

MONUMENT TO JACK DEMPSEY

Pugilists to Give Boxing Exhibition For Sweet Charity.

SPORTSMEN REMEMBER HIM.

Deceased Athlete Holds Warm Place in the Hearts of All Who Were Acquainted With Him.

"Billy" Madden who is here with Gus Ruhlin, says that just after the big fight in San Francisco, a little over a week ago, a movement was started by Tim McGraw, Harry Corbett and himself to take up a subscription among sporting men all over the country for the purpose of erecting a monument over the grave of the late Jack Dempsey, probably the greatest middle weight fighter the world ever saw. Shortly after Dempsey was laid to rest in Portland, his wife died leaving their two little girls alone in the world. It is the intention of those who are behind the project to see that the children are educated and properly cared for. Madden says the matter came about in this way: A night or two after the championship battle, Harry Corbett, who was a personal friend of Dempsey's, received a basket of flowers and a card bearing the inscription that the flowers were in memory of Dempsey. When he learned of it, he suggested that a subscription be taken up for the purpose already explained. Corbett and McGraw were heartily in favor of the scheme and Corbett was chosen to receive subscriptions. It was agreed that no one would be allowed to subscribe more than five dollars. Madden donated the first five dollars. Corbett and McGraw then each subscribed that amount and shortly after the news was spread among the sporting fraternity, Corbett had quite a neat little sum in his possession.

It was decided that at the end of each week the names of the subscribers would be published in the leading papers of the West. Madden says that it is his intention to give exhibitions throughout the East for the benefit of the monument fund. Dempsey, though a middleweight fighter, took on anybody who cared to meet him. He posted a forfeit of $1,000 that John L. Sullivan could not put him out in ten rounds. Madden says that after his best fighting days were over he met Fitzsimmons and it took the latter three rounds to test him.

Among the heavyweights he met and defeated were Pete McCoy, McCaffery, Dave Campbell, George La Blanche and Jack Burke. In speaking of the boxing exhibition billed for tonight between Ruhlin and Burns, Madden said that Burns was enough for Ruhlin in one night and that Gus would not go on with Chisley.

RUHLIN-BURNS TONIGHT.

Akron Giant Will Box Six Rounds With Local Heavyweight.

Gus Ruhlin, the "Akron Giant," will be seen in the ring here for the first time this evening, when he will go six rounds with Jimmy Burns at the Salt Lake athletic club rooms.

There are to be two preliminaries of four rounds each. Phil Green, the young champion of Butte, and "Kid" Meyers will go first, and Roy Condie will box with Jim Francis. Madden and Ruhlin expect to leave here tomorrow for the East. They will stop at Denver, and in Kansas City may get a match with Tommy Ryan. From there they will go on to Chicago and New York.

Ruhlin intends to rest a few weeks and then take on any of the heavyweights to care to meet him.

PLAYED A TIE GAME.

Collegiate Institute Team Surprises the High School Eleven.

A fairly good sized crowd of High school and Collegiate students witnessed their way down to the gridiron Saturday afternoon to witness the game between the teams representing the two institutions. The crowd looked in point of numbers was more than made up for by enthusiasm.

The High school contingent was handed out a big surprise by the pluck, courage and speed displayed by the Collegiate. Not only did they hold the High school and prevent them from scoring but they played a decidedly aggressive game from the sound of the whistle until the time keepers yelled "time!"

The outlook for the Collegiate looked very slim and discouraging during the first five minutes of play. The High school got the ball in the back and the way they went through the enemy's line caused many to lose heart and predict an overwhelming defeat for the Collegiate. In five rushes the High school aggregation had the pig skin within easy striking distance of the other side's goal, but the Collegiate made a determined stand and the ball went over. Making but little headway under the pressure, the Collegiate punted to their twenty-yard line and then beat the High school on three downs. The ball went over and Sexton made a hair raising sprint around right end for a gain of twenty yards.

The teams settled down to hard fighting and it was a battle royal from then on. First the Collegiate and then the High school was held for downs. The ball was rushed forward several yards and just as the situation was changing for a touchdown a fumble or a misplay would throw it back again. The High school had no less than three splendid opportunities for scoring but fumbles spoiled the chances.

Following was the line-up and officials:

OUTSIDE EVENTS.

DESARLES CONDITION.

