The Prodigal from Cleveland Recovers His Money Through Efforts of Detective Pender.

Bioliday Closing Exercises of Schools -List of Jurors for January Term of Court - Weddings.

John Brandt, the wealthy Cleveland, Ohio, man, who was robbed of $1,460. Thursday night by Blanche Wild, a solled dove, from Electric avenue, is rejoicing today at again being the possessor of the greenbacks which were taken from his inside vest pocket by the woman when he fell asleep, a full account of which appeared in last night's "News." The woman was placed under arrest by Detective Pender, shortly after Brandt reported the matter to the officer. She was placed in a cell at the bastile and as the horrors of night in jall appeared before her she weakened and after some concessions were made to her she confessed to Detectice Pender the theft of the money and told the officer where she had hid the money, behind a fence near the sporting house. The officers immediatewent to the spot and secured the same. They then returned to the po-lice station with the two rolls of greencks and counted the same, finding the entire amount in the rolls just as it had been taken from Brandt's pock-The woman was released from custody on the money having been recov-ered, and it is not expected that she will be prosecuted.

SCHOOL HOLIDAY.

The Ogden City public schools closed yesterday afternoon for the Christmas and New Year's holidays and will open cgain on January 6, 1902. At each of the school buildings in the city approrelate Christmas programs and exer-cises were carried out. The lower grades in all of the school had a Christmas tree and the hearts of the little ones were made glad by small remembrances from the teachers. The parents and friends were in attendance at the schools in large numbers.

At the Madison school exceptionally fine exercises were carried out. The 100ms were prettily decorated with pictures and artistic work of the teachers and students. One of the special features of the program was the rendi-tion of several numbers by an orchestra composed of the following seven students: Ben Sarven, Herbert Mor-ton, Clarence Allen, Arthur Fell, Har-kw Sarven, Alice Allen and Elizabeth Horr. These pupils range in age from 9 to about 16 years, but their orchestral music would do credit to young men VPBER

Kane left for Salt Lake in company with Roswell Ferre, a young Provo man, Thursday afternoon. They said they were going to California. Kane has relations in Springville and for the last few years he has been working in the southern part of the state, in or around Clover valley. There he has a relative, said to be well-to-do, and whose name is believed to be Albert Woods, and he no doubt has an account with Wells, Fargo & Co. Kane has been in Provo for some time visiting his cousin, a Mrs. Mc-l'adden. He had given out for some days that he was expecting money from ment. Woods. Sheriff Storrs telephoned the man's description to Salt Lake and Ogden last evening, in the hopes that he had not yet left the state.

PROVO'S BUSY FIRMS.

A representative of the Deseret News while in search of Provo business items, drifted into the thoroughfares of the Garden City just as the busy season of the holidays was at hand. The various firms doing business there are surely entitled to special mention, for the very evident marks of enter-prise that are seen on every side.

Among the first to claim attention was

THE TAYLOR BROS. CO.

The scene of activity that is found in and around this well known firm is indeed remarkable even though it is "yule tide." The original store has been so enlarged, extended and added to, that it can scarcely be recognized to-day as that of 1860. Their watchword is the "Tireless, Restless, Sleepless Furniture, Music, Stove and Crockery house of Utah." It will be seen that they carry everything needed to furnish the home. This firm is indeed all that the wisdom of this move has been seen in

The Skelton Publishing company have one of the lest equipped plants in the state for the manufacture of court dockets, records and all kinds of book and job printing, ruling, tabbing, binding and all that appertains to a first class publishing house. Besides this they carry in both wholesale and retail quantities, legal blanks of every description, and carbon and special papers of all kinds. They have recently bought the building opposite the Post-office where they will soon remove and be in better shape than ever for their rapidly growing business, having re-modeled the building with cement floors for the presses and modern equipment for the book bindery depart-

> THE PROVO MEAT AND PACKING CO.

This well known firm has been a factor in Mercantile circles for the past nine years, the time when Mr. Phil Speckart first landed in Provo. The grand display of choice meats that is on display at once discloses the fact of Provo's growing importance, and the up-to-date methods of this enterprising ftrm.

They have recently bought the S. S. Jones store opposite the postoffice, where alterations are now in progress, establishing a complete cold storage plant of ten tons capacity. The new lo-cation will also include all the apparatus necessary for the manufacturing all kinds of sausages, rendering of lard and the curing of all the hog's product, thus making an immense saving to the citizens of Provo. The intentions are to make the Provo Meat and Packing Co. second to none in the state, both as to output and quality of goods. All parts of the state will be invaded in pushing their cured meats and lard, thus not only the people of Provo will derive benefit from this enterprise, but the entire country. Last October the company was incor-porated for $25,000 paid up stock. When the new store is opened up the irm will branch out into all kinds of fish and special meats, such as poultry, game, etc., indeed all that the house-wife may need in making her purchase. will be found in endless array. Provo is proud of its Meat and Packing Co.

R. A. BARNEY.

R. A. Barney was found as usual chuck full of business, and said: "My display speaks for itself." And about all that could be gotten from him was regarding his new system of successful skirt making. About three years ago he put in a skirt making department. where he made skirts for his customers at a nominal cost. This proved to be such a big hit that he has been enlarging and spreading out until now he is only makes them where he furnishes the materials, but his charges are so low that they seem almost ridiculous. His prices for making plain skirts are First prices for making pitch skirts are 75c to $1.25; for flounce skirts, $1.25 to $2.00. Every skirt is guaranteed as to workmanship, style and fit or money is refunded. What more could be asked? Send to him for samples and prices; he will answer promptly. His address is
