

GOVERNOR CUTLER HOME FROM IDAHO

Has Been Enjoying Himself on a Fishing and Hunting Expedition.

AS TO THE SUGAR BEET CROP.

Some Interesting Remarks on Criticism
Of German Scientist Regarding
Methods of Local Farmers.

Gov. John C. Cutler and his son Alfred returned this morning from a fishing trip to the Snake River. The governor's ranch on the north fork of the river in Idaho. They caught a lot of fine trout, and spent two days hunting for elk with an experienced guide in the east and west mountains. However, owing to the fine weather and there being no snowfall, the big game had not started south; but the governor and son shot a number of fine hens. They stopped over at the Idaho sugar company's factory at Sugar City, and were shown over the best fields by Agricultural Supt. Mark Austin, who said the beets were better in quality and quantity than had been estimated, and the first day's run worked up over 500 tons. The beets were being delivered in better condition than last year.

On being asked as to an interview reported in a Salt Lake morning paper, of a German scientist criticizing the methods of sugar manufacturers and farmers in Utah, in raising small beets, Mr. Austin said that was a question of thinning and the quality and condition of land. Mr. Austin showed his visitors over 340 acres that will average 18 tons to the acre. At Nampa, a farmer has 250 acres of beets that will run 10 to 24 tons to the acre, this first year of beet raising; while Germany with an experience of 100 years only raises 12 to 25 tons to the acre. It is a fact, however, that many beet growers are not careful enough in preparing the land, and thinning and weeding at the proper time. But, like all unsuccessful men in other lines, they will either improve or will fall through negligence, and drop out.

While at St. Anthony the governor and son visited the Idaho Industrial school, and found there two suitable buildings, one for boys and one for girls, but nearer to each other than with the Ogden Industrial school. The school has 37 boys and 15 girls, and the governor was surprised to see so many young children there, the youngest being only five years of age, and some of the girls appeared to be not over 10 to 12 years. However, it was explained that their home environment was undesirable, so they were placed where they could be prevented from going wrong. When Gov. Cutler asked if the influence of the older ones would not be bad on the younger ones, it was explained they are all being educated up to higher and nobler aims, purposes and thoughts. The boys and girls all take their meals together, but the superintendent, Mr. Humphreys, who has been connected with the school for 17 years and has the inmates under control, admitted that the boys and girls' industrial schools ought to be miles apart.

THE SUGAR CAMPAIGN.

Starting of the Big Factories in the Intermountain Country.

The sugar factories in this part of the country are all starting up with most excellent prospects. The Lehi factory started on the 24th inst., with 300 men inside; the Garland factory on the 26th inst., with 250 men, the Nampa factory on the 27th inst., with 250 men, the Sugar City factory on the 28th inst., with 250 men, the Idaho Falls factory started this morning, with 250 men, and the Blackfoot factory opens up on Monday next, with 225 men. This makes nearly 1,700 operatives within the walls, and including the out of door help, the total will amount to about 2,000 men for the six factories.

In addition, it is learned that the Ogden sugar factory started up Sept. 21, and Logan factory on the 27th inst., while on Monday next the Lewiston factory will begin operations, and the factory at Le Grande, on Oct. 27. It is interesting to note that the stockholders of the 10 institutions number over 3,000 people.

General Manager Cutler, in commenting on the season today, was pleased to find he had a reason to take an optimistic view of the situation, owing to the fine weather which is just what the beets need to ripen in, and he expects that this will be the heaviest season in the history of local sugar making. Mr. Cutler expects that the six factories will turn out this season from 45,000 to 50,000 tons of beet sugar.

GRANITE STAKE GATHERING.

One in Honor of the Bishops Was Altogether Most Pleasing.

The Granite stake house was yesterday afternoon and evening the scene of a very pretty and pleasant gathering in honor of the stake bishops. There were present in addition to the bishops and their families, Presi-

John R. Winder, Elders Lyman, John Henry Smith, Clawson, Teasdale, Hyrum Smith, George A. Smith, and C. W. Penrose of the council of apostles and members of the high council of the Granite stake. After eating a dinner in the basement of the stake house, and listening to a program of speeches and music, the evening was given over to an old-fashioned dancing party.

