FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

The City Council holds its regular weekly session to night.

Why is the auctioneer a powerful man? Because he can knock down everything that comes before him.

Workmen have been busy to-day clearing a way for the forest of weeds at the mouth of the Jordan and Salt Lake City Canal.

McClellan, charged with robbery at the Metropolitan, was before the Police Magistrate this morning, and his case was continued till 2 p. m.

The case of W. B. Clays vs. W. S. McCormick held the attention of the District Court this morning, with a fair prospect of monopolizing the day.

Five cases were disposed of in the Police Court this morning, four fined in sums ranging from $5 to $10 each, and one withdrawn on payment of costs.

Sister Zina D. Young recently brought from Provo several boxes of canned fruit, donated by the Primary Association of Provo City to the Deseret Hospital. A good example.

An official of the D. & R. G. railway has expressed himself that the present freight rate reduction will not be at all successful in bringing management to look for between the competing lines.

Those desiring to purchase numbers for their houses should call at Boat Anderson's, under the Deseret Bank. He claims to sell them at 50 per cent. less than any other place in the city.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Information Wanted.—Any person knowing the whereabouts of W. A. Richardson, who left Box Elder County, Utah, for Arizona, in 1880, will confer a great favor by sending the information to L. A. Kimball, at Ogden, Pleasant Valley Junction, D. & R. G. Railway, Wasatch County, Utah.

Fill It Up.—A capacious mud-hole is reported to exist on the State Road, between the Smith farm at Dayville and the Point of the Mountain. It has been there all summer, is said to have stalled numbers of teams traveling that way, and is a dangerous and standing menace to all vehicles that pass over the road. On Sunday night a man and his wife with five small children were going that way by team, and in the dark their wagon got stuck in the mud, and remained fixed and inextricably, keeping the inmates there all night, and subjecting the man on the outside to exposure to the snow and sleet which was falling. A few loads of rock and dirt dumped into the hole would win for the county road supervisor a hearty vote of thanks.

Home-made Silk.—Sister Zina D. Young, an active agent in the local silk industry, exhibited at this office to-day some very nice samples of home-made silk handkerchiefs, one of them manufactured entirely of Utah silk, and the others of imported material. The former was raised, reeled, colored and woven in Utah, the loom used being also a home production. The one who made the article is a lady lately immigrated from England by the Relief Society of Provo, of which Sister Beebe is the President. The work is a credit to the lady operator and her services a valuable acquisition to Territorial silk interests. We learn that with the expenditure of about $150, the machinery now used at the silk factory near the mouth of City Creek Canyon will be prepared for the manufacture of warp and filling.

Collected with Costs.—A popular restaurateur on Main Street, the other day telephoned for two policemen to put a man out of his place who would not pay for his dinner. The officers immediately repaired to the scene, but the man complained of head-aches. The proprietor of the place guards him as if he did not wish them to have their trouble for nothing, and would they have a sign? The treat was accepted and the officers departed. Some time later the man who owed for his dinner, reappeared and plunked down half a dollar, the price of his meal, in payment thereof. "Seventy-five cents, please," said the proprietor. "How's that?" asked the other. "Ugh!" was the reply. "But I had no cigars," was the surprised exclamation. "No, but the police did, that I sent for to put you out." The other saw the point, paid the extra quarter, and left, with a wild glitter as of acquired information in dancing in his evil eye.

Birthday Celebration.—Our enterprising townsmen, David James, Esq., was the recipient of a surprise last evening, on the occasion of celebrating his 51st birthday. It was intended to have been given a year ago, but domestic bereavement interposed, so that friendship and family affection, which first suggested the idea, found its expression at the present date. Some seventy persons sat down to a sumptuous table, after which the visitors themselves were also surprised by the presentation of a genuine Guy Fawkes, whose mischievous and rotund body filled with combustibles, was soon committed to the flames, and aroused among the many old-country people who were present, many a thought of the almost forgotten past.

The Seventh Ward Brass Band tendered a serenade and discoursed some of their best tunes in pleasant style, after which more music, songs, and conversation were the feature of the evening. Addresses were given by Brothers Thomas V. Williams, James Bishop, H. W. Nabholz, and Bishop Thorn; also by Sisters Harriet and Ellen. An exceedingly pleasant interval ended amid congratulations and good wishes that many happy returns of the day might come for the father, brother and friend, whose anniversary was thus cheerfully kept, and a benediction by Brother Horne dismissed the gratified company to their homes.

