

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

High Council.—The members of the High Council are requested to meet in the Council House, on Friday evening, November 24th, at 7 o'clock. W. W. TAYLOR, Clerk.

The Latest Issue.—The latest issue of the Woman's Exponent is at hand. It is always a welcome visitor, and should be everywhere. It is a live journal, ably edited, and always filled with excellent material for reading. Take the Exponent.

Liberty.—A short time since Brother Ezra Clark of Farmington, presented the Deseret Hospital with a fine milk cow and calf.

To add the same institution the Young Ladies' Association of the Eighth Ward paid up their monthly contributions for the entire year and handed over the whole amount.

Deseret Hospital.—It is desired that we announce that the finance committee of this institution are requested to meet at the residence of Mrs. Sarah M. Kimball, in the 15th Ward, at 7 o'clock on Thursday evening, for the purpose of maturing plans for giving an entertainment for the benefit of the Hospital.

Case Deferred.—Samuel Noyes and Robert Price, the two men accused of assaulting and robbing O'Toole on Monday night, in the alley at the rear of the Theatre saloon, were brought before Justice Spillers today. Owing to O'Toole, who is under medical treatment at the Deseret Hospital, being still unable to appear, owing to the serious character of his injuries, the case was deferred until Monday next.

Brighton Association.—On Sunday last the Brighton Y. M. M. I. A. re-organized for the season as follows: President, C. H. Gold; Counselors, Robert Hazen, Jr., and Samuel Horenson; Secretary, J. Taylor; Treasurer, F. Cochran; Librarian, Samuel Taylor.

The Young Ladies' Association was also re-organized with the following officers: President, Camilla Schoenfeld; Counselors, Mary Cochran and Jane Lane; Secretary, Anna Gedge; Treasurer, Bell Adanson; Librarian, Edna Schoenfeld.

"Bikuben."—Today Brother A. W. Winberg of this city, left on a trip through some of the southern settlements in the interest of the Bikuben, the weekly paper issued here in the Danish language, of which he is the proprietor and publisher. The paper is published in the interest of the community at large, and this being its spirit and intent we wish Brother Winberg a successful trip. He is a respected and substantial citizen, and our friends in the country will find him a pleasant gentleman with whom to do business.

An Able Lecturer.—We learn that Mrs. Elizabeth Lisle Saxon, whose presence in the city we have previously mentioned, will deliver a lecture in the Thirteenth Ward Assembly Hall on Monday evening. The subject will be, "Women in All Reforms, Past Present and Future." Mrs. Saxon's reputation in the literary and lecture field is national, and we doubt not the hall will be packed on the occasion of the lecture. She is a lady of pronounced views on the subjects upon which she treats, and has the ability to express them with force and clearness.

Elders Returned.—The following Elders who returned from the missionary field in the Southern States on Monday night called at our office today: John Morgan, President of the Southern States Mission; W. H. Bakes, of Beaver, who left here March 6th, 1880; James W. Eardley, of this city, left November 30th, 1880; Chas. D. Hann, left November 30th, 1880; John Houston, of Fanchitch, left November 1st, 1880; John Carter, of Mount Pleasant, left October 18th, 1880; Jos. W. Thatcher, of Logan, left October 15th, 1880.

Milton Nobles and Co.—Milton Nobles and his excellent company received quite an ovation last night on the reproduction of his famous play "The Phoenix" at the Theatre. The house was packed, and continuous applause and cheering situations of that attractive and interesting drama. To-night Mr. Nobles' play of "Interviews" will be presented with a cast specially arranged to bring out the original and taking features of the piece, and those who saw it at its last performance in this city will be pleased, if they attend, with the improvements which will be noticeable. The talented author and actor appears in this play to very great advantage. There should be another big house to-night.

The Funeral.—An estimated correspondent of Grantsville forwards the following: On Sunday, the 19th inst., the funeral of Thomas Rydahl, son of Wm. C. and Jane Rydahl, took place. Many friends of the family and of the deceased were in attendance, some coming by special train from Salt Lake City. Services were held at the meeting house, and a long train of carriages followed the remains to that place. The speakers on the occasion were: Mr. Joseph Jennings, Dr. J. M. Bennett, Wm. Jeffries and H. S. Gowan, President of the State, who in turn advanced correct principles and offered such consolation to the bereaved and sorrowing family as the spirit of consolation whispered at the time. He was buried on his 30th birthday, a day which was prepared for pleasant anticipation, and in which a joyful birthday-gathering of relatives and friends was expected. But the gathering took place for an entirely different purpose. He had many good qualities, and he also had many friends, who now deeply regret his untimely end.

