We do not know how the see serpent happened to rear its "colossal head" and "magnificent tail" away up th mighty Missouri River. It is a fishy serpent tale, but the "critter" was not discovered by a N. Y. Herald commissioner, so there may be "something in it." -The Sacramento . Record Union of June 20 says, "At Gutenberger's Foundry a number of men have been engaged 'several weeks in the construction of improved apparatus for the manufacture of sugar from melons, etc., at the works recently erected at Isleton, and the machinery is now advancing toward completion. We understand that the machinery which the company first obtained, in the East or Europe, failed to give satisfaction, and it was found necessary to replace it with something more complete. Hence the contract which is now being filled here." -The Lexington, Mo., Press says: "A very remarkable skeleton was dug up in the ground belonging to the Fair Association on Wednesday. The experts who examined the bones conclude, from their length, that the man to whom they belonged must have been ten feet in height. The skull was badly fractured, but the jaw-bone was preserved, and is twice the ordinary size of the jaw-bone according to man in these days. From this it is men in these days. From this it is probably not too bold a deduction to conclude that the skeleton is that of a female; but the sex, owing, un-fortunately, to the destruction of the abult is different to determine the skull, is difficult to determine. One thing seems certain, that the specimen does not date back many centuries,"

OHRISTIAN HOME LIFE.

BISHOP D. S. TUTTLE, of the Episcopal Church, preached a sermon at Deer Lodge, Montana, recently, upon the text, "He maketh the solitary to dwell in families," the Bishop arguing in favor of fostering and encouraging home life, and Christian bome life as the truest, purest, and best, and setting forth, as the three principal enemies of true family life, cellbacy, polygamy, and divorce.