Football Player Injured Saturday Still in the Hospital.

Boston, Nov. 25.—John L. Desaulles, the quarterback of the Yale team, who was injured in making a flying tackle of Marshall in the game Saturday, is still at the Massachusetts general hospital. The hospital physicians say that Desaulles' condition is satisfactory and with continued improvement he will return to New Haven today. There is scarcely an end to the inquiries as to Desaulles' condition, especially from Harvard, where his plucky effort, which stopped another score is looked upon as heroic.

ENGLISH TEAM ENTERS.

Hall and McLaren Will Compete in the Six Day Race.

New York, Nov. 25.—Hall & McLaren, the famous long distance cyclists of England, who are the latest team of foreign riders to enter the coming international six-day bicycle race at Madison Square garden, will arrive on the Kronz Prinz Wilhelm der Grosse Wednesday morning, accompanied by Floyd McFarland, who has been in Europe for the past two months selecting the best cyclists to compete in New York's annual event.

When the Englishmen reach here they will be taken on an end to Berkeley oval, where the remainder of the foreign contingent are now quartered under the care of John West, the well known trainer of long distance champions.

DIRECTUM TO BE SOLD.

Once King of Trotters Disposed of Under the Hammer This Week.

New York, Nov. 25.—Directum, for years the king of trotting stallions, will pass under the auctioneer's hammer this week at the Fasig-Tipton sale which begins tonight in Madison Square garden. He belongs to the estate of the late W. E. Spier. As a race horse he was probably never had a superior. His record of 2:05 1/4, made in a race as a four-year-old in 1893, was considered extremely remarkable at that time. In his three and four year old form he met all the horses of any note training in America and defeated them.

Cannot Receive Pay.

New York, Nov. 25.—The amateur athletic union has decreed "That any man who receives pay for officiating at athletic games shall not be eligible for registration."

Mr. Steil, chairman of the registration committee, has been ordered to refuse the applications for registration of paid officials. Referees of basketball, who accept money for services rendered will share a like fate.

SUPREME COURT OPINIONS.

Lower Courts Are Affirmed in Two Suits—Important Mining Case.

Blyth & Fargo Co. vs. Julian C. Houtz, R. M. Forncrook, Geo. H. Miles and C. Rathburn, Appellants.

The supreme court has handed down two important opinions.

In the case of the Blyth & Fargo company vs. Julian C. Houtz, R. M. Forncrook, George M. Miles and Charles Rathburn, appellants, the court affirms the decision of the lower court. The opinion is written by Chief Justice Minch.

In substance the case is as follows:

In December, 1897, H. C. Shurtliff, Jr., being indebted to the Blyth & Fargo company in the sum of $10,000, gave as security a chattel mortgage on their sheep-shearing plant near Hilliard, Wyo., and other property. The Shurtliff wife was to have the right to use the plant, or sell any part of it provided the proceeds were applied on their debt, and provided that they had the written consent of the Blyth & Fargo company to the sale. The mortgage was to be entitled to take possession of the plant in case of default. In December, 1899, the defendants negotiated with Shurtliff and the plaintiff company for the purchase of the sheep-shearing plant. The defendants were to give their notes to Blyth & Fargo for $2,000, the agreed value of the plant, and this amount was to be credited to Shurtliff, who was to have the right to release the mortgage. This was done, and a mortgage of the note Blyth & Fargo brought suit. The defendants interposed that the note was given to the Blyth & Fargo company in payment of the plant, which was sold on the express warranty that it consisted of fifty Woolsey sheep-shearing machines, with all necessary attachments, and two engines and boilers, all in good running order, whereas only thirty-eight machines were furnished and they were out of order and without appliances to run them; and the engines and boilers were out of repair. The court directed a verdict for the plaintiff.

The supreme court finds that in giving permission to sell the respondent merely waived his right to object to a sale and its lien upon the property in consideration of such payment being made to it. Shurtliff, as owner, had a license to sell the property when this waiver was made. He was then dealing with his own property and was not the agent of the mortgagee, and as a consequence the respondent company is not responsible for any warranty or misrepresentation made by Shurtliff. If any one was liable it was the party making the warranty. The inquiry as to the respondent company to cancel the credit to Shurtliff and take timely proceedings against him to indemnify itself, had it been liable on the warranty, was a valuable right which was lost by the appellants' silence and delay.

