ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

We are authorized to announce that the Annual Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be held at Provo, commencing at 10 o'clock a.m., on Sunday, the 4th of April next.

The officers and members of the Church are cordially invited to attend.

SENATOR EDMUNDS' BIG BLUNDER.

SENATOR EDMUNDS is not enjoying much satisfaction over his assault upon the Administration. He had become so full of conceit over the power he exercised in the Senate as the leader of the Republican majority, that he appeared to think himself invulnerable and his dictum the end of controversy. The rebuffs he has experienced in the debate on the power of removal in the President have opened his eyes a little to his great mistake, and he is not nearly so great a man in his own estimation as he was before the encounter. Senator Beck's vigorous rejoinder was a heavy blow to the vanity of the icicle from Vermont, and the failure of his great attack upon the Executive, which now appears inevitable, will not improve the temper though it must lessen the self-importance of the anti-"Mormon" fanatic from the Green Mountains.

Prominent and ambitious men like Edmunds ought to have good memories, because they must preserve a reputation for consistency. For instance, before denying the President's right to make removals without explaining his reasons to the Senate, Mr. Edmunds ought to have remembered the following remarks which fell from his cold lips when he argued in favor of that power in the Republican President, U. S. Grant. He then said:

"It is cause enough for me, sir—constitutional cause—when the President of the United States, acting, if he is honest, as he always must, upon a conscientious sense of his responsibility to the people and to God, chooses to send in one man's name for a place which another holds."

Mr. Edmunds likes to be known as a great authority on constitutional questions. Is there anything in the Constitution that vests power in a Republican Executive which it withholds from a Democratic Executive? If not why should President Cleveland be denied the authority which Mr. Edmunds conceded to President Grant? The power to remove appointed officials for cause, is an exercise of executive authority. It is vested in the President. It is not a legislative act. Under the Constitution the Senate approves or disapproves of the President's nominations, but it has nothing to do with removals.

The real, actual appointing power is in the President. The Senate sanctions his appointments. It has no appointing power of itself. When it is not in session the President may exercise the appointing power without its assistance. The removing power belongs to the appointing power, and in its exercise the President is not responsible to the Senate but to the people of the United States. The Constitution blends, to a little extent the executive and legislative powers when it confers on the Senate authority to aid the President in the exercise of the appointing power by its "advice and consent." But this does not extend to the power to remove. That is wholly vested in the President.

There is good reason for this. In making the numerous appointments in the gift of the Executive, the advice of the higher branch of the legislative department is calculated to assist in the choice of competent persons. Senators from the several States are likely to be better informed as to the qualifications of candidates for office from their respective localities than the President himself, and to know how selections would be likely to suit the people where the appointments are to be made. The Senate becomes an aid to the President, and also a check in case he should be deceived into the appointing of unworthy persons through lack of proper information. But in removing dishonest, incapable or corrupt incumbents, the President should have full power to act promptly on sufficient evidence. He is required to see that the laws are faithfully executed, and he could not do this unless the power was given to him untrammeled to remove unfit persons charged in their sphere with the execution of the laws. The President, not the Senate, is responsible for the enforcement of the laws of the land. And without this unchecked power of removal he could not justly be held responsible. If the Senate is to share the power of removal, it should also share the responsibility if the laws are not faithfully executed.

The Senate can neither remove nor prevent removal. Why then should the President be compelled to account to the Senate for the exercise of a power over which it has no control? It is a purely executive act in its nature, and the Constitution very properly and wisely confers it upon the President alone. If this prerogative had been exercised by the President a few weeks sooner in the case of the Governor of Utah the Territory might have been saved from much inconvenience and difficulty. Necessary bills might have been passed by the Legislature for the welfare of the people. But if the Senate had power to prevent the removal, or its consent had to be asked, or the reasons for the removal had to be investigated before it could take effect, it is easy to see how the President would be trammeled and the interests of the country be impeded and imperilled. A Republican hostile Senate could block the way of a Democratic President, and vice versa, and the whole machinery of the national government would be dislocated.

Mr. Edmunds, in his partisan animosity, has made a big blunder. His movement shows a misapprehension of a fundamental principle in our governmental system. It is more conspicuous in him than it would be in any other man in the Senate, because he figures as the exponent and sine qua non of constitutional doctrine. In vulgar parlance, he has bit off more than he can chew, and it is evident that it doesn't taste good in his mouth. It has damaged him greatly as an authority and dictatorial leader, and makes one step on that downward road which, sooner or later, all demagogues take with a rush who fight against the rights and liberties of the people of God.

