

SERVICES AT THE TABERNACLE.

Interesting Addresses by Elders
Andrew Jensen and Joshua
H. Paul.

DIVINITY OF "MORMONISM."

Proof That the Apostasy Was Universal and That There Was Need of A Restoration.

The services at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon were unusually well attended and the speakers were Elders Andrew Jensen and Joshua H. Paul, who related interesting items of their experience and pointed out the difference between the religion of the Latter-day Saints and that which is believed by the Christian world.

The choir sang the hymn:
"Behold the mountain of the Lord,
In latter days shall rise."

Prayer was offered by Elder Samuel J. Sudbury.
The choir sang the anthem:
"O come and let us sing unto the Lord."

Elder Andrew Jensen was the first speaker. He said he had had many opportunities of addressing the Saints in many lands, but in none of them did he feel the timidity which characterized his efforts here at home.

Speaking of his missionary career, Elder Jensen said he commenced it in his native land and had continued it more or less ever since. He had had occasion to visit the (Cape) and the promises of God to His children and had learned that He was the same in all lands and was ever ready to bless and benefit those who would follow in humble submission to His will. The experience of the Latter-day Saints was that God was the same yesterday, today and forever, and that whenever mankind showed a willingness to serve Him, He was ready to open up the way and overcome all obstacles in their behalf.

Elder Jensen spoke of his travels in the old world, and particularly those with reference to the Holy Land. He said he was somewhat skeptical with regard to the exact location of the many important points of interest to be seen there, despite the fact that he was an implicit believer in the mission of Jesus Christ and in the incidents connected therewith as recorded in Holy writ. When being shown the points of interest, he was wont to associate them with similar points of interest in this land, calling attention to the fact that in the new world there were also places which were just as sacred, perhaps, as those in Palestine. The Hill Cumorah was one of these sacred spots, the hill which held the plates from which the Book of Mormon was translated.

The speaker referred to the many conflicting creeds and denominations of the day, and traced the history of the apostasy, pointing out conclusively that it was universal, and that as John Wesley had said, the Christians had turned heathen again and had only a dead form left. They teach for doctrine, said the speaker, the commandments of men, having a form of godliness but deny the power thereof. The speaker traced the conditions leading up to the session from the Roman church in different parts of the earth, and then took up the reformation led by such men as Martin Luther, John Wesley, Philip Melancthon, John Knox and many others, who had organized churches suitable to the conditions surrounding them. He had found in his travels a peculiar state of affairs religiously, particularly in Palestine, where the Jews and Mohammedans hated the name, "Christian," regarding the religious sects of the day as innovations upon the system originally introduced.

Elder Jensen pleaded for greater unity and felt that the Latter-day Saints should be exemplary in this respect. It was never intended that the world should be divided and sub-divided as they are today, but rather that there should be a unity of the faith, all seeing and believing the same things. He spoke of "Mormonism" as the pure word of God and said that it was same in all parts of the earth, all who embraced it being moved by the same spirit and speaking and believing the same things. Such was the message brought forth by the Prophet Joseph Smith. It was the word of God, delivered to an untutored youth, and carried with it the gifts and blessings characteristic of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It had come to us through a divine channel and differed from the religions of the day in this particular.

The speaker bore a fervent testimony

BRAIN FOOD

Is of Little Benefit Unless It is Digested.
Nearly everyone will admit that as a nation we eat too much meat and too little of vegetables and the grains. For business men, office men and clerks, and in fact, everyone engaged in sedentary or indoor occupations, grains, milk and vegetables are much more healthful.

Only men engaged in a severe outdoor manual labor can live on a heavy meat diet and continue in health. As a general rule, meat once a day is sufficient for all classes of men, women and children, and grains, milk and vegetables should constitute the bulk of food eaten.

People who make a daily practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal are sure to have perfect digestion which means perfect health.

These are no danger of forming an injurious habit as the tablets contain absolutely nothing but natural digestive: coacine, morphine and similar drugs have no place in a stomach medicine and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are certainly the best known and most popular of all stomach remedies.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and after a week's use note the improvement in health, appetite and nervous energy.

of the Gospel, and said that his experience in the Church has only tended to strengthen his knowledge of the work of God.

Elder Joshua H. Paul next spoke. He referred to the testimony of Elder Jensen and said that through it all there ran an argument which could not well be misunderstood or gainst. The tendency of men's minds had a great bearing on their religious belief, hence the organization of churches to suit the different conditions of mankind. But the Gospel of Jesus Christ made no such allowance. It was truth itself and inasmuch as it was only through this channel that mankind could be saved, the requirement was that they conform their lives to its principles.

Elder Paul said he knew that the Latter-day Saints were engaged in the work of God, for the Spirit had borne witness unto his spirit that Jesus Christ was come in the flesh, and that indeed, He was the Redeemer of mankind. This was the key through which men could know the Lord, for the adversary would never bear this witness, as it was not a part of his mission.

