A German writing in one of the Berlin papers of his campaigns gives the following interesting item: "In this battle we lost the brave Capt. Schulte. A cannon ball took off his head. His last words were: 'Bury me on the spot where I fell.'"

The Chicago Morning News thinks "tamagame's" plan of exterminating the "Normans" by the United States Army too heroic, and suggests as a milder and equally effective method that the blood-thirsty Parson be sent out to Utah on a roving commission to preach three or four times per week. We fear he would have to fire at too long range to do much execution.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Good Riddance—A prostitute was arrested last evening for assault and battery on two other women of like character. She left a sum of money at the City Hall for her appearance this morning, but instead of coming up for trial took the morning train for the West, en route for California.

Arrived at New York—A telegram to President John Taylor from Elder Jas. H. Hart, received from New York at 12:40 a.m., states that the S. S. Wisconsin, which sailed from Liverpool on the 27th of October, had arrived at the former port, and that the company, in charge of Elder John Pickett, of Tooele, would leave for the West today. All well.

Married—Bishop James Watson, of the Nineteenth Ward, informed that last evening the ceremony was performed by him which united in the bonds of wedlock, Mr. Phillip Fugaley, Jr., and Miss Nellie May Druce, both residents of that ward. A pleasant reception was held at the residence of the parents of the bride, where many friends assembled to offer their congratulations. The Sixteenth Ward Brass Band rendered the company during the evening, and with singing, instrumental music and other amusements indoors, it was a very nice and agreeable occasion. The bride, Mrs. Nellie Druce, has been for many years a singer, and a talented organist at the Tabernacle Choir. Many of her musical associates, including Professor E. Beasley, were present at the wedding.

Misplaced Sympathy.

As an evidence of the madman sentiment which prevails in some minds, in regard to criminals and violators of the law, and the sympathy expressed for such characters as against the efforts of the peace officers in the discharge of their duty, an incident occurred on the streets last night which slightly illustrates the subject in question.

The police were engaged in arresting a turbulent fellow, who, because he hailed from the Fort, although dressed in citizen's attire, imagined he could run the town and ask no odds of the officers paid to preserve the peace, knowing full well that the most which could be done in his case, if worse came to worst, was an arrest, a night in jail, and his delivery over to the military authorities in the morning.

While taking him along towards the City Hall, and as he would not walk, being obliged to carry and even drag him a portion of the way, as he struggled fiercely to resist his captors and free himself from cuffs, a tender-hearted gentleman approached and asked the officers if they could not take their prisoner to the Hall in a hack. He did not offer to pay for the vehicle himself, but requested the officers to do so—a proposition which they quietly and very properly ignored and went on their way.

We are not in favor of undue severity on the part of the police, nor from all we can learn was there any exhibited on the occasion in reference, but neither are we disposed to look with any favor on the mistaken policy of robbing justice of all its terrors to civil-doers, stroking their path with roses and sprinkling the cologne of madmanly sympathy over their devoted heads, thereby palliating and even encouraging them in wrongdoing, and at the same time ignoring and rendering still more difficult the arduous labors of the guardians of good order, who so often imperil their lives to put down what the foolishly sentimental by their thoughtless conduct uphold.

We dare say that if such persons stood in the officer's shoes for about five minutes, their sympathy for the law-breaker would speedily turn a summersault in their own direction, but since they are not and are not likely to be entrusted with that important and dangerous responsibility, would it not be a good idea, anyhow, for them to feel in this for the policeman as much for the culprit, just for a change?

Dangerous Target Practice.—The Utah Journal is authority for the anecdote that a party of sportively inclined gentlemen went up Logan Canyon for an "out," taking with them a quantity of beer as an aid to their enjoyment. Target practice was a sport in which the party indulged, not, however, till the quality of the beer had been carefully tested. The arm used was a small breech-loading rifle. A target bearing a bull's eye was erected and the marksmen by turns fired at it.

"Bull's eye," again. If it had not been for the beer, the gun would have exploded and killed somebody. "Fortune makes fly her peculiar care."

A New Brand.—Mr. Francis Garrett, a gentleman who as a youth of eighteen years, brought to Camp Floyd many years ago the Government message which drew away the United States forces under General Johnson out of the Territory; in once more in our midst, though in a far different arrangement formerly, he is now the agent for A. F. Faust's "Owa Brand" of fresh oysters, a St. Louis luxury, now being put upon this market for the first time.

Messrs. Bowling Brothers, of First South Street, one of our enterprising grocery and provision firms, has secured the sub-agency for Salt Lake City. They will also import celery, fine samples of which we have seen, also sea fish, fresh and fine, from the same house, the noted Delmonico of St. Louis.