D. W. FISK, proprietor of the Helena, Montana, Herald, is in this city on a visit.

THE PRESS ON GOVERNOR MURRAY.

IN commenting on the summary removal of Governor Murray "for cause," several newspapers refer to the great services he has rendered in putting down polygamy. It is not to be expected that the press of this country will discourse intelligently on anything that relates to Utah affairs, because the cloud of prejudice is so thick over their eyes that they cannot see the facts, and they are only willing to listen to one side of the question, so they are always in a fog.

But it seems that they might understand something on this point on general principles. If they would only reflect a little they would surely see that the powers of a Territorial Governor are so small that he cannot do much in the commonly desired direction, no matter how great his will might be. His authority is chiefly exercised at the sitting of the Legislature, which occurs once in two years, and then consists of assenting to or rejecting such measures as that body may enact. During the rest of the time he is little more than a figure head. He can issue commissions to officers appointed under the laws of the Territory, and appoint notaries public. Will some of our esteemed contemporaries show us in what way he can do extraordinary things for the suppression of polygamy.

It may be said he can stop the passage of laws in its favor. Well, bless your gentle souls, the Legislature has never passed or attempted to pass any bills in favor of polygamy. The only measure which had a bearing on the question during the session just closed was the election bill, and that contained the following oath, to be taken by all citizens before being registered and qualified to become voters and office holders:

TERRITORY OF UTAH, } ss.
County of ..... }

I, ..., being first duly sworn (or affirm) depose and say that I am over twenty-one years of age, and have resided in the Territory of Utah for six months, and in the precinct of ..... one month immediately preceding the date hereof, and I am a native born, or naturalized, (as the case may be) citizen of the United States, and a taxpayer in this Territory; and I do further swear (or affirm) that I am not a bigamist or a polygamist; and that I do not cohabit with more than one woman.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this ..... day of ..... 188..

Registration Officer for ..... Precinct.

This bill the Governor vetoed. Nothing else bearing on the polygamy question came before him for consideration. Thus his action on that question was not in aid of the suppression of polygamy in any shape or form. He has done nothing of that kind in the enactment of laws; neither has he done anything towards it in the execution of the law. He has talked a great deal. He has made many misrepresentations to the Government and the public. He has posed as an anti-polygamy champion. But it was all posturing and declamation. There has been nothing more to it.

Deceiving the President into the error of sending troops here to suppress an uprising that had no existence, except in lying telegrams, did nothing towards the suppression of polygamy. It had not the remotest bearing on the matter. There is nothing in the whole career of Governor Murray in Utah which can reasonably be construed into an effective act in putting down polygamy. If his perfidy in giving a false certificate of election to his friend who was not elected is cited, that cannot be shown to have affected the polygamy question one iota. If it is claimed that it resulted in the ejection of the "Mormon" Delegate from Congress, the claim is invalid as affecting polygamy. It did not touch it in the remotest degree. Polygamy was not affected by that movement any more than the tides, or the mountain breezes or the sunlight. It did not stop a marriage or break up a family.

Nothing that Governor Murray has done in Utah or out of Utah has affected the question, except to fasten conviction of "Mormon" principles closer to the hearts of the people whom he has abused and reviled, and whose civil rights as well as religious liberties he has sought to destroy. Not an act of his can be pointed out which will justify the remarks of our contemporaries, and when they talk of what he has accomplished towards the putting down of polygamy they provoke derision in all who are acquainted with the situation.

Murray's chief exploits have been of a convivial character, and as the leader of a movement to foster the prejudices of Congress and the country, with the object of obtaining a Legislative Commission for Utah, or the disfranchisement of the "Mormons," so that the adventurers he represents may grasp the government, gather the revenue and spend the money of the industrious and peace-loving people of the richest Territory of the United States.

BETTER BE HALF DECENT.

WE have no idea that Marshal Ireland will pay any attention to complaints about the doings of his deputies, if they are in the line of making things unpleasant to "Mormons." But, nevertheless, we do not intend to keep silence about their depredations when we think proper to call attention to them. We wish now to inform him and his minions, that the law does not require them to insult the people upon whose privacy they intrude, whether to serve a subpœna or a warrant of arrest.

In searching for witnesses at Big Cottonwood, this week, when they accosted a lad from whom they wanted ty extort information, one of them, after roughly demanding where the lad's father was, and being told he did not know, emphatically declared "it's a lie." This is not the first time that the lie has been given to young folks and women, but they do not usually indulge in such language to men. The reason is obvious.

