

ADDITION MADE TO ARIZONA FOREST

By Proclamation Prescott National Reserve Acquires 320,000 Acres.

LOCATED IN YAVAPAI COUNTY

It is Estimated There Are 70,000,000 Feet Board Measure of Yellow Pine Included in the Tracts Attached.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The president has just signed a proclamation reserving two additions to the Prescott National Forest, in Arizona, having an aggregate area of 320,000 acres. The tracts will be put under forest service administration at once and protected from fire, theft and waste. The additions include much yellow pine timber land and will give the Prescott Forest an area of 1,082,250 acres.

The country included is located in the central portion of Yavapai county, between the boundary line of the present forest and the Yavapai grant, and occupies a portion of the divide between Williams Fork and the Verde river. The Santa Maria mountains and the Juniper mountains are 17,000 feet high. The creation of the additions will result in a benefit to Arizona by conserving the timber supply for the use of settlers and the wood-using industries, and through the protection of the flow of small streams which supply water for a number of ranches.

It is estimated that there are about 70,000,000 board feet of yellow pine in the additions. In some places covered with commercial forest, the stand of yellow pine often reaches 10,000 feet board measure an acre, but on the low divide and on rocky slopes the scale is often reduced to 1,500 feet an acre. Parts of the additions are covered with a scattered growth of yellow, cottonwood, ash, and box elder, and while these are valuable for lumber production, it is most important that they be protected from destructive fires that threaten to be conserved and erosion of soil prevented. Stockraising, agriculture, and mining are the principal industries of the section.

Bank President Finds Young Men Good Listeners to Banking Talks.

J. E. Cosgriff, president of the Commercial National bank, has been lecturing before the higher grade students at All Hallows college and at other institutions in this city on the elementary principles of banking and finance. He found that his youthful hearers manifested so deep an interest in what was said as to lead him to believe it would be a wise and profitable move if the board of education and the faculties of the local higher institutions were to provide for a series of lectures every year on this subject. As it is now the young people leave school with no adequate idea whatever of one of the most important and essential departments in commercial enterprise. "They may know quite well how to read Latin and Greek, or perchance to dress area, and are posted in a variety of other subjects, material and immaterial," says President Cosgriff. "But what they don't know about banking, currency, the money markets, and financial transactions generally would fill quite a good sized library. And yet banking and the science of monetary transactions are world wide in their scope of operation, and command the closest attention of the most prominent administrators of human affairs. But then, this lack of appreciation on the part of faculties and boards of instruction."

Neurasthenia

is the physician's name for a condition of weakness or exhaustion of the nervous system. The patient finds difficulty in keeping his mind on his work, is inclined to worry over trifles, is often depressed and irritable, is subject to headaches or a feeling of pressure on the head, is sleepless and sometimes the digestion is disturbed. A tendency to the disease may be inherited, or it may result from almost any form of excess, from overwork and worry or the use of drugs or stimulants. The common name for this disorder is or, in extreme cases, nervous prostration. The treatment consists largely in rest, recreation and the use of a tonic, the discontinuance of any practice that may have caused it and abstinence from tea, coffee or other stimulants. As the nerves receive their nourishment through the blood the latter must be built up and made rich and pure. Especially if there is loss of weight and a pallor indicating a weakness of the blood, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the tonic best adapted to effect a cure. They have been used by the most eminent physicians for the treatment of neurasthenia with most excellent results. The late Dr. Lippert, who was physician to two popes, recommended them highly for neurasthenia and for similar disorders.

