

BURGLARS PLY TRADE IN SAFETY

Police Suppress All News of Crimes Which Are of Nightly Occurrence.

TWO RICH HAULS ARE MADE

Residence of F. N. Cameron and Dr. A. A. Kerr Entered and $2,000 Worth of Property Stolen.

Owing to the policy of the police under the present administration of suppressing news of all burglaries, holdups and other major crimes in which no captures are made, it has just been learned that the home of F. N. Cameron, special representative of the Phelps-Dodge interests in New Mexico, and well known among local mining men, who lives at 874 east South Temple street, was broken into by thieves and burglarized of $1,000 worth of jewelry and $700 worth of clothing and furs, Sept. 21.

All of the members of the family were asleep in the house, having gone out to join in the picnic given by President Taft. Some time in the afternoon, the burglars pried open a rear window with a "Jimmie" and proceeded to loot the rooms. They took all of the fine women's clothing that they could find, including four silk skirts, a brown silk dress, a brown rain coat, a pink muff valise and three silk shirt-waists, several tailored dresses and jewelry including diamonds, rings, hair-combs, a rare lady's watch made in Switzerland, a set of solid silverware engraved with the family monogram, and a number of other articles.

The burglary was promptly reported to the police, but the thieves have never been apprehended, and none of the stolen articles have been recovered or returned by the police.

The ladies in the family are particularly anxious to recover the heirlooms, which are several hundreds of years old, and Mr. Cameron, despairing of any aid from the police, has put private detectives on the case.

RICH HAUL AT DR. KERR'S.

The police have found no trace of the burglars who broke into and robbed the home of Dr. A. A. Kerr, 1941 east South Temple street, of clothes, furs, jewelry, silverware and precious souvenirs valued at $1,000, between 6 and 8 o'clock, Sunday night.

The family was sleeping out at the time the robbery occurred. The thief gained entrance to the house by breaking up a window with an "Jimmy." Then they ransacked every room in the house, taking souvenir spoons worth $200, a gold bracelet set with three large diamonds, a cameo pin, a pearl necklace, a pocketbook containing about $150 in bills and gold, two bank checks, a whole dinner set of solid silver engraved with the family monogram, a fine alligator suit case belonging to Dr. Kerr, a wig box of fine Buena silk, lace and other articles.

The burglars ruined an enormous sideboard by cracking and cutting the top to pieces in opening it. Mrs. Kerr's wardrobe was looted, and the thieves got away with all of her best dresses, including several silk skirts, a mink coat, an opera cloak, valuable furs and silk stockings.

The only thing of value that could be carried away and was overlooked by the burglars was a sterling silver tea set, valued at $250, which was a wedding present. The solid silver dinner set was wrapped up in separate pieces, in dresses and cloths, and was thought to be safely hidden in the clothes press, but the robbers over-hauled it.

It is believed that the robbers must have been informed, as they left, that a number of linen tablecloths spread out on the dining-room floor, with several articles laid on top ready to roll up into a bundle.

BURGLAR RECALLED ANGRY.

Mrs. R. S. Robertson, who is Mrs. Kerr's mother, and lives at the corner of Second South and Eleventh East streets, thinks that she met one of the burglars while she was coming from her place on her way to Dr. Kerr's home. She says that the man was carrying a red table cloth, such as was taken from the kitchen, and that it was rolled up in his arms in a large bundle. Mrs. Robertson thought it peculiar to see such a sight on Sunday night, and followed him, the man, to a pawn shop, "Tenth East street between Second and Eighth South streets, where he finally turned on her and angrily demanded why she was following him. Mrs. Robertson replied that she thought it suspicious that a man should be carrying a table cloth full of stuff on Sunday night. The man ran and disappeared in the darkness under a bridge close by.

In spite of the fact that the police were immediately notified after the burglary had been discovered, the robbers have not been captured.

A private safe may be rented in the Salt Lake burglar-proof vaults of the Salt Lake Security & Trust Co., 22-34 Main street, $2.00 per year.

