A PERTINENT GROWL.

The Taxpayer Who Wants Information, Gives Some.

To the Editor:

Let us do a little respectful, pertinent growling through your paper, and if the gladness of this metropolitan city do not feel thankful to you for giving publicity to our growl, we will agree to stop further faultfinding.

The tax levies for the current year are as follows: Territorial, two mills; territorial school, three mills; county, three mills; county school, two mills; city, seven mills; city school, six mills; a total of eleven mills for schools alone. It will be observed that the city school tax is six mills, when it is expressly provided in the city school law, chapter 129, "that the tax for the support and maintenance of such schools shall not exceed in any one year four mills on the dollar." Therefore is not the six mills tax a direct violation of the law? What sense in the Legislature limiting the tax to one mille if the school board can at pleasure increase it to six mills? And if to six mills, cannot they amplify the sum to any number of mills they choose, regardless of legislative inhibition?

While on this subject let me raise the valve a little higher. We are paying our superintendent of schools $5,200 per year, and it is unanimous: he has his court-a vacation along with the teachers and pupils. Isn't this a little "swifty," to say the least, especially in view of the excessively tight times? Would not $2,500 really command just as efficient service if the place were open the entire year? Should not supply and demand be considered in this as in other situations, and haven't the taxpayers a right to subscribe the amount and the maximum limits about all such and kindred matters? Such strictures and queries are, to our minds, very pertinent and not ostentatious, in view of the almost immeasurable long lists of tax rolls recurring from year to year, wherein thousands of homes and holdings of the poor have been sacrificed. We are not tax-lunatics, but those who have had their homes sold over their useless heads feel such inquisitive conditions very keenly indeed.

Again, is not the eleven mill tax in favor of schools excessive and exorbitant beyond cavil and in direct violation of the fundamental law of the government? And as to the valuation put upon most of the properties by the assessor, almost everyone acknowledges that it is entirely too high, and consequently is most be an unlawful assessment.

A short time ago Prince Bismarck in a public talk, it is said, placed this solemn injunction upon the shoulders of his countrymen: "We must stand shoulder to shoulder against the rulers who govern us, but who produce nothing but laws." We would suggest that the masses stand shoulder to shoulder against the oppressed, and never vote to put any man in office who has, by precept or example, favored the burdening of the people with extravagance of any nature, or who has failed to lift up his voice, loud and persistent, in favor of the practice of the strictest economy in all public appointments.

We would further suggest that the supposed promptly and unitedly agree to the course for the adjournment of what are deemed to be lawless acts of our servants as outlined above. The cost would be all to a united people, and while we are fussing over the county furniture deal and steal, let us again suggest that the matter of an assessor's alleged forty thousand dollar income, as reported to us in the papers some time ago, be looked into and made plain to the general public. And didn't an ex-collector hold last to something over twenty thousand dollars tax money for a long overdue time after he quit the office? Respectfully,

ANON.

A JOKE'S FEARFUL RESULT.

Death of Daniel N. Tyler as a Result of a Playmate's Folly.

To the Editor:

Elder Daniel M. Tyler, of Huntington, Emery county, Utah, passed quietly to his last resting place on the 19th inst., after being confined to his bed over four months. I regret to say that the immediate cause of his illness and death was the result of a practical joke perpetrated by a playmate when about fourteen years of age. Of course no harm was intended or anticipated, but the sad result was the same. He, however, never entertained any ill feeling towards the lad who was the cause of his many years of suffering.

His case was about as follows: He was standing gazing at some distant object when his feet were suddenly tripped from under him and he fell with considerable force upon his left knee, driving the latter some-

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, asserting me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improved. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—MRS. A. A. FIELDS, Bloomfield, Ia.

what heavily into the socket, which caused him to be very lame for a few days, perhaps a week, when it became stiffened in the hip joint. To us was the surgeon in southern Utah where he resided, consequently it could not be replaced. The dislocated limb grew but little if any afterwards.

Several trifling sores soon resulted, with a continuous discharge which caused a heavy drain upon the system during the remainder of his life. Latterly discharges of decayed bone resulted. He was a great sufferer at intervals from the time of the accident to his demise.

