Ogden—Beerund Jansen; Hendrik Nogales, A. T., May 29.—It has been discovered that the little band of Apache Indians, who for the past two years have been committing depredations in the Montezuma district, Sonora, near the Chihuabua line, are led by two Americans named "Red" Murphy and West. Prof. Sherman, who was attacked by the party a short time ago, saw with a field glass and recognized both men. The same party a few days ago killed a Mexican near the town of Bavaispe, since which time it has been ascertained that the two Americans are the leaders. This band has been committing depredations in that vicinity ever since the surrender of Geronimo.

Dallas, Oregon, May 29.—This afterneon William Landreth, the flendish murderer of his stepdaughter, was arraigned for sentence by Judge Boise. The courtroom was packed. When asked if he had anything to say Landreth entered into a rambling harrangue, touching mostly on the little property he has in Independence. He desires that his worldly affairs be arranged so that his younger children will obtain the property. He spoke about ten minutes and then Jadge Boise pronounced sentence of death upon him. The date of the execution was not set, but will be sat in the warrant of execution, which will be issued by the Judge tomorrow morning. NEWS NOTES.

tems Gathered frem Various

Los Angeles, May 20.—W. C. Henke, Deputy Sherifi of Tulare Country, arrived here today, having captured two murderers, John Wesley Williams, who murdered his wife at Marlin, Tex, in March, 1887, and C. R. Carter, who killed a man at Witchita, Kas., in February of last year. Two Kansas detectives have been following the men for some time, and telegraphed Henke to look out for them. He found the men at Mojave, but they got away, and the detectives tracked them twenty miles over the desert and at last came up with them, and, after a half-hour's fight, captured them when their ammunition was exhausted. Henke received a Winchester rifle ball in the chest, but, owing to a thick pocketbook, it only made a flesh wound. The murderers were sent back this afternoon in charge of the eastern officers.

Exercises of the Conference.

The Y. M. M. I. A. Conference commences tomorrow morning in the Tabernacle at 10 o'clock. The day's exercises will be of the greatest interest, and the opening meeting one of the most important. The lectures and musical exercises for tomorrow will be as follows:

10 a.m. Opening address, followed by "Government of the Associations" the eastern officers.

Virginia (Nev.), May 29. — Maggle Ryan, 14 years of age, while chasing her hat, which had blown off, fell down Murphy's shaft, on the eastern slope of Mount Davidson, this afternoon, but was rescued without serious injuries. The distance the child fell was over eighty feet. The brave miners who we lives, as the shaft has been abandoned for many years and was badly caved. In less than fifteen minutes after the accident occurred the girl was brought to the surface in the arms of George Calvert, engineer of the West Consolidated Virginia and California mine, who was lowered down the shaft with a rope by his comrades. The men who went to the resdown the shalt with a rope by his comrades. The men who went to the rescue were employed in the Andes and West Consolidated Virginia and Calitornia. The shaft in which the girl fell was located on the steepest part of the mountain side, and the rescuers were nearly a thousand feet belowwhen the alarm was given.

Omaha, May 28.—People who attended the funeral of Phillip Cassidy this afternoon saw a curious manifestended the funeral of Phillip Cassidy this afternoon saw a curious manifestation of animal love for man. In his lifetime Mr. Cassidy owned a nanny-goat, to which he was very kind. The animal was very docile and used to feed from its owner's hands. When the attendants started from the house to the church the goat took its place in the rear of the procession. It remained there but a few moments, however, and as the inneral train like a great anaconds wound over the hills, made its way several times through the line of yenicles. When it reached the hearse the goat took its place by its side and began to bleat and utter plaintive cries. The effects of attendants could not drive it away from the funeral carriage, and when the church was reached remained without until the ceremony was over. It then took up its journey to the cemetery in the rear of the procession, where it stayed only a few moments, and again took its place beside the hearse. When the gate to the burying ground was reached the animal was determined to enter, bett four. It then the tarrived a short time afterward.

Last Monday a yeang Portuguese

Last Monday a young Portuguese farmer named Joseph Sliva, while cutting hay in a field near Centerville, Cal., encountered a large rattlesmake, which he struck with his scythe and stunned. Silva supposed that he had killed the reptile and picked it up by the tail to cut off the rattles. He used a knife that was somewhat dull, and holding the snake almost at arm's length, hacked at the cartilage connecting the rattles with the tail several times without severitg it. To accemplish his purpose more easily he gripped the snake by the body, and as the knife penetrated at the last effort the venomous creature doubled and struck him on the little finger, burying its fangs deep in the fiesh. The boy shook the snake off and without an instant's hesitation cut the finger off at the middle joint below the place where the reptile's teeth had entered. Even these his nerve did not desert him and he made his way homeward a considerable distance. Here he drank a large quantity of whisky and had his bleeding finger bandaged. He felt no ill effects from the bite of the snake and on Wednesday his curiosity led him to search for the piece of his finger which he had left in the field beside the dead body of the snake, which he killed after the amputation. He found the finger black and rotting with the poison it had absorbed, and without considering the consequences, handled it. By some means the virulent poison came in contact with his wound, and that night he died in horrible/agony, decomposition setting in before the breath left his body. He was buried Thursday afternoon. Agency to Re-open.

We learn from P. J. Flynn, Esq., General Agent of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company, that it is intended to re-open, in this city, on or about June 5th, a Utah agency for the transaction of freight and passenger business. Mr. J. D. Kenwerof Weber County, was driving near the Central Pacific track at Ogden, when a whistle from a switch engine frightened his horse. The animal sprang across the track, and Mr. Belnap was thrown out of his cart, striking his head upon the rail. A deep gash about twe inches long was cut above the right eye, and be was otherwise severely bruised. The wound in his forehead bled profusely, and while no seriously results are apprehended, it will be some time before the effects of the injuries pass away: Mr. Belnap's seven-year-old was in the cart with his father, and when the latter was thrown out was pitched forward on to the shafts, where he clung until the frightened animal ended its mad race, over a mile from the accident occurred Formatten the accident occurred to the accident where the accident occurred. Fortunately the little fellow escaped unhurt. LEGAL WOTICE.

Funeral of Charles Haves.

PARK CITY, Utah, May 20th, 1898. Editor Deseret News: Last Saturday witnessed the winding up scene of one of those sad and shocking occurrences that happen at times in mining camps, and which resulted in the death of Charles Hayes, a young man 23 years of age, by an explosion of giant powder, on the 700-foot level of the Daly Mine, Park City. It appears that while on duty as tool and powder man on the forenoon of that day, he was delivering powder to the different levels where men were at work, whena considerable quantity of the blacting material the poor lad was carrying in a bag exploded. The cause of the explosion is clothed in mystery, but the poor lad was blown into an unrecognizable mass of pieces, and the fragments afterwards gathered into a small box.

Park City men of many years' experience in mines, and who have witnessed disasters of different kinds, testified that this was the worst sight they had ever seen. His clothes were ground up as if by mice.

The day following the accident his remains were interzed in the Park City cemetery. The services were attended by a large number of sympathizers. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn his untimely loss.
