VITAL MEASURE

IS INTRODUCED

Joint Committee Launches a Big Irrigation Bill.

IS VERY COMPREHENSIVE.

Repeals All Existing Laws and Provides for Rights and Usage of All The Water of the State.

The most vital bill of this session of the Legislature was introduced into both houses this afternoon. It is the irrigation measure that has been engaging the attention of the joint committee, assisted by State Engineer Doremus and Attorney F. S. Richards, together with other authorities on irrigation and water rights. The bill embodies 24 printed pages and has 73 sections. It proposes to wipe every law relating to irrigation, from the statute books, as it is believed that every aspect of the subject is covered by the new bill.

The first section of the bill provides for the appointment of a state engineer, who shall supervise the waters of the state, and in the succeeding sections there are provisions for his salary, the location of his office, his oath and bond, his reports to the governor, which must be open to the public, the requirement laid upon him to make hydrographic surveys and keep maps of all river systems in the state, giving notice before making hydrographic surveys, inspecting and planning for dams and keeping duplicates of the plans, examining the completed work, inspecting all diverting works.

The state engineer shall file statements indicating the names and post-office addresses of all persons using water from any river system and giving all necessary information. Within 30 days of the filing of the statement the clerk of the court in which the statement is filed shall give public notice that all persons claiming rights must, within six months, file their claims, setting forth their rights to the use of the water, the nature of the appropriation, the flow per second, the character of the diverting works, the extent of the lands irrigated, and the use of the water power. A failure to file the statement bars the diverting from asserting his rights.

There is a provision for the appointment of referees to decide controversies and the manner in which the court shall be conducted. Appeal may be made to the supreme court.

STATE WATER DISTRICTS.

It is contemplated that the state shall be divided into water districts, and the subdivisions of the state engineer from time to time. The governor and the state engineer are to appoint superintendents of divisions of the state, setting forth the extent of the water rights, and also their compensation.

Water rights may be acquired by appropriation for any useful purpose, first in time, first in right.

TRANSFER OF RIGHTS.

The bill provides that flowing water is public property, that water percolating through the soil belongs to the owner of the soil, water rights are lost after seven years of abandonment, irrigators shall have right of pre-emption, and water rights shall pass to the grantee of land, provided that they may be reserved by the grantor in the conveyance in express terms.

Water rights may be transferred by deeds in the same manner as real estate, deeds shall be recorded or become void against innocent purchasers.

EXISTING RIGHTS LET ALONE.

The fees that may be collected by the state engineer in connection with the bill are provided that they shall be paid into the state treasury. That no existing water rights are to be interfered with, and that no rights in section 73, which provides that no rights acquired under former laws shall be affected.

It is the purpose of the joint committee as well as other friends of the bill, to have the measure passed and enacted into law before the close of this session.

WILL STIR KINDERGARTENERS.

The education committee of the senate reported adversely on Senator Bamberger's bill No. 75, providing for the incorporation of a kindergarten as a part of every public school in districts of 1,000 people or more. The committee was not unanimous, however, two reports have been submitted. The majority report recommended the decision of the bill and was signed by Senators Love, C. P. Larsen, Bennion and Barber. The minority report favored the passage of the bill, and was signed by Senators Bamberger, Johnson and McKay. Action on the report will be taken later on in this afternoon's session.

BILLS PASSED BY SENATE.

The senate yesterday passed a number of bills, the first of which was an act relating to pharmacy, which was passed after some discussion, the result in an amendment making the provisions of the bill apply to cities of the first and second class as well as to cities of the third class.

S. B. 109, passed by unanimous vote. It modifies the present law in relation to the granting of franchises.

CITY ATTORNEY INDIGNANT.

City Attorney Nye is quite indignant at the county commissioners for urging the passage of a bill which he amended, requiring the cities to take care of the indigent poor that are placed under quarantine by the city board of health. Mr. Nye contends that under the constitution the responsibility is required to provide for the indigent poor under the circumstances described, and that the actions of the county commissioners in avoiding this responsibility has resulted in the most shameful instances of actual suffering imposed upon the sick and destitute. He said he originally had intended to require the county to support the indigent, but it is charged that the amendment shifts the responsibility onto the city, which he said he had no intention of doing.

Mr. Nye declares that the present bill is unconstitutional and will be pronounced as such by the supreme court.

MUTUAL INSURANCE.

What a Local Expert Thinks of the Matter—Coast Review Opinion.

Manager B. F. Grant of the Home Fire Insurance company is only voicing the opinion of many in deprecating the proposed legislation in favor of local mutual insurance.

As long as a man does not get burned under there will be no trouble; but when a sufferer turns to his insurance association and finds he is insured, suddenly one man will be found who will say, "I'm too hard up, I can't."

Another man will say, "If he don't pay, I won't."

I won't. That will be the end of the local mutual insurance. Mr. Grant shows a supplement to the Coast Review, devoted to the subject of mutual fire insurance, and which says, "Poor protection for policyholders. Claimants often get nothing. Doubtful as to the assessment of losses. Litigation. Dissolution. Many failures of Mutuals."

The Coast Review further says: "No responsibility for the payment of a single policy. He is a doctor who has no faith in his own medicine. . . . Mutuals do not and cannot give protection. . . . They are not stockholders, but they are not stockholders. . . . There is no capital at stake. There is nothing to depend on but the collection of assets, and the uncertainty of litigation, and—good luck. This is a poor foundation on which to base a claim for loss by fire. The policyholder of a mutual may be insured, but he is not insured. . . . Fire mutuals are failing all the time, but being small affairs little notice is made. The receivers are brought out, but, as the receivers are not insured, the money collected is nearly all swallowed up by legal and receivership expenses. The policyholders are forced to pay, but the claimants get little or nothing."