UTAH'S POPULATION.

ITS INCREASE IN TWO DECADES.

The appended facts in relation to the increase of our Territory's population since the year 1860, with other items of information respecting the formation of new counties, changes in county boundaries, etc., are culled from the expenditure of the tenth census of the United States, taken in the year 1880. Utah Territory was organized on the 9th of September, 1850, and at that time contained but seventeen counties, with an aggregate population of 40,273, divided as follows: Beaver, 738; Box Elder, 1,098; Cache, 2,006; Cedar, 741; Davis, 2,904; Green River, 141; Iron, 1,010; Juab, 672; Millard, 715; Salt Lake, 11,295; Sanpete, 3,815; Shambip, 163; Summit, 193; Tooele, 1,008; Utah, 8,218; Washington, 691; Weber, 3,678.

In the year 1870, when the next census was taken, these seventeen counties had increased to twenty-one, and the Territorial population to 80,789; having more than doubled itself in ten years. The counties with their respective populations were then as follows: Beaver, 2,007; Box Elder, 4,855; Cache, 8,226; Davis, 4,459; Iron, 2,277; Juab, 2,084; Kane, 1,513; Millard, 2,783; Morgan, 1,972; Piute, 82; Rich, 1,955; Rio Virgin, 460; Salt Lake, 15,397; Sanpete, 6,793; Sevier, 10; Summit, 2,515; Tooele, 2,177; Utah, 12,203; Wasatch, 1,244; Washington, 3,968; Weber, 7,858. It will be observed that during that decade the counties of Cedar, Green River and Shambip disappeared, and those of Kane, Morgan, Piute, Rich, Rio Virgin, Sevier and Wasatch were created. Shambip was absorbed by Juab, Tooele and Utah, and Green River became a portion of Wyoming Territory. In 1871 a part of the newly constructed county of Rio Virgin was set off to the State of Nevada, and in 1873 the remainder of it was annexed to Washington County, thus obliterating it entirely.

At the expiration of another ten years, the census of 1880 gave Utah twenty-three counties and a population of 143,903. By counties as here given: Beaver, 3,913; Box Elder, 6,761; Cache, 12,532; Davis, 6,278; Emery, 553; Iron, 4,018; Juab, 8,474; Kane, 8,035; Millard, 3,727; Morgan, 1,793; Piute, 1,651; Rich, 1,263; Salt Lake, 31,977; San Juan, 204; Sanpete, 11,557; Sevier, 4,437; Summit, 4,921; Tooele, 4,497; Utah, 709; Utah, 17,973; Wasatch, 2,947; Washington, 4,235; Weber, 12,914. That year witnessed many changes similar to those described, for instance, the formation of three new counties, viz., Emery, San Juan and Uintah; the first from parts of Sanpete, Sevier and Wasatch, the second from parts of Kane, Iron and Piute; and the last from parts of Sanpete and Wasatch. Counties of parts of Salt Lake County (the Church Island) were added to Box Elder, Davis, Weber and Tooele; part of Sanpete was given to Wasatch, and the boundaries of Utah County were changed.

Monday Night's Monologue.—An intelligent audience of very good dimensions attended Miss Kate Field's entertainment at the Theatre last evening, and so far as public opinion has expressed itself the verdict has been very complimentary to the lady in question. The programme opened with selections by the Sixth Infantry band, seventeen in number, under the able leadership of Professor Ziegler, whose inspiring strains contributed in no small way to the enjoyment of an appreciative audience. Miss Field then made her appearance and without any unnecessary ado, divided adroitly into her subject, in which she seemed perfectly at ease, and soon made her auditors feel equally so. The Monologue entitled "Eyes and Ears in London," as its name indicates, is a narrative, not exactly in the form of a lecture, but something much akin to it, delivered by one person, and interspersed with appropriate songs at pleasing intervals, illustrating various features of the subject dwelt upon. Miss Field with the valuable assistance of a lady pianist, who was an excellent accompanist, acquitted herself with equal credit in singing as in speaking, and during the evening made more than one decided hit. What the audience seemed most to enjoy was the "silent song," in which the artist imitated with face and figure all the fashionable motions and gestures attendant on the rendition of a song by a society belle, but sounded not a note the while, the only idea of the melody of the piece being conveyed by the accompaniment. The satire was exquisite. The Spanish Mulet song was also much applauded, and from a purely musical view was the gem of the evening. The speech of the London Swell showed off to good advantage Miss Field's ability as a mimic, and the same can be said of the burlesque on Italian Opera, which formed an amusing finale to the programme. Taken as a whole it was a very pleasing entertainment, and well repaid the liberal patronage it received.