INTERESTING EXPERIENCE.

SOME STRIKING INCIDENTS OF MISSIONARY LIFE IN TENNESSEE.

This morning we had the pleasure of meeting Elder Robert S. Spence of Lakewood, Rich County, who returned on Monday night from a mission to the Southern States, to fulfill which he left here on the 18th of October, 1880. During the first six months of his ministry he labored most of the time alone, partly in company with Elder John R. Murdoch, on Duck River, Hickman County, Tennessee. He got along well during that period, although it was difficult to make headway, the field being an old one. He baptized five persons there.

He removed to labor on the Tennessee river, the field embracing several counties—Perry, Wayne and Decatur—associated with Elder Bateman, as published in yesterday's News. Elder Beesley, of Provo, and Elder Merrill of Richmond, entered the same part, in answer to a request from Elder Spence for more help, the field being new and very large. Persecution raged with much violence that these brethren were compelled to take to the woods, being hunted like criminals and outcasts, obtaining subsistence as best they could, at the imminent risk of losing their lives.

After consultation Elders Bateman and Merrill went to Brother B. H. Roberts, President of the Conference, who was on Duck River, to ask whether the field should be abandoned or maintained. The brethren naturally supposed the word would be to discontinue but this was a mistake, the following letter being received by Brothers Spence and Beesley:

"Hold the fort." We prayed for you last night and will continue to do so. Our faith is God will protect you. B. H. ROBERTS.

On receiving this message the Elders immediately came out of their hiding place and gave out appointments, and though followed by armed mobs and molested on every occasion, with the recommencement of preaching, baptizing began and in a short time a branch of twelve members was organized on Cedar Creek, by Elders Spence and Beesley, and in course of time the same branch has grown till it now numbers thirty.

In the meantime the exposure, in sleeping in the woods, subjecting him to damp dews, brought a severe attack of chills and fever upon Brother Beesley, until he was so reduced that Elder Roberts released him to return home. But while his health permitted, he was a valiant and indefatigable servant of God, never flinching under the most trying circumstances. In consequence of his release, Elder Bateman was again sent back to the same field to labor in conjunction with Elder Spence.

On one occasion, on Cedar Creek, Elders Spence and Beesley were engaged with a sense of danger while sleeping at the house of Mr. Miller, a member of the Church, and they left and went to another place about two miles distant. The same night an armed mob went to Mr. Miller's house and demanded "those Mormon preachers," trying, at the same time to break in the door. Mrs. Miller said she would let them in providing they would leave their fire-arms on the outside, which they agreed to do. As soon as she opened the door they rushed in, taking their arms with them. Mrs. Miller, a brave and intrepid woman, snatched the mask from the face of one of the ruffians, when he presented his pistol within an inch of her face and drew the trigger. Fortunately, however, the cap snapped and the weapon was not discharged. The mob left, and the man who was unmasked sent a message to Mr. Miller that if he divulged his name he would kill her. Next day Mrs. Miller went to Nashville and endeavored to have the U. S. Commissioner there take some action in regard to this Ku Klux outrage, but he was referred to the state officials for redress. The Ku Klux depredations are United States offences.

When Elders B. H. Roberts and D. R. Bateman went down from Duck River to Spring Creek, they were accompanied by Elder J. W. Eardley, of this city. While the mob were hunting for Elders Spence and Beesley, they fell in with Brother Eardley, whom they captured and would have killed had he not assured them that he was not laboring in that part and proposed leaving shortly. They said, however, that they purposed to kill Brothers Roberts and Bateman should they find them. On being released Brother Eardley rode to where Elders Roberts and Bateman were and warned them. They immediately started for the woods, where they lay out all night in a bed of wet leaves.

All the violent persecution culminated in five of the mobocrats being arraigned before the District Court and fined in the sum of $25 each and costs, amounting in all to $50 each, which took place in February, 1882. Since that time the opposition has been of a more moderate character, and the work made steady progress.

