ORCHARD'S LIFE HISTORY

things were very quiet in Cripple Creek and the union had sent a committee to the governor to urge that there was no further need of the militia.

"Now, then," the attorney went on, "are you sure that Haywood did not say there was likely to be a split up in the mine owners' association and that the mine owners would have to do something if they wanted to retain the militia?"

Orchard declared he remembered nothing of the kind.

"At the time of the Independence depot explosion weren't you having some relations with Detective Scott and Sterling?"

"I may have."

"Did you ever talk to A. E. Carlson?"

Orchard said he had spoken once to Carlson, who was an official of the Mine Owners' association. He had also spoken to Nelson Franklin, asked how it was that he could pass the militia without trouble in Cripple Creek. Orchard replied there were many union men who had done the same thing.

ORCHARD ADMITS ARSON.

At this point Orchard created something of a sensation by adding the crime of arson to his long list of misdeeds. He said he had been paid to burn Neville's saloon near the Independence depot, collect the insurance money and divide it.

"Who set fire to the saloon?"

"I did."

"I took some 'Petitbone dope' upstairs and came away and left it there."

"You had some dope for 'Petitbone dope' then, after all?"

"Yes."

Orchard later got $100 of the $500 insurance Neville collected.

"When did Haywood tell you to burn up the saloon?"

"He didn't tell me to."

"Did Moyer or Pettibone?"

"No."

"They didn't take out any of your pay because you'd got a little work on the side?"

"No, I didn't get a salary."

"After the arson experience, Orchard said he deserted his second wife and started off on the trail with Neville and his son. Orchard said he had sent some money to his first wife since he had been in the penitentiary here.

"Where did you get it?" demanded Richardson.

"I got it from Warden Whitney. I asked him if he would advance me $50 on some guns, field glasses and things I had which could be sold after the trial."

"Where did Whitney get the money?"

"He said he got it from the governor."

Orchard said he had also sold a pocket watch and chain and sent the money to his wife. Altogether he had got $115 since he had been in the penitentiary.

He had also got some clothes once in a while.

"Got some lately to appear in at this trial?"

"Yes."

"And had your picture taken?"

"Yes."

Adjournment at this point was taken until 9:30 a. m., Monday.

KILLED IN MINE.

Thomas S. Spears of this City Stricken Down by a Blast.

W. A. Spears of Salt Lake returned to this city this morning bringing the details of the distressing accident which cost a brother, Thomas S. Spears, his life last Sunday night at 11:05.

Thomas S. Spears, Lyle Davis and Walter Jones were working a tunnel on a property some distance out of Montpelier, Ida. They had drilled their holes in the face of the tunnel and had tamped their powder into the holes. Jones had gone out to get some supper ready. Mr. Spears said he would light the first and third fuses while Davis lighted the second fuse.

Everything went well until the third fuse was lighted. This fuse refused to "split" although Mr. Spears remained with it several minutes. Finally Davis started running down the tunnel, calling to Mr. Spears to follow.

"It's getting dangerous in here," as Davis turned a bend in the tunnel he heard an explosion and then his partner's groans.

He realized that his partner had been caught but knew there was another blast to follow. As soon as this blast had passed he rushed back into the tunnel and found Spears lying about 25 feet from the face of the tunnel. The unfortunate man's right side was bruised, although the skull had not been broken. Later examination showed that no bones were broken although life had lasted but 25 minutes after the explosion. It is thought that Mr. Spears had started running towards the bend which had protected his partner but before he could reach it the explosion had occurred.

The funeral was held in Bennington, Ida., Wednesday, at the home of the boy's parents. The deceased was born in Bennington but was well known in this city. He was married in November 7 last to Miss Ida Leavitt of Afton, Wyo. He was 23 years old at the time of his death. Besides the parents, four brothers, three sisters and wife living in Bennington and the brother in this city, the boy is survived by a brother living at present in Spokane, The Spokane.

The boy was a very industrious, steady and in short, of such habits and characteristics that he made friends wherever he went.

MILLMEN'S UNION FOR CLOSED SHOP

Owners Will Fight Proposition And a Lively Time May Result.

NOW GET SWOLLEN SALARIES.

Average Wage is Nearly $40 Per Week, But Non-Union Workers Are Hated as a Menace.

THE LUMBERMEN'S STRIKE.

Number of mill men employed, 100
Non-union men, still at work, 44
Average wage of strikers, $38.00
Maximum wage of mill workers, $45.00
Average weekly wage for mill workers, $15.00

Strike is to force closed shop. Employers may retaliate by refusing to allow union men to enter their shops in the future.

No work is totally suspended, small crews being at work in all mills.

Salt Lake is today experiencing trouble in one of the large industrial fields, the lumbermen have been made in plenty during the past decade, and where United States senators have gone down to the penitentiary doors in disgrace because of overvaluing for money out of the people's demand for money.

The Salt Lake mill men are on strike, in so far as their labor union is able to make a strike, but as only half of them are union men, there is far from a united spirit on the question. All of the men receive over $20 a week, some of them receive over $30. Few of the men on whose houses they work receive incomes so substantial, and the situation is illustrative of the general economic condition of the day in which grasping for dividends on the part of owners has been followed by grasping for wages on the part of those handling the product, and a net boosting of prices to the purchasing public. Leading contractors in Salt Lake maintain that the people are not getting the product, and that this extra percentage goes into swollen dividends, and salary lists. So critical has the situation become of late that already the general abandonment of building operations is under way, and the strike of the mill workers is adding one more force to send building operations in this direction.

Not all the mills are suffering. The Asper-Nord firm carry a full equipment of non-union men, are working as usual. The Sierra Nevada mill men went out yesterday morning, after a lively row between the union president, who works there, and his employer. The president used obscene and insulting language to his employer, it is maintained, and was given out as the cause for his dismissal. It was followed soon afterwards by a general walk out of mill men.

The company is preparing to fight against the demands of the men, which seem centered on the proposition of enforcing a closed shop, and thus preventing competition among labor that would insure the employment of the swollen schedules at present maintained. A publicity committee has been appointed with Theodore Nyström at its head, and through this committee the mill operators will place their case before the public, if such a course seems advisable. A statement is now being prepared, and may be issued tomorrow or next day.

The raise in the cost of building has already gone to such limits that the public look for a sharp alarm on any further effort to boost it.

THAT WARRANT SQUABBLE.

New Forms May be Doctored Up to Suit Disgruntled Contractor.

The finance committee of the city council held a special meeting yesterday afternoon in the city attorney's office and doctored up the form for the new city warrants, to be issued to contractors in the place of scrip, so as to suit contractor S. Birch and an ordinance covering the new form will be submitted to the council Monday night for passage.

Mr. Birch has been raising considerable trouble lately because of the form of the warrants first issued. He was present at the meeting yesterday and pointed out that the warrants were defective in that they could not be sold because of the defect.

Members of the committee and Assistant City Attorney Dinwiddie talked the matter over with Birch and finally decided to issue several warrants on the new form to please the contractor. The new form will be approved by the council and then the warrants now held by Mr. Birch will be taken up and new ones issued in their stead.

The blame for the blunder in the first form which was issued recently was not located, but the city attorney's office tried to lay the responsibility upon the shoulders of Auditor Alf. The latter, however, contended that the trouble was caused by the attorney's office. At any rate, they will have to have new warrants printed, and as they suit Birch, they will probably pass muster so as to be acceptable to other contractors. Those present at the meeting were Councilmen Ferry, Black, Fernstrom and Crabtree, Auditor Alf, Deputy City Clerk Stevens, Assistant City Attorney Dinwiddie and Mr. Birch.
