THE season's crops are fully three weeks later than in this valley, but the crops are looking well, and there is a prospect of an abundant harvest, both of grain and fruit. The caterpillars have not reached that valley yet.

THIS morning Dr. O. D. Hovey placed on our table a box of fine strawberries, the first gathered this season from his well-cultivated garden in the 15th Ward. These are the first ripe Utah strawberries we have seen this year.

GRAIN in Sanpete has advanced somewhat in price lately, and there is more demand for it there now than there has been. One dealer from this city has recently shipped ten car loads of wheat east on the D. & R. G. from Tullahoma.

THE bullion products of Montana for the year 1884 were $9,592,369. Utah is next, with a production of $7,385,624. Idaho has $4,184,360; Dakota, $2,857,781; Vermont, $93,000; while North Carolina, the old gold state, reports only $15,000.

THE Sanpete Valley Railway is being extended to Chester about five miles beyond Moroni, which has been its terminus for some time past. It is expected that it will extend to Ephraim within a few months. The little road seems to be having a good run of business now.

THERE are two places in the sidewalk on South Temple Street, in the 12th Ward, where flames have been taken up, leaving ugly patches, which pedestrians are liable to stumble while passing that way in the dark. If other flames are not placed in them immediately they should be filled up.

THE caterpillars are said to be even worse in Utah County than here; but the people are making a desperate and united effort to exterminate them—which is more than we can say universally for our citizens, although a good many of them deserve great praise for what they have done in that line.

JENNIE B. WHITFIELD, matron of the Deseret Hospital, acknowledges with thanks the receipt of abundant supplies of the choicest plants and vines from Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Hue and Mr. and Mrs. John Reading, and expresses the wish that the donors could see the signs of happiness exhibited on the faces of the inmates of that institution when the generous gifts were received.

A GROSSLY libelous article, in which the names of Dr. Mattie P. Hughes and Dr. Benedict figured conspicuously, appeared in the Tribune of Tuesday morning. Although no person aware of the character of that infamous sheet, would attach any credence to what was said, we may remark for the benefit of others, that there was not a word of truth in the Tribune article.

THE best of authority that the whole statement was a malicious, diabolical lie.

OFFICER THOMAS' TRIAL.

THE JURY AGREES.

DR. J. M. BENEDICT.

When the court resumed yesterday afternoon,

DR. J. M. BENEDICT

was called and testified: He had examined the body of the negro while it was hanging, and afterwards, examined the head and found two cuts on the forehead; the skull was not fractured; there were no contusions on the scalp; the cuts on the forehead had been made with a blunt instrument; he did not think the wounds could be made with a club; witness went to the City Hall with Officer Salmons, after the hanging; he had been with Captain Burd's body; saw the struggle between Officer Wilkes and the negro; the officer struck the negro three or four powerful blows with a pistol, and both fell into the ditch, the negro under the wounds on the negro could have been made by a pistol; there was no contusion on the scalp such as a policeman's club would cause.

Cross-examined by Mr. Varian.—The blood was still on the negro when the examination was made; the skull could be fractured in various ways; had been the grand jury; recollected saying he could not say whether the skull was fractured or not; sometimes it might be on the inner plate of the skull; in this instance there was no external evidence; a blow sufficient to knock a man down would leave a mark; in every case he had seen of being struck with a club, a mark was left.

JOHN AIRD.

He was called for cross-examination; he did not remember cleaning blood off the floor in the Marshal's office; the blood was still on the floor; he did not see blood in the jail corridor; did not remember who the prisoner was; did not remember if a prisoner was there.

DR. GUSKING.

Testified, saw the shooting of Captain Burd by the negro; Wilkes caught the man and finally threw him down, striking him; the negro was a powerful man; Wilkes was also a large man; the negro was all that officer could manage; when the negro got up his forehead was bleeding; Wilkes later witness the rifle; saw two officers take the negro off; Salmons remained; and was afterwards in the drug store where the Captain's body was; Wilkes was shot through the arm.

Cross-examined by Mr. Varian.—Went with Officer Salmons to the City Hall, after the negro was dead.

WM. SALMONS.

was called: Was not at the City Hall at the time of the hanging of the negro, as had been testified by the witness, Stone.