Home Treatment

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills being perfectly safe as a family medicine without the necessity of a separate prescription for each case, are sold in packages under the well-known trade mark which is our guarantee to the purchaser of the genuineness, purity and effectiveness of the contents. Hundreds of nervous men and women have cured themselves at home with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

A Thorough Cure

Mrs. E. C. Bradley, of 101 Farewell avenue, Rochester, N. Y., writes: "I was weak, low-spirited and nervous. I could hardly work and could not bear the least noise. My appetite was poor and I could not sleep well. I had severe headaches most of the time. I was treated by two doctors but got no relief and then decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I soon began to feel better and the improvement was general. My appetite became hearty and my sleep better. The headaches all left and a few more boxes entirely cured me. I would recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any nervous sufferer."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box; six boxes for $3.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

tion is not peculiar to Salt Lake. Applied science is being more and more made of in institutions of learning, and perhaps later on the necessity of imparting special instruction in the financial field will become so apparent that active steps will be taken by educational authorities to provide for it. At present anything approximating the instruction referred to, can only be obtained in law schools, or banking offices themselves."

Gov. John C. Cutler, Mayor John S. Bransford, Gov. Gooding of Idaho, United States Senator Nixon of Nevada, and other distinguished contributors, will have special articles in the Christmas News, printed Saturday next.

Young, president of the National Temperance league, will be one of the speakers of the occasion, and Rev. Louis S. VICIOUS ASSAULT.

Chinaman Nearly Kills Korean With Heavy Opium Pipe.

Chung Chun Bo, a Korean laborer, is lying at the Korea house, 118 east Third South street, suffering from concussion of the brain as a result of a blow landed on him by Charles Song, a Chinaman who runs a gambling den on Plum alley. Song is locked up at the city jail and if he dies of his injuries the Mongolian will be charged with murder. Bo, it is said, was winning considerably when Song became enraged and struck Bo on the head with a heavy metal opium pipe. Dr. Paul was summoned to attend to the unconscious Korean and stated that Bo had concussion of the brain.

GETS THREE MONTHS.

Judge Diehl Sentences Man Who Robbed Salvation Army Boxes.

Fred Silver, the man who robbed the Salvation Army contribution boxes, appeared before Judge C. H. Diehl in the criminal division of the city court late yesterday afternoon for sentence. When the court began to talk about Silver's offense, the latter growled:

"Speak louder, I can't hear ye." Judge Diehl raised his voice. He told Silver that he believed the man to be mentally unbalanced and for that reason would not impose as severe a sentence as he otherwise might do.

Silver spoke up and declared his deviation was not just. His peculiar statement was as follows: "The girls down at Franklin's say there are dollars in the box. I would like to know how they could put dollars through the little hole in the box. Anyway, the Salvation Army gives me a bill and I had a right to honestly collect what was coming to me."

"How did you know how small the holes are in the boxes?" asked Judge Diehl. Silver had no reply to make. The court then sentenced the man to three months in the city jail at hard labor.

That Silver is unbalanced on one subject there can be no doubt. He is so sure that the Salvation Army owes him money. He belonged to the Army as one thing but was discharged because of his conduct. Since that time Silver has attempted to break up meetings and has been a source of a great deal of trouble for the Army. He is the fellow who is believed to have broken up some of the meetings and ripped up some bills with a knife.

CAPTAIN WILLIAM C. WEBB.

Whose Efforts to Reorganize a National Guard Battery Are Meeting With Success.

On Monday evening next the drill hall of the First battery, N. G. U. artillery, will echo the lessons of field gun instruction for the first time in over a year.

On that date the first drill of the newly organized command will be held, under Capt. William C. Webb, who as a lieutenant led one platoon of Utah's light artillery through the Philippine insurrection, and before that through the Spanish war as it manifested itself on the bench in front of Manila.

His platoon at the Santa Mesa Hill, where the most determined effort was made to break the American lines on the night of the insurrection's beginning, became the center of a notable action and one that kept the American forces busier for a longer period than any other, in purely defensive work. After that as commander of the river gunboat "Geste," Lieut. Webb assisted Capt. Grant, commander of the "Labuna" to carry the Utah reputation abroad as well as at home.

On returning from Manila, he became interested in preserving the battery's organization in the National Guard, feeling that for sentimental reasons the guard should never lose this arm of the service. For a time the battery thrived, and as Capt. Webb took up the High School military work, it was recruited from among his cadets.

There came a time, however, when the guard enlistment was low, and interest in the battery was so slight that it was mustered out of the service.