Invitations to the gathering had been sent out by the presidency and high council of the Granite stake, and a committee had been named by them to complete arrangements. They had beautifully decorated the stake house with the national flag combined with autumn leaves, and over the stage was hung the words "Welcome to Our Bishops."

The banquet, which had been provided by the wives of members of the high council, began at 5 o'clock. Following the feast, the following program was carried out:

Selections.....Anderson family
Prayer.....Patriarch John Smith
Address of welcome.....
Song.....President F. Y. Taylor
Remarks....."The Good Things of Life"
"Our High Council".....George Crisman

S. H. Love of Elder Dale was master of ceremonies and presided at the dinner. During the informal toasts and the remarks, many things were said and complimentary to the bishops of the stake, and their splendid service in behalf of the people whom they served.

HANDICRAFT VETERANS.

Arrangements for Care of Those Who Will Attend Unique Gathering.

Inasmuch as it is expected that there will be a gathering of the handicraft veterans in the Fourteenth ward assembly hall, this city, on the 4th and 5th of October next, which will bring to the city a great many persons who have no relatives residing here, and who will greatly appreciate the hospitality of those who can provide them with sleeping accommodations during their stay, it is desired by the presiding bishopric that all those who can provide such accommodation, to report to Brother C. R. Savage, number 12 and 14 south Main street.

In reporting the number that you can entertain kindly give the sex.

It is also desired that the Old Folks central committee assist in this labor.

YOUNG GARDENERS MAKE FINE SHOW

Exhibit of Garden Produce and
Flowers in City and County
Building Today.

FRANKLIN SCHOOL SCORES.

Awarded the Prize for the Best Collective Display of Flowers Grown
On Grounds.

An exhibit of garden products and flowers which would do credit to a state fair was held in the legislative hall at the city and county building today. The products exhibited were raised by school children of the city of all ages and grades and from seeds sent from the department of agriculture and distributed last spring among the various schools. To say that the children deserve great credit for the manner in which they cared for their gardens and for the results obtained is putting it very mildly. In fact some of the best, squash, pumpkins, watermelons, radishes, onions, carrots, parsnips, cauliflower and tomatoes exhibited were as fine specimens as has been seen in the state.

The committee which awarded the prizes in the competition was composed of Orson F. Hewlett, State Supt. of Schools, Nelson and A. C. Matheison, secretary to the state superintendent. They had a very difficult task in determining which of the exhibits were entitled to the prize as all were good. The prizes to be given the winners will consist of suitable books.

The Franklin school was awarded the prize for the best collective exhibit of flowers raised on the school grounds. In that contest the Lincoln and Emerson schools were given special mention by the judges.

The individual prizes were awarded as follows:

Turnip—Frank Barnes, 711 Fifth street, Longview school.
Summer Squash—Russell Hodson, Summer school.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—It is a perfectly safe statement that Salt Lake will see few better things the coming season than that which held the boards at the theater last night with Digby Bell and his altogether admirable company in "The Education of Mr. Pipp." It is also a safe statement that Augustus W. Thomas never wrote a more brilliant play than this same satirical comedy on modern get-rich-quick society. As is well known it is written around the celebrated Mr. Pipp, one of the pencil creations of Charles Gibson, who has made of the old penman a genuinely enjoyable character. Mr. Bell's impersonation of the role may be described as perfectly pathetic or pathetic perfect according to the mood of the audience. His every look is a fountain of merriment, his every move the signal that starts into a tumultuous uproar. Small wonder that he was given a reception that amounted to an ovation, or that his company was acclaimed, with a single exception, as polished the last member. The exception was the gentleman who essayed the role of the congressman, who was a little short of intolerable.

Entitled to special mention was Mr. St. Claire as the French count. It must be said that his interpretation of the character was a superb bit of acting. To Belle Gaffney was entrusted the difficult part of Mrs. Pipp, and right splendidly did she acquit herself ever maintaining her top lofty herself and conceived euphuism, in excellent style. Her linguistic lapses and pretended knowledge of French were screamingly funny. The two Gibson girls, Phyllis Young and Elsie Scott, the former, a Salt Lake girl, daughters of the Pippes, were well sustained. The play went to a big matinee this afternoon and will conclude its Salt Lake engagement tonight.