JAMES WHITE.

testified: Was at the Firemen's Hall when the negro was brought to the City Hall; closed the front door, and went into the Marshal's office, where he held the door; there was some scuffling around; Officer Thomas searched the negro; turned to close the door against the crowd; saw Thomas strike the negro with his fist; the blow did not seem to have any effect; turned again, and when he looked the negro was on the floor; saw no club there; Thomas lifted the negro up; witness then came out into the street, where he met Officer Salmons; there were several other persons in the office.

Cross-examined by Mr. Varian.—Thomas struck the negro with his fist; some movement was made by the negro; did not know what happened; his face had some blood on it; witness closed the door to keep the crowd out; the "niggers" were taken off in the room; saw no clubs or knuckles there; did not know where the officers carried them; saw Thomas strike, and then turned to the door; the negro fell, not at once, but rather sliding and doubling up; saw no kicking in the room; Thomas was about five feet away; did not remember what was said.

WM. HILTON.

testified: He came to the City Hall after the negro was taken into the jail; he went in and saw Thomas and Aird there; told Thomas what had happened; the negro, who was lying down, then jumped to his feet and rushed out at the door, which had been pulled open by the crowd; the door was closed after witness went in; Aird was fixing at one of the cell doors; when witness went in the negro was lying down; Thomas standing by his side; Thomas and witness tried to capture the negro, who was fighting and getting through the crowd.

Cross-examined by Mr. Varian.—Was not attending to the inner gate; was not there when the prisoner was brought in; the mob was filling the court yard; they pushed Geo. Hilton away and opened the door; saw several hands take hold of the door; the negro jumped about ten feet into the crowd; did not know whether the door was locked; did not know how the negro got to the floor; Aird was trying to fix the padlock; the corridor was very dark; the crowd was pushing; jumped so quickly that he got past; believed Thomas drew his pistol when the crowd shouted "lynch him"; witness was brother of George Hilton.

THOMAS F. THOMAS.

the defendant, went on the stand, and testified: He was on duty that day when near the post office he heard some shooting and ran toward the place; when he saw a tall negro, and Officer Wilkes; heard some one call that the negro had shot; never saw a bad hold of him; defendant ordered them back and put his "nippers" on the negro, and called on George Hilton to assist him; William Hilton staying to see what was done; on the way to the City Hall, the negro was very boisterous, and wanted to kill more men; the crowd was calling to the defendant to release him, but he ordered them back; the negro asked, "Will you protect me?" defendant said, "I will, that's my business; keep quiet," he said Aird, at the Hall door, to keep the crowd out; in the Marshal's office, he ordered the prisoner three times to hold up his hands, and then searched him, finding some money and other things; the negro was boisterous, and objected to being searched; he put the things on the desk; the negro called him some names, and the officer said if he acted that way he would slap him; he repeated the order; the officer slapped him with his open hand; then some one tripped the prisoner and he fell; when the officer ordered him to get up, he said, "I will not get up; some one said he shot an officer; Thomas said if I did not get up, I would die; witness sent Aird to open cell No. 7, and followed with the prisoner; leaving Geo. Hilton outside to keep the door; Aird could not open the lock, and went for another key; W. H. Hilton came; the colored man jumped, and Thomas drew his club and struck him on the arm, and the prisoner fell; witness told him to stay there; Aird came in and the door was thrown open; sent forth in protest and orders; embrace the same who convinced of the truth; The gospel, as taught by the Saints, requires too much of its adherents to be popular with the world; people generally in this age are seeking for an easier way to rest, to have, or else they have no serious thoughts; about hereafter, which really seems to be the case with many.

Brother Batsy said much suffering in consequence of hard times and scarcity of work in the mining and manufacturing region where he labored, that really made his heart ache for sympathy. For months at a time there were 20,000 people in and about Newcastle thrown out of work and dependent on charity for their support, every article they had possessed, that possibly could be pawned or sold having been disposed of to obtain bread. To people of this class it was almost with a feeling of relief that they learned of the prospect for war, for that would involve a revival of the ship-building trade and bring them work.

