

CASES MET BY RELIEF SOCIETY

Stories Told By Workers Who
Labor Among the Sick
And Needy.

WORTHY ONES AND GRAFTERS

Incident of the Old Lady With the Sick
Sister and the Woman Who Made a Loan.

The recent story of first aid to the sick and destitute, furnished by the local Relief societies and their band of charity nurses, gave rise to much interested public comment and to many reminiscences on the part of those who are actively interested in the work. From beginning to end of its inception the society has stood to meet these cases without regard to "sex, color, or creed" and the result has been "a heap of experience" which in many instances would make interesting history.

PATHEMIC CASE.

The ward Relief society presidents have their hands full of poverty cases, and are the first to be called for those requiring material help in the way of food, clothing, fuel, etc. One of these, an especially touching one, came under the supervision of Mrs. C. J. Thomas, president of the Thirtieth ward Relief society. Her attention was called to a family of three, father, mother, and little girl, living in one room, a ground room, with damp floor and walls, and hardly furnished enough to meet even the humble necessities of their lives. They were from Tennessee, and had come from one of the wealthiest and most prominent families of the state. A great fortune left by a father, had become involved in a tedious law suit which had taken every dollar of the son's present means to prosecute. Disease took hold upon him, and he was advised if he would preserve his life, to come out west. Getting together barely enough means for the journey, they came to Salt Lake. They had been too proud to ask charity—daily expecting remittances from home—and affairs had gone from bad to worse, until it was only the notice of one who knew their actual plight that their case came to the society's attention. Mrs. Thomas with her counselor called at the house and found the mother in almost absolute destitution. It was winter, and though a poor stove stood in the room, there was no fuel, and Mrs. Thomas was told they had been two days without fire. They had felt that humiliation too keenly to apply anywhere for aid, and as they were not members of the L. D. S. Church, no report had been made in the kindly registers. Mrs. Thomas, in a kindly way, guessed the situation and informed the Relief officers, who at once volunteered their help. Fuel was provided, and other necessities, which were sadly needed and the family left in comparatively comfortable circumstances. When last heard from they were still awaiting the settlement of their law suit, but now with the added anxiety they the money to whom they had trusted their case, an old college mate of the destitute man, had been "bought" by the other side, and was helping to throw the salt the other way.

SICKNESS AND MISERY.

"It is only one of the many cases of trouble, and need that come to our notice every day," said Mrs. Thomas. "I was called to aid a poor family who had come here from Colorado, with the hope of getting work. We found in a room a mother, daughter and son, and a daughter with three children" on a

Turn Your Face Into Dollars.

Many a Man Has Failed Because His Face Was a picture of Clammy.

It takes sunshine to produce a face, a perfect rose. And so many of us, who are called "clams," are actually "clams." The life which has it not, which has no health and no happiness, is sour, surly, pessimistic, and a failure. The world already has too many sneaky faces that breathe ill-will and strife. The world wants joy, comfort, sunshine, and will cling to the man who has it, who radiates kindness and triumph wherever he is and under all circumstances.

Some people have a genius for seeking out the disagreeable, the crooked, the bad and the ugly. These are the destroyers and the betrayers of the world, they herd together for they love their kind, and the cheerful part of the world will have nothing to do with them.

And why is it that so many people die knowing at the same time that if they do, their lives will be better? Some people cannot help it, for pessimism usually comes from bodily disorders, and this cannot be prevented. The stomach, for instance, is the most common cause of discontent, sour face, recklessness, disgust and lack of ambition. A bad stomach—there is the secret of many a failure. A strong man can have a good stomach, a young man, a stomach that is the care of anything and everything that is put into it, no matter whether it is a very bad stomach now or not. Then why not have it?

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this very thing. One ingredient of these little tablets digests 2,000 grains of food, and no matter how bad is your dyspepsia or indigestion, these tablets will digest everything in your stomach, thoroughly and completely, and better and quicker than a healthy stomach can do the same thing. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure quickly loss of appetite, brash, irritation, burning sensations, nausea, heartburn, eructations, loss of vim and spirit, bad memory, and dyspepsia and indigestion in their very worst forms.

No other little tablets in the world can do so much. You should carry Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets around with you wherever you go and take them after meals. Then only will you realize what it is to enjoy a meal and what perfect digestion means. Your body and your mind will feel the effects; your vim will increase. You will be more satisfied with what you eat, you will think happy and be one of the supreme contentment that will bring you success, and then more success. Your face will bring it. It will cost you just one for a package of these wonderful Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, at any drug store on earth.

Send your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

WHAT IS POWER

Nature supplies force. Wind turns the wind-mill. Coal runs the engine and food runs the man. Some things contain little force, some things much.

One substance full of power is tiny baby in long clothes. The mother and one of the children were sick and the little baby ailing. The room in which they dwelt was upstairs, and water, coal—everything had to be carried up and down a rickety staircase—while the crowded condition of this small apartment can be imagined. It was ill-lighted and ventilated, and with prevalent serious sickness, the conditions were indescribable. Strongly after our attention was called to them, the mother died; and during this trouble I took the baby to my home, caring for it and nursing it for several months. It grew better under the improved conditions, but pined again when taken home. They all went back to Colorado soon afterward, and I have heard since that the baby died. It is hard to imagine how one meets these troubles attended as they are by extreme poverty, and other domestic anxieties.

OLD AND INFIRM.