The drubbing which a vulgar deputy received from an irate and plucky little woman into whose room he intruded, should prove a caution to his kind of sneaks. In no other part of the United States but among the "Mormon" people would persons of that character be permitted to force their way into invalids' and old ladies' bedrooms, to serve subpœnas or comport themselves with the insolence which is common to some of them.

We do not intend these remarks to apply to all of the deputies, for there are some who endeavor to perform their disagreeable duty like gentlemen. But there are others who have none of the instincts of a gentleman, and therefore decent treatment cannot be expected of them. However, their chief could instruct them to be half decent, and to refrain from aping the role of a cross-examining attorney, and from calling people liars. And if they will not profit by such instructions, more forcible lessons will perhaps become necessary. We know they do not like the hints we give them occasionally, but we know also that they are not without their effect.

THE watering carts were out sprinkling the streets this morning; this afternoon a snow storm laid the dust.

WHY THEY ARE FEARED.

"Fall in! fall in! democrats, say the DuBois organs all along the line, and help us roll back the onsweep of polygamy that is fast overwhelming our beloved Territory! Yes, democrats, fall in, please, and help elect Fred DuBois or some other republican to Congress. The black cancer is spreading fearfully, ain't it? There was some foundation for the anti-Mormon yell during the last campaign, when the Mormon vote could very near decide the election. But things have changed. The Mormons have been wrongfully disfranchised and are now herded helpless on a reservation, as it were, like a shattered tribe of Indians. Why do you ballot-box stuffers still fear those people?—Idaho Democrat.

Why did the chief priests and scribes fear and oppose the Savior? The same answer will apply equally well to either question. Because those ancient persecutors and murderous plotters and their modern prototypes have been inspired of the evil one who sees in the existence of truth and its exponents on the earth a source of danger to his power which he and his emissaries always have opposed and will continue to oppose until they are bound and truth gains the complete victory, as it assuredly will.

"GOING IT BLIND."

THE knowledge of the average anti-"Mormon" editor of the subject on which he expatiates, is illustrated by the following editorial note from the Dillon, Montana, Tribune:

The extremely radical bill introduced in Congress by Woodburn, of Nevada, is just what is wanted. Polygamy must be wiped out, though the prison pens be filled with polygamists.

As the Woodburn proposed measure is not a crimes bill and does not attempt to provide any penalties for polygamy, but is simply a political contrivance to prevent monogamous "Mormons" from voting, the relevancy of the Tribune's remarks will be appreciated by an enlightened public. That editor endorses a bill which evidently he has never read. Like most of the rabid anti-"Mormon" scribes, he is "going it blind."

The Situation at St. Louis—A Conflict Expected To-day.

ST. LOUIS, 26.—When the usual hour arrived this morning for the day force of switchmen to relieve the night men at the Wabash yards in this city no men appeared and a few moments later the announcement was made that the entire force had struck. These men it is understood were ordered out by the executive committee in support of the position taken by the strike of the Missouri Pacific employes. The situation at East St. Louis is becoming serious. The yardmasters of the different roads have been attempting all morning to make up and start out freight trains, but have in every instance been prevented from carrying out their design by the striking switchmen, who are using all the means at their disposal to make the freight blockade in that city complete. Coupling pins are removed from their positions and the trains become separated. Switches are reversed and trains are run upon the wrong track. In some instances the yardmasters have been forcibly restrained in their efforts to resume freight traffic. No serious trouble has as yet occurred, but it is understood that the officers of the law will be called upon to-day to preserve order and property, and a conflict between them and the strikers is expected to occur.

The officers of the Missouri Pacific Railway this morning, with the aid of a large force of police, succeeded in starting from this city a freight train consisting of 18 cars.

The Critical Condition of Secretary Manning.

WASHINGTON, 26.—The son of Secretary Manning said to an Associated Press reporter at 11 o'clock that the condition of his father remained practically unchanged. The physicians had informed him that his father was passing through a critical stage of his disease and that every hour passed without indication of unfavorable symptoms was so much progress towards recovery.

The Citrus Fair.

CHICAGO, 26.—Mayor Harrison received the following telegram from Los Angeles: "Southern California sends greeting and rejoices with Chicago in the assured success of the Citrus Fair. Accept thanks for yourself and all your people for the generous encouragement of the enterprise intended to more closely unite our lovely and productive country with your great city. George Stoneman, Governor; E. F. Spencer, Mayor of Los Angeles; Geo. H. Bonebrake, President Board of Trade, and some fifty or sixty other leading citizens."

The Fair continues to draw large crowds, and is highly praised by the local press.

Hanged.

CHICAGO, 26.—Frank Mulkowski, the Pole who brutally murdered Mrs. Agnes Kledzeick last August, for the purpose of robbery, was hanged in the county jail yard here at 12:16 this afternoon.