FEAST OF ALL SAINTS.

Entire Catholic World Today Is Celebrating the Annual Event.

The entire Catholic world, including the members of that faith in Salt Lake City, today celebrates the Feast of All Saints. The Catholic church sets apart Nov. 1 as a day to remember the many dead heroes. All saints date back to the Catholic church which Memorial Day is to the people of the United States.

An interesting history attaches to this feast, which dates back its origin to the commencement of the seventh century. At that time there was a temple in Rome known as the Pantheon, built by the pagans and dedicated to the worship of the Roman mythological deities. After the fall of pagan Rome, the Christians took possession of the Pantheon, and in the year 605 A. D. Pope Boniface IV dedicated it to the service of the Almighty in the names of the virgin and all the saints. Since, after the Feast of All Saints was celebrated throughout the entire Christian world, and is now numbered among its most sacred feasts.

ANNUAL CHURCH BAZAAR,

The women of St. Mark's cathedral are making elaborate preparations for their annual bazaar to be held in the church parlor on Dec. 8-9. The money is needed to meet the expenses of renovating the domes which surround the expenditure of $1,500. The members of the parish residing in the northeast part of the city have organized an East Side branch of the Women's Guild of St. Mark's cathedral, which will open the East Side branch of the Women's Guild of St. Mark's cathedral, which will open the first evening of the bazaar with an amateur supper. The mother guild will give an elaborate luncheon, the special event of the fair.

CARPENTERS INTERVIEWED.

Several carpenters were eating dinner on the sunny side of a new house which they were building in the southeastern part of the city. They were asked about the election, how they were going to vote and also in regard to the building boom.

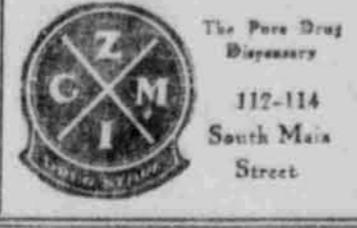

"Well, this building boom hasn't caused

Quick Delivery A FEATURE

Thirty teams are at our service, visiting each part of the city four times daily.

In addition, our own messenger boys take care of special prescription deliveries.

PHONES 148.

HALF A MILLION FOR SCHOOL BONDS

Proposition to Vote on Issue for New High School Building Comes Up Nov. 9.

At the next regular meeting of the board of education, to be held Nov. 9, resolutions providing for the submission to the people of the proposition to vote for $500,000 in bonds for the purpose of erecting a new central high school building, will be presented to the people for adoption.

President J. T. Hammond of the board and Mathonathan Thomas were appointed a sub-committee to draft such resolutions, at a meeting of the school laws committee of the board held Saturday afternoon. The resolutions will be preliminary and when adopted by the board the foundation will be laid for further proceedings in the matter.

Architect R. Kleeting is now working on plans for a building to cost in the neighborhood of $400,000, which sum is considered sufficient to erect one of the finest high school buildings in the country, and the remaining $100,000 will be ample to purchase a site and furnish the building in an up-to-date manner.

The members of the committee are of the unanimous opinion that the matter of voting the bonds should be brought before the people at the earliest possible moment, and it was practically decided that arrangements should be made so that the matter might be placed before the people in the shape of a bond election on Dec. 15 next.

Ask for "Elections Bureau."

On the Bell telephone Tuesday evening for latest election returns.

DELEGATES APPOINTED.

Names of Those Selected to Attend National Farm Land Congress.

Governor Spry has appointed the following delegates from Utah to attend the sessions of the National Farm Land Congress to be held in the La Salle hotel in Chicago on Nov. 18, and continuing five days.

John Henry Smith, O. J. Salaberry, D. E. Burley, Kenneth C. Kerr, L. A. Merrill, J. E. Taylor, George Austin, Arnold G. Glauke, R. W. Young, Edward Bierer, Jr., J. G. McDonald, George A. Whitaker, Joseph Georgian, T. H. Cutler, Frank K. Nebecker, R. S. Norcross, and E. R. Scott, all of Salt Lake City.