"Some of the pitiful cases are those of the old and infirm—some of them deserted by children or other natural guardians and left to the mercy of public charity. One of these whose sons ill-treated her shamefully was pitifully afraid of the infirmity, and lived in pathetic conditions of loneliness and poverty rather than go there. Nurses were sent to her, but she took small comfort in their own or others aid, as she had a mania that everyone should be from her. No possible temptation existed in the unfortunate creature's belongings; but she was in great anxiety constantly about her needles and thread, which she believed were constantly pilfered by those about her. She became so helpless finally that a nurse had to be practised to get her into the better care and atmosphere of the infirmary.

She was asked if she minded staying there while her home was thoroughly cleaned, and in this way was induced to go. Once there, she was for a time comparatively contented, but soon began to grieve again over her situation. Finally a granddaughter sent for her to make her home in California, so that the old lady's longing for "just a home with her own folks" was realized.

"FOR A SICK SISTER."

Besides these cases of real need, however, there are many where the Relief Society are deceived. Some of the people who apply for help use it as a peculiar form of graft—either from vicariousness, or some inherited or habitual trait of greed. One old lady made constant calls for provisions from the society, declaring, when faced with proofs of the many things sent to answer to her calls, that she had given them to a "sick sister." Questions asked as to the locality of the mysterious "invisible sister," were interminably avoided, and that local "Sarah Gamp" indeed never appeared in the flesh. When the old lady died, a wardrobe was moved in her room and disclosed a hidden recess in which was piled sack upon sack of flour, "slices" of ham and bacon, both so long kept as to be hopelessly spoiled—together with sugar, and other things too numerous to mention which this queer sort of miser had without any ostensible reason, secured and hid away.

LOAN OF THIRTY DOLLARS.

Both presidents and members often give from their own pocketbooks, and this too, to people afterwards proven unworthy the charity. Mrs. Thomas was once approached by a respectable looking woman who asked for the loan of $20 from the Relief Society to pay one month's rent, to save her from being turned out by her landlord. She had taken a house in which she meant to take boarders, and needed only the first month's rent, as the boarders would meet the after expenses. Mrs. Thomas did not feel like calling on the society for the new call; in fact, the funds just then were too low to make it possible, to furnish such an amount, even as a loan. Touched by the appeal, however, Mrs. Thomas advanced from her own purse the month's rent. It was the last glimpse she ever had of that or her respectable looking applicant.

The romances indeed, of one kind or other, which transpire in the records of our local relief corps would fill a book; and sometimes, perhaps the data will be furnished and compiled among the other interesting annals of the state.

OPINION AS TO GRAZING

Attorney General Breiden Instructs
Sheepowners in Regard to Taxes
Paid in Other States.

Attorney General Breiden gave out the following opinion today in regard to taxes paid on stock which graze in another state a part of the year. He holds they must be refunded for the time stock is absent from the state. The opinion is in reply to a query from John B. Gordon, county attorney of Tooele county, and is as follows: "In your communication of the 9th inst., you express a desire to be advised upon the following points, to wit: 'Residents of Tooele county and sheep owners graze their sheep a part of the time in said county and part of the time in Idaho, and pay taxes in both Idaho and Tooele county. Utah that said sheep were assessed on the 18th day of February and prior to their departure for Idaho.'"

"First: Are sheep transient as defined by sec. 1, chap. 64, session laws of 1907? Second: Are the owners required to file a certificate as provided in section 2 of said act? Third: Are they entitled to a refund, if they paid taxes in Idaho? I so, what proportion of the taxes paid in Tooele county should be refunded?" "Section 1, chapter 64, session laws of 1907, defines transient stock as follows: 'All live stock given into this state for grazing purposes and of all live stock owned by residents of this state that are grazed or pastured in more than one county of the state during any fiscal year, shall be known as transient stock.'" ing any county of this state to set out in a certificate under the hand of some person or his agent, the number and description of such stock, together with the brands and marks, if any, with the name and postoffice address of the owner, and file said certificate with the assessor of the county into which transient stock is first brought."

"As I have said in my answer to your first question, the sheep in question in this discussion were not transient stock as defined by our statute, hence this section does not apply in this case and therefore my answer must also be in the negative.

"Now as to your third and last question I direct your attention to section 9 of this chapter, which reads as follows: 'All the provisions of this act in regard to the payment of rebate shall apply where livestock owned by bona fide residents of this state have been grazed or pastured in an adjoining state for a portion of the year, and the owner of said livestock has been assessed and paid taxes on said livestock in said adjoining state, upon the owner making satisfactory proof of the time during which his livestock has ranged during said year in said adjoining state.' This section authorizes the county commissioners of the county collecting said tax, upon satisfactory proof, to refund to the owner the portion of the taxes paid on said stock as the time in which said stock grazed in said county bears to the amount paid for the year. That is to say, if these sheep grazed only four months in Tooele county then two-thirds of the amount paid less costs for assessing and collecting, must be refunded if the proof is sufficient to satisfy the county commissioners that said sheep were only grazed in said county one-third of the year for which they paid the taxes in full and that the other two-thirds of the year said sheep grazed in an adjoining state and paid taxes in said adjoining state for that period of time."

AGITATION EXTENDING.

Residents Along City Creek Becoming Apprehensive of Floods.

The agitation in the Third precinct for a conduit on west North Temple street to carry off the flood waters of City Creek, and the Salt Lake and Jordan canal, is extending. Citizens living in that district declare they have been taxed long enough without receiving any benefit from their taxes; and in addition being subjected to direct loss and injury from municipal neglect. "The city council has got to do something to save that part of the city from damage from the floods that are sure to come within the next 40 days," said ex-Councilman E. E. Rich, "and if the righteous demands of the Third precinct property owners are turned down, there is going to be a whole lot of trouble, for the city fathers."
