

Don't Run in Debt.

Don't run in debt;—never mind, never mind,
If the old clothes are faded and torn;
Fit them up, make them do, it is better by far,
Than to have the heart weary and worn.
Who'll love you more for the set of the hat,
Or your ruff, or the tie of your shoe,
The shape of your vest, or your boots or cravat,
If they know you're in debt for the new.

Don't run in debt—if canary's the go,
Wear blue if you have not the cash,
Or—no matter what—so you let the world know

You won't run in debt for a dash.
There's no comfort, I tell you, in walking the street

In fine clothes, if you know you're in debt,
And feel perchance that you some trades-man
may meet,

Who will sneer—They're not paid for yet.

Good friends, let me beg you don't run in debt,
If the chairs and the sofas are old,
They will fit your back better than any new set,

Unless they are paid for in gold;
If the house is small draw it closer together,
Keep it warm with a hearty good will;
A big one unpaid for, in all kinds of weather,
Will send to your warm heart a chill.

Don't run in debt—now dear girls take a hint;
(If the fashions have changed since last season)

Old nature is out in the very same tint,
And old nature, we think, has some reason.
Just say to your friends you cannot afford
To spend time to keep up with the fashion;
That your purse is too light and your honor too bright.

To be tarnished with such silly position.
Gents, don't run in debt, let your friends if they can

Have fine houses, feathers and flowers,
But unless they are paid for, be more of a man,

Than envy their sunshiny hours.
If you have money to spare, I have nothing to say;

Spend your dollars and dimes as you please.
But mind you the man that has his note to pay
Is the man that is never at ease.

Kind husbands, don't run in debt any more;
'Twill fill your wife's cup full of sorrow,
To know that a neighbor may call at your door,

With a bill you can't settle to-morrow.
Oh! take my advice—it is good, it is true,
(But lest you may some of you doubt it)
I'll whisper a secret now, seeing 'tis you,—
I have tried it and know all about it.

The chain of a debtor is heavy and cold,
Its links all corrosion and rust,
Gild it o'er as you will, it is never of gold,
Then spurn it aside with disgust.

The man who's in debt is too often a slave,
Though his heart may be honest and true;
Can he hold up his head and look saucy and brave

When a note he can't pay becomes due?