WANTS ANTI-TRUST LAW.

Attorney General Breeden Says So in Report to Governor Wells.

Attorney-General M. A. Breeden, in his biennial report filed with Governor Wells yesterday afternoon, recommends that the state should enact a law which will enable his office to cope with the illegal methods of transacting business adopted by a great many corporations and trusts, which are now doing business in this state, and that they may be checked in their practices of fleecing the unsuspecting public or be stamped out entirely.

The report states that it is the duty of the attorney-general to restrain corporations from exceeding their authority or transacting business in an illegal manner, but that the laws are inadequate to reach them at all. They are not restricted to the financial statements each year with the secretary of state, so there is no way of discovering gross frauds in their methods. The most common of these is the use of the corporation to evade the law, and to avoid the payment of taxes, and to avoid the payment of taxes, and to avoid the payment of taxes.

From that time until arrested by Police-man Joe Bush, Kane had "one unending round of joy"—such as it was. He sampled every kind of drink he could get his hands on, and he had, in fact, passed, and presently reeled and keeled over into the gutter. There he lay until fished out by the officer, remarking, "I'm a fool, I'm a fool, I'm a fool."

Kane was taken back to the pen. He is doing time for forgery.

DR. PARLEY'S DEATH.

Cambrian Association Expresses Its Sympathy in Resolutions.

The Cambrian association of this city, at a meeting held last night, adopted the following resolutions on the death of Dr. Joseph Parley, a copy of which was forwarded to the family in Cardiff, Wales:

"Whereas, It has pleased the Father of us all to remove from mortal life our late friend and fellow Welshman, Dr. Joseph Parley, a copy of which was forwarded to the family in Cardiff, Wales:

"Whereas, At the request of this association he visited Utah in 1898, for the purpose of serving as an adjudicator at a great national Eisteddfod held in this city, and for the purpose of performing this duty with great and impartial ability, to the satisfaction of the general public and of this association in particular, and he died of pneumonia, a citizen of Utah, irrespective of race or nationality, now, therefore, by the Cambrian association of Salt Lake City, Utah, it is hereby

"Resolved, That we express at this time our appreciation of the many high and commanding qualities of Joseph Parley as a man of integrity and purity of character, who labored to promote the betterment of his fellow men, and who united mildness and kindness of heart with firmness of purpose, and whose untimely death is a great loss to the family and friends, and to the high profession to which he had devoted all the years of his active, honorable and useful life.

"Resolved, That we extend to his bereaved widow and children our warmest sympathies and sincere condolences.

"Resolved, That as descendants of Wales we mourn the loss of one of our noblest sons, and we extend to his family our warmest sympathies and sincere condolences.

"Resolved, That these resolutions be placed upon the records of our association and a copy suitably engrossed be sent to his family."

HOW TO BE

Cared of Piles Without Pain.

First: Change from sedentary occupation to wisely chosen, more active work.

Second: From indoor to outdoor life. Third: From warm to rich clothing.

Fourth: From unhealthy, rich living, to a mild hygienic diet.

Fifth, Sixth and last, use Pyramid Pile Cure regularly, and according to directions, for it is the right cure for the trouble, and will cure you as it has hundreds of others.

Don't wait until you are a helpless invalid, for a neglected case of hemorrhoids, or piles, may, if neglected, rapidly lead to worse. The unnatural formations become tumorous and permanent, and the inflammation grows into the tissues, forming tubercular growths which discharge pus; cancerous conditions, and general gangrenous degeneration of the rectum.

What is needed at the start, or at any stage, is something to soothe the inflammation, reduce the swelling and distension, and at the same time, restore the diseased parts to normal condition. These three things are accomplished perfectly by the Pyramid Pile Cure. It checks all progress of the disease, and restores the inflamed parts to normal condition, besides relieving at once the pain and fearful irritation.

"I began using Pyramid Pile Cure, and in order to make sure of a cure, I used the medicine for the past six weeks. I have not been troubled in the least, and I had been bothered for thirty-five years, and had spent more than fifty dollars for different remedies; but the first permanent help I have had, and no one could feel more grateful than I do." L. M. Williams, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists generally for fifty cents a package, and we urge all sufferers to write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their valuable literature describing the cause and cure of piles.

"First, that both ends of stretches of single line track be provided with property or signal lights, which may be lighted from the opposite end of the single line track where the cars pass onto that end of the track.

"Second, that all street cars be provided with powerful headlights, behind which shall be placed good parabolic mirror lenses, so that the cars will be visible on the tracks, and that these headlights be placed on the cars above the heads of the motormen in order that the tracks may be better lighted and the cars more visible in darkness or fog, which may hereafter appear.

"Third, that the sand-boxes on the cars be placed in such a position and in such a way that they will be visible on the tracks, and that the sand-boxes be operated in a way that they may be seen and the rails in case the motormen should of necessity have to leave the car in case of imminent danger.

"In testimony whereof the said jurors have hereunto set their hands the day of the year first above written.

(Signed) "WM. D. NEAL, "J. B. REID, "Jurors."

Tendency of the Times.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent disease than to cure it. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip), and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts and prevents the development of pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia, and the patient is in a dangerous condition. It is always cured. For sale by all druggists.