Elders Spence and Giddens organized a branch on Beach Creek, which now numbers about twenty members.

A very remarkable instance of healing occurred at that place. Mrs. Taylor, eighty-five years old, had been troubled with an affection of the nose for eight years. It had been generally pronounced incurable, and had commenced to eat into the face, some coming by special train from Salt Lake City. Services were held at the meeting house, and a long train of carriages followed the remains to that place. The speakers on the occasion were: Mr. Joseph Jennings, Dr. J. M. Bennett, Wm. Jeffries and H. S. Gowan, President of the State, who in turn advanced correct principles and offered such consolation to the bereaved and sorrowing family as the spirit of consolation whispered at the time. He was buried on his 30th birthday, a day which was prepared for pleasant anticipation, and in which a joyful birthday-gathering of relatives and friends was expected. But the gathering took place for an entirely different purpose. He had many good qualities, and he also had many friends, who now deeply regret his untimely end.

A VIOLENT DEATH.

A MAN DIES FROM THE EFFECTS OF A KICK FROM A MULE.

At Deseret, Millard County, on the 9th inst., while Chris. Christensen was carrying feed to one of his mules which was blind, the brute kicked him violently in the stomach. The most distressing symptoms immediately ensued, including vomiting, continuing for three days and nights, till the 12th, when the unfortunate man expired.

Deceased was a good faithful Latter-day Saint, well respected among the people. His funeral was largely attended.

We are indebted for information of the accident to Brother J. Bennett.

ECONOMICAL COW KEEPING.

Editor Deseret News: I observe that your contemporary the Herald offers a prize for an essay on the best and cheapest method of keeping a cow. Although I do not intend competing, I think I could take that premium as easily as sitting down suddenly on a slippery sidewalk on a frosty morning. My strong hold would be on the policy of cheapness. The method is not original either, as to my certain knowledge it has been practised by sundry ingenious persons in this city for several years. It exists now to a considerable extent in the southwestern part of town especially, so I am reliably informed. It is a question of considerable importance, as the point of economical stock feeding is not the only one involved. It includes the important matter of how to obtain a continuous supply of inexpensive lactated fluid.

The plan is this: For winter have a comfortable barn, in which keep your cow closely secured in the day time, with little or no food, so as to have her appetite as keen as at razor, that her feeding may be done almost exclusively at night. Look about and see which of your neighbors has the best stock of lucern or hay. After dark, in the still hours, when your neighbor is unsuspectingly reading the Evening News, or engaged in some other commendable pursuit, let down the bars of his barn or open his gate and let your cow into his lot. The rest may be left to her instincts, unless similar to her own. There being no consumption of food, but only those of lucern or hay will soon find your neighbor's hay pile. Be sure and take her out of the barn and into your barn before your neighbor gets up in the morning and put on an innocent look during the day.

This plan can be operated at any season for when your neighbor has no hay for lucern, your cow can go after his garden stuff, and thus you can have inexpensive milk all the year round.

It is true that while you are thus enabled to keep a cow with right economy, you will be haunted by the knowledge that you are a miser, a contemptible, dishonest, hypocritical knave, but this will be new information to you, because if you had never done anything else you would never do anything else than place a bar at your own expense in place of that of your neighbor.

EL. CONOMY.

Salt Lake City, November 17th, 1882.

Change of Time.—The 21st Ward M. I. A. has changed the night of holding meeting from Tuesday to Wednesday evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

Reward Offered.—Superintendent John Sharp offers a reward of $200 for evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who, on the 20th instant, fully placed upon the track of the Utah Central Railroad, near Morgan Station, an iron bar, for the evident purpose of wrecking the train. It is thought the miscreants who did the diabolical deed were tramps.

The Missing U. P. Conductor.—A party of ten, organized by Ike Miller and Bill Daley, left Rawlins on Tuesday morning to hunt for the body of Conductor Peck who was lost in the snowstorm of last Friday. The Union Pacific Railway furnished them with a caboose and box car for the horses, and the party proceeded as far as Oregon by rail. They hunted diligently for two days but found no trace of the lost man. The country where he had been seen is very rough and it is very doubtful if the body is ever found, certainly not until spring. The snow there at present is over a foot deep on the level, and in many places it is drifted to the depth of from eight to ten feet.—Reynolds Journal.