Elder Paul referred to the study of the writings of Ralph Waldo Emerson, and his utterance of religious revolution. Emerson was not orthodox, for he saw very little in the religious standards of his time, yet his writings revealed his belief in a Higher Power, in an Infinite Spirit, which he recommended as a guide to men.

The choir and congregation sang the hymn, "Now let us rejoice in the day of salvation," and the benediction was pronounced by Bishop William Thorn.

WIFE ASSAULTS HUSBAND.

Stabs Him With a Knife While Asleep
In a Rooming House.

A family quarrel over the charge that another woman was enjoying the affections of her husband, led Mrs. J. W. Criger to make a vicious and murderous assault upon her husband at an Eagle roominghouse yesterday morning. It is said that when the woman went to her husband's room, she expected to find a rival there, but instead she found a male friend in the room. Criger, who was sleeping peacefully, little dreaming of the danger that threatened him. The fact that no other woman was present did not deter Mrs. Criger from committing a rash act, and she started at her surprised spouse several times with a penknife, inflicting many painful though not serious wounds.

The woman called a messenger boy and had him knock at the door of her husband's room. The friend who was sleeping with Criger answered the summons and opened the door. The woman quickly entered and arousing her husband by his slumbers, demanded an explanation instantly. Criger said he would explain if she would put the knife away but Mrs. Criger began stabbing viciously. The friend then interfered and a hurry up call was sent to police headquarters. Sergt. Roberts and Officer Williams responded to the call and placed the woman under arrest on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Later she was released upon her husband furnishing $250 bonds. It is doubtful if the case against her will be prosecuted.

The Criger woman has been working at the Novelty theater in a vaudeville act. The couple had from Butte where they had a row several weeks ago and agreed to disagree. They have one child which is the possession of the woman. Neither Criger or his wife cared to discuss the affair.

BUILDERS ACTIVE.

Open Winter is Being Taken Advantage of by Contractors.

Considerable activity continues in local building circles, and with the ruling of moderately high temperatures in the past few days, contractors are hoping that there will be open winter until Christmas or January, which will be of great help to them in completing important jobs. The top story of the Holmes apartment house has been completed as far as the brick work is concerned, and the roofing is being hurried. Marked progress has been made on the Presbyterian church and the roof can be placed on the Catholic cathedral as soon as it arrives. At the Federal building, 25,000 cubic feet of stone have been laid, leaving about 15,000 more to be laid to finish up the stone work. Construction will be pushed all winter at Fort Douglas, and work is liable to begin any day on the Y. M. C. A. building.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Building permits issued during the week ending Nov. 21 were:
Y. M. C. association, corner State and First streets, brick, $40,000
Salem Hotel, corner State and Third streets, frame barn $80
State Bank, Utah, 63 east First South street, iron, $100

"DOC" KING DEAD.

Salt Laker Dies of Consumption in California—Remains Cremated.

A well known Salt Lake man is gone in the death at Alameda of E. A. King, familiarly known as "Doc," at the age of 55. He has been sick for two years with consumption, and a few months ago removed to California, where he hoped to improve. An operation became necessary recently and from the effects of which the unfortunate man was unable to rally. King was a resident of this city for over 30 years, and was well liked. His father was a sea captain, sailing out of San Francisco, but the son had no special liking for the ocean, and removing in the early days to Salt Lake, was given the position of guard at the Bee Hive house under President Young. King got his medical title from having seen an assistant in the office of the late Dr. J. M. Bennett, who was also sergeant-at-arms in the state senate three years ago. The deceased leaves his mother and two sisters, all in California. The remains will be cremated.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Ruth Kirkpatrick will entertain informally this evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Marshall.

Miss Emma Ramsey is the guest of Miss Jennie Sand.

Miss Letta McMillan will entertain at luncheon tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Tripp left today for California, where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Steffer leave next week for an eastern trip.

Mrs. E. F. Holmes will resume her Fridays at home this week.

Last Wednesday, Mercier, Miss Annie L. Edmunds of that place and Julian Hardie of this city were married, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride, and a pretty reception followed. The bride was attended by Miss Nellie Vick, and Walter Christianson of Fremont, Nev., was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Hardie left on Wednesday night for an eastern trip, after which they will return to Mercier to reside.

COULDN'T FOOL HIM

Doctor Was Firm and Was Right.
Many doctors forbid their patients to drink coffee but the patients still drink it on the sly and thus spoil all the doctor's efforts and keep themselves sick. Sometimes the doctor makes sure that the patient is not drinking coffee and there was a case of that kind in St. Paul where a business man said:

"After a very severe illness last winter which almost caused my death the doctor said Postum Food Coffee was the only thing that I could drink and he just made me quit coffee and drink Postum. My illness was caused by indigestion from the use of tea and coffee."