Elder Batsy visited his relatives, most of whom reside in Cumberland, and spent some time in endeavoring to obtain genealogical data, and was also successful while thus engaged in effecting a new opening for missionary labor in Carle, where there has been little or no preaching of the Gospel for many years. He thinks a good work may yet be done there. He returns looking and feeling well, except that he is troubled with a slight cold and soreness confined with in England, and while glad to be at home, more and more permitted to enjoy the society of his family and friends, he feels thankful for the experience he has gained while abroad.

W. A. SUTTON was arrested this afternoon, for drunkenness.

reasonable provocation; the officer had the right to use such force and means as were needed to arrest, prevent, escape of, and control as well as protect the prisoner. He had no right to act from passion, hate or ill-will; the use of offensive language. Mere errors of judgment should be looked at with leniency and should take into consideration the circumstances, and judge reasonably and fairly; those actions impelled by improper motives were criminal. The jury could not either for assault with deadly weapon, with intent to do bodily injury, for assault, or not guilty.

The jury, after being out four hours, returned a verdict of "Not Guilty."

BEAVER COURT NOTES.

Received by Deseret Telegraph.

Beaver, May 14, 1885.

Editor Deseret News:

Messrs. Kirkpatrick and Denny arrived here yesterday at noon, but being read the case of the United States vs. Officer Thomas, was postponed till 10 o'clock to-day, at which time the case was called, and twelve jurors were called into the box, of whom were of even numbers, and were accused of the same crime on the ground of religious belief. The attorneys for the defense contended that the jury should be composed of twelve men, and the defense argued the case.

The judge stated that there might be some force in these arguments if the offense was not what it is, being an offense against all good persons, and wrong in itself. But he added "If I believed it right, I would not light against it for a moment." He then sustained the challenge. The court in every ruling showed its evident intention to convict.

Good Portraits.—We were shown to-day three excellent portraits of fresh from the easel of Brother Louis Pratt, who appears to be making rapid progress in his chosen art, and is certainly a most industrious and painstaking worker. Portrait painters frequently have occasion to complain of lack of patronage, but Brother Pratt seems to have a good run of work almost from the commencement.

Not of that Kind.—Lest some one should imagine from his appearance, answering to the description given, that Mr. Christopher S. Booth, who is now engaged in introducing some leading subscription works in this Territory, was the itinerant referred to in Tuesday's News under the head of "A Suspicious Individual," we would say that that is not the kind of a character. We have no idea that any of his acquaintances would imagine for a moment that he could be guilty of such actions as were complained of, but possibly strangers might be led to regard him with mistrust after reading the article referred to. He has not yet visited the wards outside the city, nor has he anything to do with medical works.

Nearing Their Destination.—By letter from Bishop P. A. Hammond, written from the Mojave Crossing of the Colorado river, 100 miles from Bluff City, on the 29th of April, we learn that he and his party arrived there on the 27th. The following day, in consequence of a strong wind, they were detained somewhat, but succeeded in ferrying part of their wagons across, and the next morning finished doing so and made their animals swim the stream. One mule, the property of a couple of men who were traveling with the Bishop's party, died about noon.

The Bishop says the trip so far has been one of the roughest he ever experienced, but he and his party had enjoyed good health and spirits all the way.

A Returned Missionary.—We had a pleasant call this morning from Elder R. H. Bay, of Call's Fort, Box Elder County, who returned two weeks since from a mission to England, upon which he was sent on the 1st of April, 1883. He labored in the Newcastle Conference during the whole of his absence for the first thirteen months as a traveling Elder, and after that as the President of the Conference. He enjoyed his labors very much, and met with considerable success in converting the small degree of interest that is now manifested in the Gospel in that land. He had a good chance to note the change which has come over the people in that region since his boyhood days, he having emigrated from Newcastle about twenty-two years previous to his return there as a missionary. In those early days there were scores if not hundreds where there is now one willing to investigate the principles the Elders sent forth in protest and honest embrace the same who convinced of the truth. The gospel, as taught by the Saints, requires too much of its adherents to be popular with the world; people generally in this age are seeking for an easier way to rest, to have, or else they have no serious thoughts; about hereafter, which really seems to be the case with many.