There are a lot of these fellows on South Temple street, that's not plenty of money that are ripping the "Americans" up the back for the way they have been doing things. When you find these fellows kinking, you can depend upon it that if there is something rotten in Denmark.

"I've been thinking over the proposition for a day or two and I believe I'll vote the fusion ticket."

DESERET EVENING NEWS MONDAY NOVEMBER 1 1909

OUNDING OF THE SILENT VOTE

Some Haphazard Sentiments of The Casual Voter Caught On the Streets.

SENTIMENT ON "AMERICANS"

Administration Criticized for Its Errors of Commission and Ommission Generally.

The silent vote—the implement of political warfare—is being sounded today. With pencil and tab, the political snipers—both old and new—are attempting to figure out what effect the eloquence unbroken in this campaign has had and which way the vote will go. The merchants, bankers, brokers, contractors, real estate dealers, and other business men have taken an active interest in the campaign and have decided what is to their best interest to follow. Many of them have had a voice in the issues which have been raised and presented to the people.

"I have made up my mind how I'll vote this year, but that's my business, it won't be for the 'American' party."

SIDEWALKS A BLACK EYE.

"How are you going to vote tomorrow?" inquired the bartender as he was ushering up his customer's bill.

"Well, I don't know," was the reply. "If you will come down and look at the sidewalk in front of my place, I can soon tell you. I live down in the southeastern part of the city and happen to be in sidewalk extension No. 16. I think that I have got the rottenest piece of sidewalk in the city. It is surface is low, never in places, and it is not even walk over, it is drummed. I've had to pay cold cash for it and I didn't get my money's worth and there are several others in the same fix. I am sending a complaint investigation to the city hall."

"I have lived down here by an open sewer trench on Second West and Eighth South," replied the bartender.

"I have had about enough of that kind of work. We haven't been able to connect with the sewer down there yet and the third installment on the special tax is now due. It's a right the things have been handled by the 'Americans.' They are boasting about the sewers they've laid but I understand about 30 miles of them can't be used yet until the main sewer on the west side is fixed and it has cost a bunch of money, too."

FOR THE "AMERICANS."

The bartender had a couple of men off at one end of the bar talking politics. "The 'Americans' have given us a good administration this last year, business is picking up, the bar has been taken off the slot machine."

"Give me a quarter's worth of nickels," a young fellow said as he entered the saloon.

"The game will be fine after election," he said, after waiting on the young fellow who was busily engaged in feeding the slot machine. The young fellow broke in on the political conversation for about 75 cents' worth of nickels. Before he had caught two pairs, he took a drink and a cigar and walked out.

The bartender was flushed for a minute and then he returned to his conversation with the two men. Finally he treated them to a little out of the special bottle under the bar and they left.

The "American" party for mine," shouted the negro boy black as he was giving the last finishing touches to a pair of shoes on his stand.

"That's all I got to say, gentlemen. After election you'll be able to get anything you want from a game of craps to manslaughter in dit town."

"Shine, your next."

Returns by Telephone.

Ask for "Elections Bureau." Bell telephone, for election news Tuesday evening.

EARTHQUAKE RECORDED.

The state university seismograph recorded a fairly well defined earthquake at 3:25 a. m. Sunday, the wave traveling along an east to west line, coming, it is believed, from a distance of several hundred miles.

BOYS MUST GO TO SCHOOL.

Truant Officer A. C. Clayton Looking Up Juvenile Law Breakers.

From this time on to the close of the year all children of school age must attend school, according to the announcement made by Alma C. Clayton, truant officer. The law requires that all children between the ages of 8 and 14 years shall attend school at least 20 weeks in the school year," said Mr. Clayton. "In order to make more successful securing employment for his dirty political work at the hands of the 'American' party. This office-seeker always falls dead when God, Spry vetoed the police and fire commission bill which was passed by the legislature.

