

BANKER MORSE IS ARRAIGNED

Arrested Yesterday Upon Landing at Quarantine. He Pleads Not Guilty Today.

HEARING NEXT MONDAY.

Justice Dowling, at Defendant's Request Postpones Proceedings— Counsel Asked Two Weeks.

New York, Feb. 17.—Charles W. Morse, the former banker and financial promoter, was arraigned before Justice Dowling today on two charges of grand larceny and misappropriation of funds of the Mercantile National bank. Through his counsel, he pleaded not guilty and asked for a postponement of two weeks with permission to change his plea, if desired. The court fixed the hearing for next Monday.

New York, Feb. 16.—Charles W. Morse, financier and promoter of many large combinations, including the so-called "ice trust" and a merger of nearly all of coastwise steamship lines, returned today from his brief trip to Europe, where he was arrested in the lower bay, held in custody until the ship was docked and then was whisked away in an automobile to the home of Justice Victor Dowling, of the supreme court, where he gave bonds in the sum of $20,000 to answer to two indictments, charging grand larceny and involving the sum of $100,000. Mr. Morse was released and went immediately to his Fifth avenue home, where he gave out a statement asserting his innocence and asking the public to suspend judgment until he has had the opportunity of facing his accusers in court. Tomorrow Mr. Morse will appear before Justice Dowling in open court and plead not guilty to the indictments. He denied that his trip to Europe was a "flight." He said that he had gone abroad to sell stock in a large interest and secure a fortnight's rest. Both purposes were spoiled by the publication of reports that he was a fugitive from justice, he declared.

PROPER BURIAL FOR HEROES.

Representative Sulzer Introduces Bill Providing for Raising the Maine.

Washington, Feb. 15.—With a view to the raising of the ill-fated battleship Maine, and "the proper burial of its dead, now lying with the bulk of that vessel in the harbor of Havana, Cuba," Representative Sulzer of New York today introduced a resolution calling upon the secretary of the navy for papers and correspondence bearing on the international status of the question and the rights of the government of the United States in the matter.

SURPRISED AT ARREST.

Mr. Morse had received word by wireless telegraph that two indictments had been found against him, but he did not know that he was to suffer physical arrest. The appearance of three detectives from Dist. Atty. Jerome's office at his stateroom door took him completely by surprise. The officers were armed with a warrant and went down the bay on a revenue cutter. They were accompanied by Albert B. Boardman and Philip J. Britt, attorneys, and by Benjamin W. Morse, a son of the financier. Mrs. Morse met her husband at the pier, and it was in her automobile that the journey with one of the detectives was made to Justice Dowling's home. Justice Dowling held an informal court session in his library. Asst. Dist. Atty. Krasel representing the prosecution. The bonds, which were signed by a surety company, had been prepared yesterday. Mr. Morse was required to sign two obligations of $10,000 each, and along with the representatives of the bonding company, was put under oath to appear at any time his presence may be required.

The statement made by Mr. Morse tonight is as follows: "I had two purposes in going to Europe. I thought that I might be able to sell in England property in which I had a large interest, and thus increase my ability to meet the claims of my creditors, and I greatly needed a fortnight's rest. My business purpose was, of course, defeated by the publication in the English papers that I was regarded in New York as a fugitive from justice. I had straightened out my financial affairs when I left New York, so that there were no actions pending against me except one brought by a creditor to whom I had given valuable collateral securities, and I was informed by my counsel that he had arranged with this creditor not to press his suit against me. "I assert my innocence of any criminal act, and I ask the public to suspend judgment in my case until I have had an opportunity to meet my accusers in court. I use the word 'accusers,' although so far as concerns the Jerome indictments I am informed that there were no 'accusers,' and that Judge O'Brien asked the grand jury to refuse to find indictments against me."

DAYS AND NIGHTS OF AWFUL HORROR

Surging Streams in Pittsburgh Drive Families from Their Homes.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS AFLOAT.

To Add to Suffering of Women and Children Weather Grows Cold, And Breaks Gas Connections.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 16.—After reaching 30.7-10 feet at noon today and remaining at that stage for three hours, the high water in the river is now slowly receding. The danger mark in the city is 22 feet. The damage, it is estimated, will run up to several million dollars, but there was no loss of life.

The suffering caused by the high water is intense. Thousands of persons are living in the upper floors of their homes, using skiffs as a means of transportation to and fro. The lower portions of their homes are filled with water. In many instances the household goods were not removed, owing to a lack of time, and chairs, tables, pianos, and bric-a-brac are floating about the rooms.

To add to the suffering of the victims the weather grew cold today and snow fell. The gas connections of the houses have been disarranged and in their present damp condition life is made miserable for the unfortunate occupants.

DRIVEN FROM CHURCHES.

As the night advanced the waters began to recede rapidly, and at midnight the flood was passing away almost as rapidly as it came—at a rate of half a foot an hour. The gage at that hour registered 28.9 feet. Two congregations at the Second Presbyterian church were driven from
