PREST, LUND ON RELIGION CLASSES

Address on the Subject that is Creating Agitation in Some Onarters

OBJECT OF THE INSTITUTION.

"We Do Not Want to Interfere With The Rights of Our Fellow Citizens.

The matter of religion classes for young children of Latter-day Saints is attracting considerable attention at this time owing to the flood of misrepreseshtation that is emanating from certain

The following reproduction of a verbatim report of a portion of a sermon delivered by President Anthon H. Lund at the seventy-fifth semi-annual conference hist October makes interesting

"Before I conclude, I want to speak of another organization not an auxiliary organization pertaining to the Church school system, I mean the religion classes, which we are trying to establish in our midst. This meets opposition, both from without and, I am sorry to say, from within. The object of these classes is to teach our chirdren what they cannot be taught in the district schools, namely, the principles of the Gospel. We do not want in any way to interfere with the rights of our fellow citizens who do not belong to our thurch. We do not want to force any of this religion class work upon their children. We do believe, however, that children. We do believe, however, that an education without a God is a faulty one. We do believe that children should be taught morality and faith in God. But as the laws of the land are, this cannot be done in our district schools. We must keep the public schools free from all theological doctrines. No one need to fear this movement of ours. It is not intended for propaganda amongst those who are not of us. But we claim the right to teach of us. But we claim the right to teach own children what we want them ght. We believe that there is a great necessity of teaching them mor-ality, principles of sound conduct, faith in God, and dectrines of salvation. The children may be taught the secular branches by the most polished teachers, but if they are not taught morality and faith their education will be deficient and they will not know how to reach the object for which they have come upon the earth. We like our children to receive a good education and to become mentally strong, and we encourage all the Latter-day Saints to take advantage of the district schools, of the high schools and the universities for the branches that are taught there, but we do feel that our children need more than they can get in those institutions, and for that reason we have estabilshed religion classes. Now, we have established religion classes. Now, we have no objections to our friends of other denominations establishing classes and teaching their children the principles friends set us a good example in this respect. They will not let their children be neglected in religious instruction. We do not object to others teaching their children so long as they do not teach our children what we do not want them taught. We want our children to receive the kind of instruction that we know to be all-important to them. This is all there is to the religion classes. We are not attempting to mix church and state; we do not want to intrude our religion into the state schools; but we do claim the right to have our own children taught in the principles that we believe; and for this purpose we gather them together. In places where there are but few, if any, non-"Mormons" we may here the school has been dismissed; but we particularly urge those in charge of the religion classes not to interfere with the children of non-"Mormons." I want to say to the Latter-day Saints, do not underesti-mate the importance of having your children taught the principles of the Gospel in early life. We have Church schools established, but as a general thing the children do not go there until they are out of the grades. Now, from 7 to 14 years of age is the time when the child's mind is plastic, and when you can make lasting impressions upon it. We do not want that time to go by without our doing something for the spiritual growth of the child; we want to teach our young children faith in Christ, and have them well grounded in His doctrines."

L. D. S. UNIVERSITY SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Following are the studies of the L D. S. University Sunday school, theclogy class A, which will be the feature of tomorrow's session;

Outline No. 8 .- The God of Israel .-"Israel"-the name-title given of Goo to Jacob (Gen. 32: 28; 35; 9-10); afterward applied to the posterity of Abraham through Isaac and Jacob (Exc. 1 1: 9: 7; I Sam. 25: 1; Isa. 48: 1; Rom. 9: 4: 11: 1) with each of whom the Lord had covenanted that through his descendants all nations of the earth would be blessed. (Gen. 12: 1-3; 17: 1-8; 26: 8-4; 28: 18-15). Read the history of the Israelites in Egypt; note the selling of Joseph by his brethren (Gen. 37; 25-28), the immigration of Jacob and his entire family to Egypt (Gen. 46: 1-6); the enslavement of the Israelites by the Egyptians (Exo. 1: 7-14); the mission of Moses, his dealings with Pharach, and the final deliverance of the people (Exo. chars. 5,12)

(Exo. chaps, 5-12). The Lord was unto the Israelites captain (Exc. 14: 14); law-giver (Exc. 20: 1-17); and king (see I Sam. 8: 7) Note the revealed word in the present dispensation as to the Lord who de-livered Israel (Doc. & Cov. 136; 21, 22). The Israelites as a separate nation were designated as a peculiar and chosen people (Exc. 6: 7; 19; 3-6); at an earlier period the Lord had called them his own (Exo. 3: 7-10). In this connection read and compare Exo. 28: 45; Numb. 6: 27; Deut. 14: 2: 26: 18, 19: Psalms 133: 4; Isa. 41: 8; 45: 4; Heb.

