Their report will, of course be anxiously looked for here as we all feel that a live mine so close to town would be the building up of the town in quick order.

Yesterday was ward conference here and the usual crowd was here all with us, and we had a real good and refreshing time. The general and local officers of the Church were all present and sustained. President Robson and his counselors were the principal speakers. The purpose is understood to be to test the validity of the State law, and a hard fight is to prospect. The Utah sheepmen have declared very heavily upon Idaho ranges and desire to drive their flocks into this State without restrictions. They have done so in the past and will make a determined effort to continue notwithstanding any injured condition of their sheep.—The Statesman.

PROFITS ON RUSSIAN ENTERPRISES

Forms.

To show how great are the profits enjoyed by Russian enterprises, I may refer to the Pusoff Distilling company, which, in the period 1886-1896, received as profit on the capital 40 per cent, 40 per cent, 40 per cent, and even 100 per cent. Payment of dividends of 20 per cent on the capital is usual in Russia, as, for example, in the cotton trade, or the Tiraspol, the Kursk Morozoff, and other companies. Even the Government enterprises pay 40 per cent, and some 50 per cent, so that in two or three years the Government gets back the whole capital expended in the form of profits on the capital thereafter. It is perfectly comprehensible that, as a rule, the Russian capitalist is unwilling to secure the Chinese market for Russian wares, nor manufacturers, Sergius Lewis, M. P., has been sent, as even the organ of the ministry of Finance recently remarked in connection with the Russian cotton manufacturers' trouble, "Industries about foreign markets, when they have no good or market at home." In short, excessive protection has created among our manufacturing classes a peculiar mentality, which I term "hyperbolic of profits."

The government during the last three years has done much to help the oil industry in the shape of a 10 per cent reduction in railway rates, long terms of payment, etc. But it is now in connection with the millions contributed by the government treasury for the benefit of the Baku fields, that the desire have not established a steamlong-distance vessel or tank-steamer, but that the Russian oil kings have established their own warehouses or agents at the chief points of trade in Russian towns and abroad. The government went to enrich the profits of the producers and their foreign commissionaires without any benefit to the consumer. As a result of the expensive profits received by the oil-producers, the latter do not trouble to organize a better business by endeavoring to increase the use of oil, or to improve the methods of burning it, but all their attention chiefly to the reduction of petroleum waste, and, thanks to the low rates of railway transportation, sanctioned by the government for the purpose of developing the oil industry, petroleum waste is rewarding out fuel in the area of the coal-bearing Don basin! Having an eye to the matter of business, I lately in the saving of millions without any effort, our oil-producers are completely indifferent to the wants of foreign markets.—The Industrial Development of Russia, by Prof. Ivan Ozerof, in the April Forum.