I trust that all youths who may have to indulge in the foregoing pastime will heed the sad fate of this painful accident will desist in the future, and when they are grown and have families of their own, especially after the dangerous sores serve to indulge in the dangerous act to say about practices.

Brother Tyler was the oldest son of Daniel and Ruth Tyler, of Bedford, Mass., who came to Salt Lake City, January 17, 1848. About his last work in the militia was, "Don't hold me as a target, let me go."

Suffice it to say he was a faithful Latter-day Saint, and faithful all his children, as soon as they were old enough. He was a kind husband and father. He leaves a beloved wife and ten children, besides his loving parents, brother and two sisters, other relatives and numerous friends to mourn his untimely loss.

The Agricultural College.

The Agricultural College of Utah at Logan opened Tuesday last with flattering prospects. There are already 250 students enrolled; as many as were enrolled during the first term last year, and as many as were enrolled during the entire year in 1894. The freshman class numbers nearly 100. Several of last years graduates are back for advanced work. Many of the new students come from accredited schools and from other higher institutions, and many are still reporting daily.

There have been some changes in the faculty. Dr. Twomby left at the close of the year to attend to his fruit farm in California; his place is taken by Dr. Fischer, a graduate of the University of Bern, Switzerland, who also assistant professor of veterinary science. Dr. Fischer has studied in Hanover and Berlin. Prof. Sloan, who has charge of the dairy, is a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan University, and is followed by Prof. Scrivner, a graduate of Davison College, N. C., and a post graduate student in John Hopkins.

By a redistribution of work, Professor Caine has charge of history, and Professors Norwood and Langton have mathematics and preparatory English.

A few of the professors have remained quietly at their posts during the vacation. Others have traveled, visited friends in the East, and spoken to societies of interest, in various parts of the country. Professors Paul, Mills and Lindfield attended the association of Agricultural College workers at Denver. Professor Lindfield afterwards went to Canada to visit his parents and bring back his wife and baby. Professor Mills also visited his people in Utah.

Professors Richman, MacEwan and Hyde spent a month in and about Yellowstone Park. They were accompanied by some Eastern teachers. Provost MacEwan went to Kansas to bring back his wife and young daughter.

Professors Brewer and Shepherd took their outing in Logan canyon, with Professor and Mrs. Mason, of the agricultural college of Kansas. Professor Mason is a brother of Mrs. Cutey, with whom he has spent the summer.

Professor Fuller and family spent the entire vacation visiting friends in Canada; Miss Kenyon visiting her mother in Indiana.

Professor Paul accompanied by a team of local musicians has been traveling about northern Utah and Idaho giving entertainments at the various county seats after which lectures advertising the College. He expects to appear at Paradise Saturday evening.

Utah County Items.

PLEASANT GROVE, Sept. 12, 1896.—G. H. Clark, of Clark Bros. & Co., met with a very painful and serious accident on Friday last. The unfortunate gentleman was pulling some boards when a nail penetrated the pupil of one of his eyes, causing him great pain. It is feared he may lose the sight of the member. Mr. Clark left on Friday morning to consult Dr. Allen.

The late cold "snap" has done a great amount of damage to tender "truck" and fruit. Many thousands of bushels of peaches will be destroyed as well as enough fruit in course of drying.

Several students left last week for the Utah University to attend school for the year. A larger percentage of students are attending the B. Y. A. at Provo this season than usual.

Elder Ezra L. Beesley leaves this week for the Southern States to fill a mission. A series of socialist parties have been given the worthy young man.

Father Shatzmeh F. Driggs, who has been dangerously ill of pneumonia, is improving.

The democrats of this town met last evening and elected twenty-seven delegates to attend the county convention to be held at Payson next Saturday. The Republicans will have a similar meeting Tuesday next, to elect twenty delegates to attend the county convention to be held at Provo, October 1st.

There is a rumor to the effect that a strike has been made in Anderson's Fork of Grainger Hollow. The parties now at the place, and to the half it is true of the find, "we'll all be happy yet."

Fine Apples.

A fine sample of winter apples raised by Thomas Hutchinson of Farmington, Davis county, was exhibited at the News office today. When grown on the soil a one of these should be large—at a little more than three quarters of a pound. With the probability of the harvest for the apple fruit and for wheat of the present year the banks will call it Hutchinson's Pride.