"The state of my stomach was so bad that it became terribly inflamed and finally resulted in a rupture. I had not drunk Postum very long before my lost blood was restored and my stomach was well and strong and I have now been using Postum for almost a year. When I got up from bed after my illness I weighed 85 pounds and now my weight is 120."

"There is no doubt that Postum was the reason for this wonderful improvement and I shall never go back to tea or coffee but shall always stick to the food drink that brought me back to health and strength." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

DASTARDLY OUTRAGE AT CRIPPLE CREEK.

An Internal Machine Made of Dynamite Exploded on Sixth
Level of the Vindicator Mine.

SUPT. AND SHIFT BOSS KILLED.

Was a Deliberate Attempt to Wreck
The Shaft—Miners' Federation
Blamed for It.

Cripple Creek, Colo., Nov. 22.—Sheriff Henry Robertson, after investigating conditions in the sixth level of the Vindicator mine, where Supt. Charles McCormick and Shift Boss Melvin Beck were killed yesterday by an explosion, coincided with the statement of the officials of the Vindicator company that a deliberate attempt had been made to wreck the shaft with dynamite. The executive committee of the Miners' and Operators' association has offered a reward of $5,000 for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the perpetrators of the crime. In a published statement the committee says:

"The killing of Supt. McCormick and Melvin Beck of the Vindicator mine was one of the most diabolical crimes of Colorado, and is another step in the trail of blood which has been made by the Western Federation of Miners in this state.

"The time has come for selecting fine terms in which to speak of these matters, and we do not hesitate to say that this crime was devised and executed by the inner circle of this organization."

"This statement is made only after a careful investigation of the facts, which show conclusively that these men met and planned a scheme so cunningly devised and so carefully executed as to tax the ingenuity of the most experienced criminal. Of late the district has been filling up with this class of men who openly boast of what they propose to do. Not a single circumstance surrounding this crime is compatible with the theory of accident, and with any other theory than that of premeditated murder."

The district executive committee of the Western Federation of Miners characterizes the explosion as a "lamentable accident regretted by all," and adds:

THE MINERS' SIDE.

"But prejudiced individuals who rarely know anything of what they talk about have already passed judgment on the explosion as a cold-blooded murder. Experience teaches, however, that these people are not above making capital out of any public misfortune."

GOVERNOR TAKES ACTION.

In consequence of this outrage Gov. Peabody has reinstated Adjt.-Gen. Sherman M. Bell, in command of the militia force in this camp, succeeding Col. Edward Vedecksbu, who has been in command since Bell's retirement at the close of the court-martial trial of Gen. John Chase.

The military authorities at various hours today, by order of Gen. Bell, who is now in supreme command of all the troops in the Cripple Creek district, made the following arrests in connection with the plot to destroy the Vindicator mine on Bull Hill:

Charles G. Kennison, W. B. Easterly, W. F. Davis, John Schoedler, Gus Johnson, J. H. Isbell, Bob Rowland, Victor Cable, Harry Williams, for plotting to blow up the Vindicator mine, and Kennison and Davis are also members of that committee. Nearly all of the miners are members of the Miners' union, and are charged either directly or indirectly as accessories to blowing up the mine. No additional evidence has been secured, or at least enough to reduce it to a number in which the explosion took place at the 600 foot level in the Vindicator mine.

STILL IN JAIL.

Telluride, Colo., Nov. 22.—Charles John Yorty, Dominick Bertotti, Sam Pignali and Charles Babos, union pickets arrested last night, are still in the county jail, but it is probable they will be able to give bonds for their appearance some time tomorrow. The officials and members of the Miners' union are much incensed over the arrest and claim the action taken by the deputy sheriff was wholly uncalled for, and that the entire proceeding was a movement on the part of the mine managers to force the union to cease placing pickets near the mining properties.

MITCHELL'S COMMENT.

Boston, Nov. 22.—"In times of popular excitement, incident to a bitter strike, accidents pure and simple are often alleged to be the work of strikers," said John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, when shown the dispatch from Cripple Creek, Colo., relative to the explosion at the Vindicator mine. He added:

"I do not care to comment further on the charges of the operators and I know more of the details of the case. The Western Federation of Miners is affiliated neither with the American Federation of Labor nor with the United Mine Workers, but is a rival of the latter organization."

AN INFERNAL PLOT.

Mine Superintendent and Miner Instantly Killed.

Cripple Creek, Colo., Nov. 21.—Charles McCormick, superintendent of the Vindicator mine, and Melvin H. Beck, a miner, were killed shortly before noon today by an explosion on the sixth level of the Vindicator mine.

ONLY PASSENGERS.