He had an application for the job before the city council, but was not granted it. The application was for the job of fire chief, but he was not granted it.

Attached were the recommendations of the voters in his district who he declares he controls, mostly on promises.

What do you think of that guy?" the office-seeker said. If he is a sample of the politicians who can do them, I haven't decided how I will vote yet, I might not vote at all."

He re-read the letter of recommendation again on the way down, which referred to him as "an excellent worker."

This gentleman is a well known office-seeker and has had his hand in the taxpayers' pockets in one way or another for the last four years. When the last legislature was in session, he had applications for every job that was created. He got into every political camp in the State of Utah, but was most successful securing employment for his dirty political work at the hands of the "American" party. This office-seeker always falls dead when God, Spry vetoed the police and fire commission bill which was passed by the legislature.

He had an application for the job before the city council, but was not granted it.

Attached were the recommendations of the voters in his district who he declares he controls, mostly on promises.

What do you think of that guy?" the office-seeker said. If he is a sample of the politicians who can do them, I haven't decided how I will vote yet, I might not vote at all."

He re-read the letter of recommendation again on the way down, which referred to him as "an excellent worker."

This gentleman is a well known office-seeker and has had his hand in the taxpayers' pockets in one way or another for the last four years. When the last legislature was in session, he had applications for every job that was created.

He got into every political camp in the State of Utah, but was most successful securing employment for his dirty political work at the hands of the "American" party. This office-seeker always falls dead when God, Spry vetoed the police and fire commission bill which was passed by the legislature.

He had an application for the job before the city council, but was not granted it.

Attached were the recommendations of the voters in his district who he declares he controls, mostly on promises.

What do you think of that guy?" the office-seeker said. If he is a sample of the politicians who can do them, I haven't decided how I will vote yet, I might not vote at all."

He re-read the letter of recommendation again on the way down, which referred to him as "an excellent worker."

This gentleman is a well known office-seeker and has had his hand in the taxpayers' pockets in one way or another for the last four years. When the last legislature was in session, he had applications for every job that was created.

He got into every political camp in the State of Utah, but was most successful securing employment for his dirty political work at the hands of the "American" party. This office-seeker always falls dead when God, Spry vetoed the police and fire commission bill which was passed by the legislature.

He had an application for the job before the city council, but was not granted it.

Attached were the recommendations of the voters in his district who he declares he controls, mostly on promises.

What do you think of that guy?" the office-seeker said. If he is a sample of the politicians who can do them, I haven't decided how I will vote yet, I might not vote at all."

He re-read the letter of recommendation again on the way down, which referred to him as "an excellent worker."

This gentleman is a well known office-seeker and has had his hand in the taxpayers' pockets in one way or another for the last four years. When the last legislature was in session, he had applications for every job that was created.

He got into every political camp in the State of Utah, but was most successful securing employment for his dirty political work at the hands of the "American" party. This office-seeker always falls dead when God, Spry vetoed the police and fire commission bill which was passed by the legislature.

He had an application for the job before the city council, but was not granted it.

Attached were the recommendations of the voters in his district who he declares he controls, mostly on promises.

What do you think of that guy?" the office-seeker said. If he is a sample of the politicians who can do them, I haven't decided how I will vote yet, I might not vote at all."

He re-read the letter of recommendation again on the way down, which referred to him as "an excellent worker."

This gentleman is a well known office-seeker and has had his hand in the taxpayers' pockets in one way or another for the last four years. When the last legislature was in session, he had applications for every job that was created.

He got into every political camp in the State of Utah, but was most successful securing employment for his dirty political work at the hands of the "American" party. This office-seeker always falls dead when God, Spry vetoed the police and fire commission bill which was passed by the legislature.

He had an application for the job before the city council, but was not granted it.

Attached were the recommendations of the voters in his district who he declares he controls, mostly on promises.

What do you think of that guy?" the office-seeker said. If he is a sample of the politicians who can do them, I haven't decided how I