A word more in relation to Mr. Garrett. After leaving Utah in early days, he participated in the battle at Solomon's Fork with the Indians, where he was wounded, and likewise experienced many thrilling episodes during the civil war, being employed in the secret service on the side of the Union, during which his life was often imperiled. We trust the gentleman's stay in Utah will be pleasant, as we are certain it will be profitable.

A Needed Invention.—As the wet winter months come creeping on, we are reminded of the horrid condition of streets and crossings which prevails in our otherwise beautiful city during the reign—yes the reign—of the winter king. During the recent wet spells the muddy and in some places miry state of the walks and thoroughfares was deplorable, and forces the conclusion that unless something is done to obviate such a state of things during the coming protracted season of mud and moisture, it will be exceedingly disagreeable, not only to pedestrians, but to vehicles. Why will not some inventive genius, of which this locality can boast so many, take time by the forelock and construct a machine, similar to those used in the large cities of this country and Europe, with a revolving brush or brushes, to be run over the busiest streets and crossings once a day at least, to clear away the mire and dirt which at weatherable invariability brings, and which invariably brings, to the private property of our city, if not the corporation itself, would make the corporation itself, would make such a venture worth the while of the mechanical mind which cares to act upon this suggestion.

Sunday Liquor Selling.

The proprietors of six liquor saloons in this city were put under arrest last night and this morning, charged with violating the city ordinance in relation to selling liquor on Sundays. Each place was fined $50 each.

Three-Score-and-Ten.—Father Wm. F. Cahoon, of the Twelfth Ward, yesterday attained his seventieth year, and the notable event was fittingly celebrated at his residence last evening by a large assemblage of his children, grand-children and other friends and relatives. The Salt Lake Fireman's Brass Band enlivened the occasion with stirring airs, and a happy time was enjoyed by all. Many more of them Brother William.

Assault on a Chinaman.—This morning a Chinaman living on Third South Street, complained at the Police Station of having been badly whipped by one Mike Katky, and exhibited marks and bruises upon his face in verification of his statement. The officers at once started out in pursuit of the offender, who had fled, and after an extended detour through the Eighth, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Wards, which the object of their search had successively traversed to elude them, apprehended him while making tracks westward at the rate of six miles an hour. The pugilistic Michael will interview the police magistrate to-morrow.

Deaf, Dumb and Blind.—We have received from a gentleman in Lehi a copy of a circular letter which is being sent to the Bishops of the different wards in this city and throughout the Church. The letter contains the following request: "Will you be so kind as to inform me immediately whether or not there are any Deaf, Dumb or Blind persons in your ward? If there are any, please forward name and age. The object of this inquiry is to present before the Legislature information upon which to base a request for the foundation of an establishment for the care of such individuals. I myself have three Deaf and Dumb, and I naturally feel interested in trying to have such unfortunate educated."

Statuary.—Some time ago an item appeared in this paper to the effect that ex-Mayor Feramors Little had given an order at Watson Brothers stone and marble works, for two statues representing Summer and Winter, to be placed in opposite niches in the hallway of his residence on First South Street, east of the City Hall. The statues which are life-size female figures, made of Sappho oolite stone, were finished and put in position last Thursday.

They are really superb, and give the greatest satisfaction to the purchaser. The sculptor is Mr. Wm. Pierce, late of London, England, now employed at Watson Brothers. We understand that the marble has been ordered from the East for a statue to the memory of the late Mrs. Little, which when finished, will be placed over her tomb in the Cemetery. The marble will be from the Vermont quarries, and the statue will be executed by Mr. Pierce.

The District Telegraph.—Allusion to Tuesday night's City Council minutes, printed in this paper on Wednesday evening, has ere this apprised the public of the granting to Mr. F. D. Giles and a company which he represents, the privilege of establishing in this city the District Telegraph system, the operations of which we undertook to briefly describe in an article published several weeks ago. A representative of the News stopped at the Western Union Telegraph office this afternoon for the purpose of interviewing Mr. Giles as to the nature and operations of the system which he and his fellow-capitalists propose to introduce. He was not in himself, but from one of the employes it was ascertained that the description formerly given in the News was a pretty good forecast of the proposed enterprise and its workings. The central office will be at the Western Union Telegraph office. Communication will be kept up with the Police station, the Fire department, and other places, and errand boys will be provided for whose services thirty cents an hour will be charged to customers. Besides Mr. Giles, Mr. Annett, this city, and Mr. Patterson, of Ogden, the latter two connected with the telephone exchange, are the persons interested in the new venture.