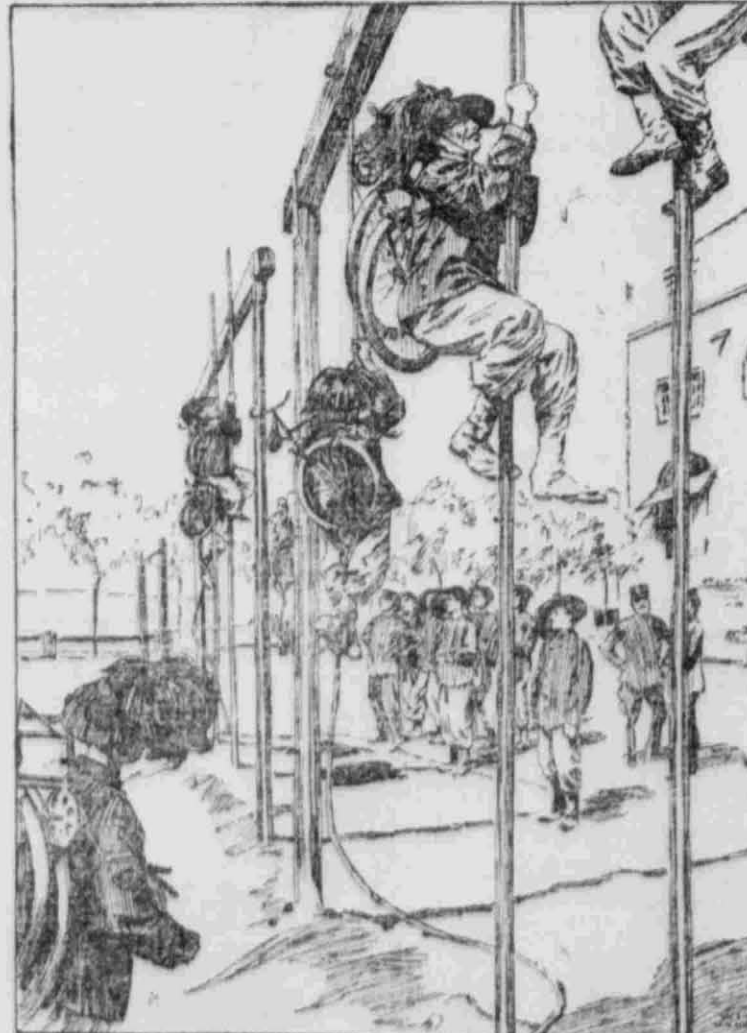

Then Capt. Webb, taking advantage of the growing interest in military affairs, decided again to organize a battery, and try to maintain it in the guard. A week ago the first meeting resulted in an enlistment of 40 men. This made a good beginning, but with a possibility of using 120 men, the enlistment rolls have been kept open for desirable applicants. Following the opening drill Monday evening, regular drills will continue through the winter.

FEEDING SCHOOL CHILDREN IN PARIS.

CLIMBING COMPETITION IN AN ITALIAN REGIMENT.

The picture shows one of the drills performed by the troops of the Italian army known as the bersaglieri. These men are the pick of King Victor Emmanuel's forces, and they are famous all over the world for their proficiency in physical feats of daring. A favorite amusement of the bersaglieri is to climb poles with their wheels along over their backs.

GRAZING ARRANGEMENTS.

Approved Regulations Are Received In Local Forest Reserve Offices.

Regulations for the grazing of cattle and sheep on the Wasatch forest reserves have received approval of the department at Washington, and Sup. E. H. Clarke has named Jan. 31, 1908, as the last day on which applications may be filed. About the same number of cattle and horses (4,500 head, sheep, 14,000), will be permitted on the reservation as last year. The cattle will graze from May 1 to Oct. 31, sheep from July 1 to Oct. 15.

Some persons with small flocks failed to get on the reserve, but they will not be slighted this season. Approvals of the Salt Lake reserve, of which Mr. Clarke is also superintendent, are expected soon.