The supreme court also affirms the ruling of the lower court in the case of the Murray Hill Mining & Milling company vs. William Haveron and Albert Hiensted, appellants. The opinion is written by Justice Baskin. The appellants in this case applied to the United States land office at Salt Lake City for a patent of the Haveron mining claim, and the respondent having filed a protest and adverse claim this suit was instituted by the Haveron company. A portion of the Murray Hill, Bogo Lily, and Silver Deck claims of the respondent. The lower court awarded the decree to the respondent.

The appellants contended that the respondent must recover, if at all, on the strength of its own title and not on the weakness of the title and that a mining claim was real estate and could not be transferred by parol, or otherwise than in accordance with the statute of frauds. There was no evidence that it ever acquired any title to any of the claims in controversy or any statute of frauds, holds the appellate court. It is well settled that an estate in land may be transferred from one person to another by a verbal sale accompanied by possession.

In Judge Morse's Court.

Judge Morse made the following orders on Saturday:

Eveland Hasbrouck vs. St. Joe Mining company, et al.; stricken from the calendar by consent of attorneys for respective parties.

Samuel J. Spencer vs. Elhan J. Jeremy; issues for defendant; judgment for costs.

Alex. McMaster, et al., vs. William J. Crowther; issues for defendant; judgment for costs.

The case of Anna Muniz vs. Standard Life & Accident Insurance company was argued and submitted.

The case of M. Castrollos vs. Oregon Short Line Railroad company was ordered stricken from the files.

The case of Charles Gilmore vs. Frank Rudy was argued and submitted.

The case of Rio Grande Western Railway company vs. the Horn Silver Mining company was argued and the demurrer was overruled. Ten days were allowed defendant to answer.

B. H. Roberts Case Dismissed.

Judge Stewart on motion of District Attorney Elchorn dismissed the following cases on Saturday:

John C. Graham, unlawful cohabitation; dismissed because on March 12, the supreme court quashed the information.

C. K. Snowden, adultery; insufficient testimony to convict.

Erasmus H. Roberts, unlawful cohabitation; same reason as in Graham case.

Charles Wade, housebreaking; insufficient testimony to convict.

Joseph Terry, forgery; insufficient testimony.

Myrtle Collins, fornication; insufficient testimony.

Frank Wedlock, assault with a deadly weapon; insufficient testimony.

Laura M. Mason, grand larceny; insufficient testimony.

The case of battery against Cecil E. Josephson, appealed from Justice McMillan's court at Bingham, has been set for trial on Friday, Dec. 13.

In the case of Simon Bamberger vs. the Fortune Mining company et al., in which Bamberger foreclosed on a $30,000 mortgage against the mining company, James S. Hill, William McGilvray and Elmer Hill on Saturday presented to Judge Hall labor claims aggregating $1,200, which the case should be a preferred lien. The case will be submitted on briefs.

THE OLD WAY

Of Treating Stomach Trouble and Indigestion, a Barbarous and Useless One.

We say the old way but really it is the common and usual one at the present time and many dyspeptics, and physicians as well, consider the first step in attempting to cure indigestion is to diet, either by selecting certain food and rejecting others or to greatly diminish the quantity of food usually taken.

In other words the starvation plan, is by many, supposed to be the first essential in the cure of weak digestion.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure for stomach trouble has been proven time and again, but still the usual advice, when dyspepsia makes its appearance, is a course of dieting.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting or starvation to a person suffering from dyspepsia because indigestion itself starves every organ and every nerve and fibre in the body.

What is needed is abundant nutrition, not less, and this means plenty of good, wholesome, well-cooked food and some natural digestant to assist the weak stomach to digest it.

This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted and this is the way they cure the worst cases of stomach trouble.

The patient eats plenty of wholesome food, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest it for him.

And this is in accordance with nature and common sense because in this way the whole system is nourished and the overworked stomach rested, because the tablets will digest the food, whether the stomach works or not. One of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 1500 grains of meat, eggs and similar food.

Any druggist will tell you that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a remedy of extraordinary value and probably is the purest and safest remedy for stomach troubles.

No person suffering from poor digestion and lack of appetite can fail to be immediately and permanently benefited if they would make it a practise to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.
