Prof. Fowler's Lecture.-Prof. O. S. Fowler delivered the first of a series of six lectures at the Theatre last night. The building was crowded to excess, a large number of persons having to stand during the whole of the delivery, which lasted fully two hours. Mr. Fowler was listened to with wrapt interest and attention from beginning to close, The principal features were his clear reasoning intended to show that the opinion entertained by some people that the human mind was a iomogeneous entity was a fallacy. He claimed that it was necessarily a combination of parts, demonstrat, ed by its capacity to do more than one thing at once.
