, the boast of descent from an illustrious ancestry, always betrays a third-rate nature. The glory of ancestors is a disgrace to him who cannot equal it, and it adds no merit to him who can.

"Some of you are just starting. You can make or mar your own destiny. Have true and enlightened principles to guide you. Do not take the ipse dixit of any church, creed, or book. Follow your own reason and conscience. Nature never rhymes her children, nor makes any two alike. The dead weights that will impede your progress are habits. Beware of becoming slaves to bad habits. There are too many donothings in the world. Look at some young la-dies. What a load of finery they carry about. Yet some are as helpless as over-grown bables. There are ladylike young men, admirably matched for these, dis-slpated before the beard has begun to sprout. They will marry soon and live on 'the old folks.' Be Not Envious.

Rev. Frank Barnett of the East Side Baptist church spoke to a full house last night from the text, "The race is not always to the swift, or the battle to the strong," The speaker said: Preserverance and sterling count for more than mere cleverness and brilliancy without more enduring qualities," and in his sermon the pasor further emphasized this part: There are this day young men who are envying Jeffries, the pugilist. And there are young men who are envying the dude and the fop, who though fair in form and polite in manuer are nothing more than dummles to show off clothes, and the clothes are worth more nan they are. Hard Colds.

People whose blood is pure are not nearly so likely to take hard colds as Physiology goes into the reason. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure, causing healthy action of the mu-ous membrane and giving strength and tone to all the organs and functions. This great medicine recovers the sys-tem after a cold, as no other does. THE STANDARD.