A Train Ditched by Strikers—Twenty-five Armed Detectives in Pursuit of Them.

ST. LOUIS, 26.—News has been received from Pacific, Mo., about fifty miles from this city, that the accommodation train running betwhen here and that place was ditched by strikers this morning. No particulars of the affair have been received. An engine and tender carrying 25 detectives, armed with Winchester rifles, has been dispatched thither.

The Spider and the Fly.

Should the schemers force the coming democratic territorial convention into adopting an anti-Mormon plank in their platform, Fred DuBois and the other leaders of the republican party would rush over into the Mormon counties and say to those people: See how you have been treated by your supposed friends! Did we not tell you that, deprived of your votes, the democratic party would have no further use for you? The democrats have not lent you a helping hand in your trouble—not even given you a word of comfort—notwithstanding your votes have always elected their nominee to congress. On the other hand, the republican party has not been two-faced with you, but has always openly and honorably opposed, not you, but your religion. An open enemy is better than a treacherous friend. You have ample cause to change political preference. Now, vote with us at the approaching election. Help us to elect our nominee to Congress and to again secure control of the legislature, and we will repeal the test-oath and all other laws that affect your status as citizens, and ever after prove your genuine friends. The objectionable feature to your religion has passed away, and with it our hostility. You can dodge the test-oath slick enough and vote by withdrawing from your church, and rejoin after the election is over, and without compromising yourselves as Latter-day Saints. You can no longer look for favors from the democratic party. Come, we will receive you with open arms and protect you with a father's care, as republican administrations have done for a quarter of a century past. Come, let us embrace and be friends.

It is the hope of making such an overture probable and successful that the ballot-box stuffing organs are trying to force into the campaign the anti-Mormon yell.

Would Fred Du Bois spring the trap he has thus set and into which his organs are trying to coax or force the democratic party? Great dingbats! Would a duck swim?—Idaho Democrat.

—Night before last the house of F. J. Kiesel, of Ogden, was entered by burglars, but they were frightened off before any booty was secured.

—The Dunlap Brothers, one of the largest firms of cattle raisers in Southern Arizona, who have a beef contract at Fort Apache, have received word from that place that the Apaches are liable to leave at any moment, and all are putting on their warpaint and having war dances. The ranchers in the neighborhood have been warned to look out for them.

A TRIBUTE.

TO THE MEMORY OF THE LATE SISTER MARINDA HYDE, PRESIDENT OF THE RELIEF SOCIETY OF THE 17TH WARD, WHOSE FUNERAL OCCURRED TO-DAY.

Chide not the grateful lovings tear,
The holy water of the soul,
That falls upon Marinda's bier,
Which love forbids us to control.

'Tis love's effusion that we shed,
'Tis not the tear of vain regret
That consecrates the lowly bed
Of her we never can forget.

Methinks I see Marinda's smile,
Methinks I hear her low, soft voice;
That of our grief doth us beguile,
And bids us all rejoice! rejoice!

And tells us she has reached a home
Not made by any earthly hands,
Eternal in the heavenly dome
With all that heaven itself commands.

A higher hand than mine must hold
The pen that traces out her life,
Which should be dip't in liquid gold
To picture all with which 'tis rife!

But in our love, and deep respect
And rich appreciation, we
Will yield to none, when we reflect
And know 'twas of a high degree.

Where shall we look to fill her place
So mild, so gentle, yet so firm?
The Christian lady, rich in grace,
A model, from which all should learn.

Our tears will fall—but yet we know,
How vain, now needless are such tears;
We are so selfish here below,
And nothing know, but what appears.

But faith uplifts the mystic veil,
And in the scenes it points to view
Sorrow no longer can prevail
And love sighs forth a fond adieu!—

—A few days ago an eight-year old daughter of Jas. A. Eldredge, of Soda Springs, fell over a set of deer horns, breaking her arm at the elbow. A surgeon was sent for to Logan, who attended to the injury, which was found to be quite serious.

—On Tuesday last, in Helena, Montana, J. J. Palmer, the court house contractor, was hung in effigy. The swinging form bore on the breast, "Palmer, 3-7-77," the cabalistic figures of the Montana Vigilantes. Another effigy on a telegraph pole in another part of town, bore the legend, "Palmer, a second Beecher, $1.75, good enough for working man. What next?" Mr. Palmer, on Saturday last, reduced the wages of the laborers from $2.50 to $1.75 per day, and passed certain rules which proved obnoxious to the stone cutters, and resulted in a general strike.
