EVENING NEWS.

Friday, . Dec. 8, 1882.

THE LAND-SLIDE CASE.

BY M. TWAIN.

It was in the early days of Nevada Territory. The mountains are very high and steep about Carson, Eagle and Washoe Valley—very high and very steep, and so when the snow gets to melting off fast in the spring, and the warm surface earth begins to moisten and soften, the disastrous land slides commence.

General Buncombe was shipped out to Nevada in the invoice of territorial officers to be United States Attorney.

One morning Dick Sides rode furiously up to Gen. Buncombe's door in Carson City, and rushed into his presence without stopping to tie his horse. He seemed much excited. He told the General that he wanted him to defend a suit for him, and would pay him $500 if he achieved a victory. And then with violent gestures and a world of profanity, he poured out his griefs. He said that it was pretty well known that for some years he had been farming, (or ranching, as the more customary term is), in Washoe district, and making a successful thing of it; and furthermore, it was know that this ranch was situated just in the edge of the valley, and that Tom Morgan owned a ranch immediately above it, on the mountain side. And now the trouble was that one of those hated and dreaded land slides had come and slid Morgan's ranch, fences, cabins, cattle, barns and everything down on top of his ranch, and exactly covered up every single vestige of his property, to a depth of about six feet. Morgan was in possession and refused to vacate the premises—said he was occupying his own cabin, and not interfering with anybody else's—and said cabin was standing on the same dirt and same ranch it had always stood on, and would like to see anybody make him vacate.

"And when I reminded him," said Sides, weeping, "that it was on top of my ranch, and that he was trespassing, he had the infernal meanness to ask me why didn't I say on my ranch and hold possession when I see him coming! Why didn't I stay on it? The blathering lunatic! And, by George! when I heard that racket and looked up that hill it was just like the whole world was a ripping and a tearing down that mountain side—trees going end over end in the air; rocks as big as a house jumping about a thousand feet high and bursting into ten million pieces; cattle literally turned inside out and a coming head on with their tails hanging out between their teeth. I just took one glimpse of that spectacle, general, and I lit out'n the country in three jumps exactly.

"But what grinds me is that Morgan hangs on there and won't move off'n that ranch—says it's his'n and he's going to keep it—likes it better'n he did when it was higher up the hill. Mad! Well, I've been so mad for two days I couldn't find my way to town—been wandering around in the bush in a starving condition—got anything here to drink, General? But I'm here now, and I'm a going to law. You hear me?"

The innocent General was amazed. He said he had suspected before that the people of that Territory were fools; and now he knew it. "But," he said, "rest easy, rest easy and collect the witnesses, for the victory was just as certain as if the conflict were already over." Sides wiped away his tears and left.

At two in the afternoon Referree Roop's court opened, and that remorseless old joker appeared, throned among his sheriffs, his witnesses and a "packed" jury, and wearing upon his face a fraudulent solemnity so awe-inspiring that some of his fellow-conspirators had misgivings that may be he had not comprehended, after all, that this was merely a joke. An unearthly stillness prevailed, for at the slightest noise the Judge uttered sternly the command:

"Order in the court!"

"Way for the United States Attorney!"

The witnesses were called—legislators, high government officers, ranchmen, miners, Indians, Chinamen, negroes. Three-fourths of them were called by the defendant, Morgan, but no matter, their testimony went invariably in favor of the plaintiff, Sides. Each new witness only added new testimony to the absurdity of a man's claiming to own another man's property besause his farm had slid down on top of it. Then the Morgan lawyers made their speeches, and seemed to make singularly weak ones—they really nothing to help the Morgan cause. And now the General, with a great glow of triumph on his face, got up and made a mighty effort; he pounded the table, he banged the law books, he shouted and roared and howled, he quoted from everything and everybody, poetry, sarcasm, statistics, history, pathos, and blasphemy, and wound up with a war whoop for free speech, freedom of the press, free schools, the Glorious Bird of America and the principles of eternal justice. [Applause].

Ex-Governor Roop leaned his head upon his hands for some minutes, thinking profoundly, and the still audience waiting breathlessly for his decision. Then he got up stood erect, with bended head, and thought again. Then he walked the floor with long, deliberate strides, and his chin in his hand, and still the audience waited. At last he returned to his throne and seated himself. The Sheriffs commanded the attention of the Court. Judge Roop cleared his throat and said:

"Gentlemen, I feel the great responsibility that rests upon me this day. This is no ordinary case. On the contrary, it is plain that it is the most solemn and awful that every a man was called upon to decide. Gentlemen, I have listened attentively to the evidence, and the weight of it, the overwhelming weight of it is in favor of the plaintiff, Sides. I have listened also to the remarks of counsel with high interest—and especially will I commend the masterly and irrefutable logic of the distinguished gentlemen who represent the plaintiff. But gentlemen, let us beware how we allow human testimony, human ingenuity in argument and human ideas of equity to influence us to our undoing at a moment so solemn as this!

"Gentlemen, it ill becomes us, worms as we are, to meddle with the decree of Heaven. It is plain to me that Heaven, in its inscrutable wisdom, has seen fit to move this defendant's ranch for a purpose. We are but creatures, and we must submit. If Heaven has chosen to favor the defendant Morgan in this marked and wonderful manner; and if Heaven, unsatisfied with the position of the Morgan ranch upon the mountain side, has chosen to remove it to a position more eligible and more advantageous for its owner, it ill becomes us, insects as we are to question the legality of the act. No—Heaven created the ranches, and it is Heaven's prerogative to rearrange them to experiment with them, to shift them around at its pleasure. It is for us to submit without repining. I warn you that this thing which has happened is a thing with which the scrilegious hands and brains and tongues of men must not meddle. Gentlemen, it is the verdict of this court that the plaintiff, Richard Sides, has been deprived of his ranch by the visitation of God! And from this decision there is no appeal."

Buncombe seized his cargo of law books and plunged out of the court room a raving madman, almost. In all good faith he returned at night and remonstrated with Roop upon his extravagant decision, and implored him to walk the floor and think for half an hour, and see if he could not figure out some sort of modification of the verdict. Roop yielded at last and got up to walk. He walked two hours and a half and at last his face lit up happily, and he told Buncombe that it had occurred to him that the ranch underneath the new Morgan ranch still belonged to Sides, that his title to the ground itself was just as good as it had ever been, and therefore he was of opinion that Sides had a right to dig it out from under there, and—the General never waited to hear the end of it. He was always an impatient and irascible man, that way. At the end of two weeks he got it through his understanding that he had been played upon with a joke.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Also excellent for human flesh. Read proof below.

FROM

COL. L. T. FOSTER,

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 10th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Gents:—I had a very valuable Hambletonian colt that I prized very highly, he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two Veterinary Surgeons which failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express. I determined at once to try it and got our druggists here to send for it, they ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial, I used it according to directions and the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame and the lumps have disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colt's limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles who are now using it. Very respectfully,

L. T. FOSTER.

Kendall's Spavin Cure

Is sure in its effects, valid in its actions as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargements, such as spavins, splints, curbs, ringbones, callous, swellings and any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or for rheumatism in man or for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mildly and yet certainly in its effects.

Send address for illustrated circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success in our knowledge, for beast as well as man.