For the period of 40 years the Israelcelving instruction and training while separated from other nations, As proscparated from other nations, As prominent features of the divine revelations given them, note the following: The personality of the Lord (Numb. 12: 18; compare Exc. 23: 17-23; see also Exc. 19: 9, 11, 17-20; 24: 9-11); the sanctity of the sabbath (Exc. 31: 12; Lev. 19: 3, etc.), the strictness of the law given unto them, which came to be known as the law of Moses or the law of carnal commandments; the recognition of free agency (Josh. 24: 15). Theocratic government remained in force among the israelites during the period of the judges; then the people demanded a king; note the granting of this request under protest, (I Sam.

8: 1-23). The Lord continued to direct the people through prophets and kings during the reign of Saul. David, and solomon in succession, until as a na-tion Israel virtually rejected him; then followed the dispersion of the people as had been predicted in the event of their rejecting the divine commandments (see Deut. 28: 25, 36, 37, 49, 20, 4; I Kings 14: 15).

In the present dispensation the Lord of the present dispensation the Lord of the present dispensation the Lord of the content of the c still proclaims Himself as the God of Israel (Doc. & Cov. 39: 11). For the benefit of outside classes broughout the state last week's study

Is hereby outlined:
Outline No. 7. The God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.—The Lord continued to reveal Himself to Noah after the flood (Gen. 8: 15; $: 1-7), and made a covenant with him (Gen. 9: 8-17). This verant was foretold to Enoch cen irles before Noah's birth (Moses 7 -45, 50, 51; read also Gen. chaps. 6-9 and compare Moses 8; 8-30). Note the those who sought to build the city an the tower of Babel (Gen. 11: 1-9). A his period the Lord gave direct rev ation to the brother of Jared (Ether 0-43; read the entire chapter; 2: 5, I (6, 18-25). The Lord made Himself vis ble to the brother of Jacod (Ether 3 6-16). These passages show that the God thus manifesting Himself was Jesus Christ (see especially 3: 14; read Moroni's comments thereon, verses L7 20). Book of Ether records other in 20). Book of Ether records other instances of revelation to the Jaredites. Concerning this people read "Articles of Faith," lecture 14: 10-12).

The Lord communed with Abraham and made covenant with him (Gen. chaps. 12-25, and Book of Abraham; especially Gen. 12: 17: 15, 1-7, 18-21: 17: 1-14; 22: 1-18; and Abraham 2: 3, 6-11, 19: chap, 2). The covenant was con-19: chap. 2). The covenant was con-firmed with Isaac (Gen. 26: 2-5, 24), and with Jacob, afterwards called Israe (Gen. 28; 12-15; 32; 24-28; 35: 9-13; 46;

The Lord proclaimed Himself as "The God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob" (Exo. 2: 6; 4: 5; see also Gen. 28: 13; Mark. 22: 23; Mark. 12: 26; Luke 20: 37; I Nephi 5: 4; Moslah 7: 19; Doc. and Cov. 136:31). This Being is Jesus Christ (I Nephi 19: 16) III Nephi 11: 14; compare John 8:58).

Unto Moses the Lord spake (Exo. chaps. 3 and 4, and Book of Moses), and made known unto him His name (Exo. 3: 14; 6: 3). Note the many instances of direct revelation to Moses, prior to the departure of the Israelistes from Egypt (Exo. chaps 5-12). from Egypt (Exo. chaps 5-12).

Admitted to Bail in the Sum of $2,000 And Failed to Appear for Preliminary Hearing.

The career of Porter J. Conway, a ormer defaulting real estate and insurance agent of this city, was again brought to light today in the district court by a judgment being rendered by Judge Lewis in favor of the state and against Frank Knox and Stephen Hays, Conway's bondsmen, for the sum f 21.700 and costs. Conway was charged with the crime of forgery and uttering a forged in-drument, and on Nov. 4, 1900, he entered a plea of not guilty and was admitted to bail by Justice of the Peace Alexnder McMaster in the sum of $2,000 The defendants in this case went on Conway's bond. His preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 21, 1900, but he failed to appear and his bond was declared forfeited. On Nov. 12, 1901, Judge Stewart of the district court instructed the district attorney to commence action against his bondsmen fo the amount of the bond, and judgmen was today rendered by Judge Lewis, as stated above.

Amusements

'he performance of "Tess" by Mis-Roberts at the Theater last night drew a fair sized turnout, illustrating that in spite of the excellent way in which she and her company present it, the deep gleom of the story does not make it popular to the average theater-goer. Miss Roberts' delineation and also that of Mr. Henderson remain the same finished performances they were be-fore, while the stage setting is every-thing that could be desired. The main interest of the evening attached to Mr. Melbourne McDowell's first appearance here in the part of the brutal Alec. While showing some unfamiliarity with his lines, he played with care and skil and gave an excellent portraya throughout, though it can scarcely be said that he has given the same though to all the details of the character as did his predecessor, Mr. Bosworth.

The support was admirable throughout. Tonight the engagement ends with "Marta of the Lowlands," in which Mr. McDowell will again have the heavy
