Johnson of this city. About 80 guests were present to offer congratulations and best wishes to the happy young couple. The

THIS SHOULDER SCARF HAS A MARABOUT HOOD.

Here is a novelty in evening headwear which is considered one of the most attractive in its line that has been brought over from Paris this season. The shoulder scarf of chiffon cloth in its full width is about two yards long and bordered all around with marabout, white in this instance, the chiffon being white also. There is a double box pleat in the center back which gives a graceful fulness at this point, and to the top of it is attached the novel cap or hood of marabout. These combination hood-scarfs come in all the delicate pastel shades of plain chiffon and also the printed weaves with the white marabout.

The bride was attired in a pretty gown of white silk. An elaborate wedding supper was served, and many beautiful presents were received. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside in this city.

Mrs. Joseph Beck, assisted by Mrs. Edith Martin and Miss Frances Adams, entertained Tuesday afternoon in honor of the Sorosis club. The rooms were beautifully decorated with American Beauties, narcissus, carnations and potted plants. The game was called "An Art Exhibit." Prizes were won by Mrs. R. E. Allen and Mrs. William M. Roylance. An elaborate luncheon was served.

Utah Sorosis met Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Dora D. Irvine. Papers were given by Miss Vio Sorensen on "Free-bell, the Educator," and Mrs. Margaret Clift on "Harvest Festivals." The first paper was followed by a general discussion on the subject.

EUREKA.

The Mutual Improvement societies of the L. D. S. Church conducted a very enjoyable social at the church Friday evening of last week. All the numbers on the program were beautifully rendered and deeply applauded.

The public schools closed Friday afternoon of this week and will not reopen until Jan. 9, thus giving the pupils and teachers the usual vacation of two weeks.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and their families will enjoy a social session in the Odd Fellows hall on the evening of Jan. 1. The program of the evening will include a number of musical selections, dancing and a banquet. H. F. Gear has charge of the arranging of the program, and John Iven is chairman of the general committee. A NOVELTY IN OSTRICH HEADDRESS.

With such charming novelties as this in headdressing it is to be wondered at that ostrich effects are once more to know a popular vogue? Ostrich hair ornaments have been practically dead since the dignified Prince of Wales tips fell into disuse some years ago. There is a fancy this season for matching these ostrich ornaments not to the costume but the coiffure, and the effect while unusual, to say the least, is nevertheless, very attractive. This idea is perhaps the prettiest seen. It may be worn with equal satisfaction with the low parted coiffure, or the softly waved, high knot arrangement. This particular dressing is in two shades of rich golden brown, both of which complement tones in the wearer's hair.

thorough heating, food to be cooked (steamed or boiled) is placed inside the box, sealed, and left for a sufficient time, when it is opened, and the food, cooked by the retained heat, is ready to serve.

Recently a company here has improved upon the apparatus and produced a fireless stove that not only cooks, but fries and roasts. Profiting by past failures and successes the company has perfected a cooker that, although on the market but a year, has already proved very popular. Frying and roasting are accomplished in the new cooker by the use of a heated stone. The stone is thoroughly heated in an oven, over gas or any fire, and placed in the cooker with the steak or roast. The box is sealed up and left for an hour or so, as required, then opened, and the food is fully prepared and hot. In the double boxes all three processes may proceed at one time without care or difficulty.

The owners of the patents on this latest apparatus claim that the sales in the coming year will exceed 50,000 cookers in Germany and Switzerland. [A copy of the cookbook issued by the fireless stove company, which accompanied Deputy Consul-General Dye's report, is on file in the bureau of manufacturers, where it may be consulted by parties interested.]

One fancy in outer accessories is worth mentioning here. There is now an etiquette of the pocketbook. Fashion's latest fad is that the purse or pocketbook must retire with the noon hour, since it is chiefly designed for shopping or marketing purposes. After the morning duties it must give way to the headed or metal chain reticle, new one of the most costly items in the fashionable woman's outfit. This must be large enough to hold card case, change purse, and handkerchief, and as costly as the owner's income will allow.

All the new corsets are long, close-fitting sheaths, says Mrs. H. B. Bagg, speaking with its customary authority, and the number of stocking-supporters with which the latest makes are being supplied has increased to four or six, attached at intervals all around the corset in order to distribute the pull on the hosiery evenly, and to prevent the least riding of the corset. The newest corset form is that having a front lacing in place of the ordinary hooked steels. Like all the others, it is very long, and is particularly designed for the princess dress forms, having what is described as a sculptured back. This means that it is moulded in such a way as to make a change of shape in the back impossible.

The different wedding anniversaries are: First, cotton; second, paper; third, leather; fifth, wooden; seventh, woolen; tenth, tin; twelfth, silk and fine linen; fifteenth, crystal; twentieth, china; twenty-fifth, silver; thirtieth, pearl; fortieth, ruby; fiftieth, golden; seventy-fifth, diamond.

To bake potatoes quickly, put them on an asbestos lid; cover with a saucpan and bake on the top of the stove.

To clean bottles or vases put rice in them and shake well.

Minners are not like clothes; it's a bad thing to have two suits of them, one for best, and one for every-day. Wear your best minner all the time; they suffer more by being put away than by constant use. If you keep your best minners for company, they will fit you ill, and your visitor will suspect they were put away for him. Wear your second-best clothes at home if you will, not your second-best minners. To whom, in heaven's name, is it worth while to be courteous if not to the people you love best?

One of the most curious of the season's fantastic developments is the adoption of deep cuffs or rather the necks of evening gowns. The ruff collar, just closing about the neck and formed of row upon row of tulle, closely pleated, has been growing deeper and fuller for months. Now, four or five inch ruffling is fitted into the décolletage of the evening gown. These ruffings are the nearest approach to Elizabeth's famous ruffs that have been attempted in many years. The style appears to have but one excuse or real use, namely, the hiding of some physical defect.

EVERY WOMAN HOPES

For a home of her own some day. A place that she may take a pride in. Knowing that every new idea which she may carry out will not have to be given up when the landlord raises the rent. Most every woman too, wants to be in the nicest residence district in town, east of Main street and on the North Bench if possible.

We have in the beautiful homes we have built on Ninth avenue a number of ideal places where the family of modest means may be comfortable in its own house, for on terms of long time payments, which will equal no more than rent, these houses are for sale. They are brand new, thoroughly modern and cheaper than they will be in the spring. Before seeing us about them call at 418 C street and get the keys to make an inspection.

FUR AND FEATHERS TRIM VELVET CHAPEAUX.

Sailor shapes are general favorites in the winter's millinery. Brims are slightly narrower than those of summer shapes, and crowns while about the same height are somewhat smaller. Trimmings too are different. Instead of the huge ribbon bow surrounding the front trim of semi-tailored effects, huge wings and beautiful birds are set at smart angles on the front and sides of crowns, and in the dressier models ostrich feathers are the trimming par excellence.

The pictured sailor shape is of a rich dark blue velvet. The crown is encircled with a mink skin, and at the right side, its quill caught beneath a large tortoise shell cabochon, is a single fluffy ostrich feather in two shades of brown, which curls down over the back brim to the wearer's neck. A shallow bandeau raises the shape over so slightly and becomingly from the head, and this is trimmed with bits of fur and ruchings of brown maline.
