

OGDEN.

Ogden, Utah, May 14, 1865.

Junction City News.
The great joy of the Earth is that man is possessed.

Saturday night's frost did some damage to gardens in the bottom lands.

Some rods of mercury by the thermometer were taken from the house and placed in the sun to see what would happen.

Marriage services were held at James A. Dyer's and Eliza H. Ogden's home, 12th and Main Sts., Young, Utah, on Saturday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dyer, weighing about 7 lbs. It was named after Mr. Dyer, "Dyer." He is a healthy, strong little boy, playing with enthusiasm.

Samuel W. J. Superintendent of Railroads, W. & S. and Union, South Ogden, and George W. Smith, the Surveyor, were here, — G. W. Smith having been engaged in the construction of the Union Pacific.

G. A. Anderson, a naturalist, professor and Palaeontologist, was on the Standard Pacific road surveying.

In the rear of the building.

The small entertainment given by Mr. Dyer and his wife, and children, was well received by the audience.