The explosion occurred while Supt. McCormick and Miner Beck were descending into the mine on the cage. They were the only passengers. Just as the cage reached the sixth level the explosion occurred. It wrecked the level, cage and shaft at the point and instantly killed both men. The explosion was heard at the surface and the engineer hastily reversed the hoist, but could not pull up the cage.

The bodies of McCormick and Beck were recovered and brought to the surface through the second compartment of the shaft this afternoon. It is believed others were killed or injured.

AN INFERNAL MACHINE.

It is positively asserted by officers of the Vindicator Mining company that the explosion was caused by an infernal machine. This machine was made after a thorough examination had been made of the shaft. The infernal chine, containing many pounds of dynamite, was placed in the sixth level, which is part of the abandoned revolver mine, within a few inches of the shaft. Then a loaded revolver was fired in the shaft and its muzzle pointing directly toward the infernal machine.

PISTOL FIRED DYNAMITE.

To the trigger of the revolver was attached a string, which was thrown across the shaft in such a manner that when the cage came down and encountered the string the revolver would explode, the bullet striking the infernal machine. Pieces of this revolver have been recovered from the bottom of the shaft, but not a vestige of the infernal machine can be found.

Maj. Naylor and a detail of soldiers were dispatched from Camp Goldfield to the mine and took charge of the property. No one is allowed to approach the mine and no one is permitted to leave. Supt. McCormick was one of the best known mining men in the Cripple Creek district.

TROOPS ORDERED TO MINE.

After receiving news of the explosion Gov. Peabody ordered the troops in Cripple Creek, who were to proceed to Telluride tonight, to remain in Cripple Creek. The force now there numbers nearly 400 men.

A HONANZA IN ANY HOME.

Hard Times Book.

In all parts of the world there always have been and still are found certain persons, known and called by nature, who have discovered and found how to use simple home remedies for all the ills of the flesh. Some of these persons become very expert in the cure of disease. These "experts" are generally natives, though not always, or mothers of large families, who have acquired skill by long experience.

The fact had often been expressed that if some one would take the trouble to bring together from all over this and other countries all of these simple remedies and the method of applying them, he would certainly be making a boon equal to any invention of any age, one the value of which could hardly be estimated in dollars and cents.

To do this of course would involve immense labor and much expense, which naturally would deter almost anyone from making the attempt.

It however remained for the publisher of a book known as "Vitality" to undertake this herculean task, by bringing out a book under this title. In 1865 they began their labors. After gleaning this country and Europe they found in Japan remedies that were regarded of extraordinary value, and the Japanese method of applying them made these simple remedies still more valuable. After more than 30 years of gleaning they have finally given to the world "Vitality" a volume whose practical value can hardly be measured by money. In fact it must prove a "bonanza" in any home.

"Hard Times Book" for there is scarcely a family in this land to whom it would not prove a saving of many dollars each year during their whole lives. The more needy a family is, or the harder the times are, the more valuable this book is to them.

The value of this book lies not alone in saving money, and saving suffering and often life itself; there is another consideration that is of no less importance, for it will be the means of preventing people from taking drugs into an unknown stomach to produce an unknown effect.

Drugs generally leave a deposit in the body that weakens or injures it for the rest of life. We often take medicine and think that the medicine cures us. Yet we get well in spite of the medicine.

The following is a pertinent paragraph from the writings of the late Dr. R. P. Clayton: "No greater imposition could be practised on the people than to foist upon them the so-called Family Doctor Books found in almost every home, that advise drug remedies which only a trained physician is capable of prescribing. If some one would bring out a book of Home Remedies, regular grandmothers' remedies, he would have something that would be a blessing in every home."

The literary division of this book is, too, of special importance, as every part of it is of actual remedial value to the reader.—Morning Chronicle.

BUSINESS IN LONDON.

Better, and Attributed in Large Measure to Panama Revolution

London, Nov. 22.—The unexpectedly brisk revival of business on the stock exchange during the past week is attributed in large measure to the revolution on the isthmus of Panama and the recognition of the new republic, as well as the signing of the canal treaty by the United States secretary of state and the Panama minister at Washington.

It is believed that the $40,000,000 appropriated for the purchase of the canal territory will be temporarily employed in New York and will ease the money market there. The revival in business has also been assisted by the better outlook in South Africa, based on the issuance of the blue book containing the report of Henry Birchenough, who was sent as a special commissioner to inquire into the present conditions and prospects of British trade in that country, and who declared that the export to which South Africa has come to the front as a great market for the exportation of British manufactures is "almost startling."

The revival is further grounded on the report of the South African Labor commission, which confirms the necessity of procuring labor abroad, and which is regarded indirectly as favoring the introduction of Asiatic labor. Altogether the chances of a general upturn movement are considered as very favorable. Americans displayed the greatest strength in the foreign market, which is still doubtful concerning the Russian situation. The demand for Colombian fluctuates rapidly and closed at 19 1/2.