Land Surveys.—UNITED STATES, SURVEYOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, Salt Lake City, U. T., Nov. 6th, 1883. The following Township plats, as surveyed by Shadrach M. Richardson, U.S. Deputy Surveyor, were this day filed in the Local Land office, viz: Township No. 10 South Range 2 West.

FRID. SALOMON, U. S. Surveyor General, O. E. SALOMON, Chief Clerk.

A Fraternal Call.—We were pleased to receive a fraternal call to-day from L. B. Metcalf, Esq., office editor of the North American Review, one of the ablest magazines published in this country; also from Wm. A. Bates, Esq., of Boston, Mass. Both gentlemen are delighted with what they have seen of this city and its surroundings, and are making excellent use of their time in intelligent observation. We wish them a pleasant journey.

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.

The November meeting of the Deseret Sunday School Union was held on Monday evening, the 5th inst., at the Assembly Hall. Assistant Supt. Geo. Goddard presided. Excellent singing was rendered by the First Ward choir under the leadership of Wm. C. Cullen. Prayer by Elder Arnold G. Glean.

The report of the semi-annual meeting of the Union was read by Secretary Richards. Most of the city schools were represented, as well as Farmington and East Mill Creek Wards. Assistant Supt. Joseph Bly reported the Sunday School of the First Ward in a very satisfactory condition, with a total attendance of 174, divided into 15 classes; the theological class taught by the Bishop. He said that as a custom, after the usual opening and reading exercises a short programme was carried out of miscellaneous exercises, interspersed with an occasional song, address, or recitation of a character suited to interest as well as instruct the children.

Stake Supt. John C. Cutler, stated that in his missionary visits with his fellow-laborers to the Sunday Schools of the State, he became pretty well acquainted with the management of the schools in this county. Much diversity existed, but all were conducted with a view to draw the children together to receive instruction. A lack of competent teachers was a general complaint and was much to be regretted. The schools of the State were in a growing condition.

An anthem by the choir was followed by an address from Asst. Sec. retary, Joseph Hyrum Parry, A. S. Sunday School missionary he took much interest and pleasure in visiting them. He said that as the meeting of the Sunday School Union were held for the special purpose of affording teachers and superintendents an opportunity of exchanging ideas and plans for the carrying on of successful schools, it was much to be regretted that some schools were seldom or ever represented. Such schools could not keep up with the times, would run in a groove and eventually lack in interest sufficient to bring the children together.

Brother John Alford, who followed, said he had much pleasure in the Sunday School mission, and took much pride in his labor as he realized the importance of that cause. The boys and girls now attending these schools were the future of Israel, as they were taught to become good and great and useful, so that Zion would grow and flourish. The future of Zion's children was a glorious one, and to be a son of Zion would yet be more honorable than to be a king of any other country.

Asst. Supt. George Goddard, as a means of securing a better attendance at school in all the Wards, suggested the appointment of male teachers to visit the houses of the Saints and encourage the children to attend Sunday Schools. This course had been attended with very good results elsewhere. He very urgently admonished the young men to habits of sobriety and virtue, as their happiness, future usefulness and greatness depended upon temperate and virtuous conduct through life.

The meeting was adjourned till the first Monday in December, at 7 o'clock p. m. The Fourth Ward was requested to furnish music and doorkeepers for that occasion, Singing. Benediction by Elder T. C. Griggs. J. H. P.

Bound Over.—The case of Richard Roach, after occupying the best part of three days' time in the Police Court before Justice Spies, was wound up yesterday. Richard was bound over in the sum of $300, to await the action of the Grand Jury, but as he gave no bail he is still an inmate of the City Jail. Roach, it will be remembered, was the individual who assaulted and threw down Mr. M. Powers, on Sunday, the 27th ult., and attempted to rob him of his watch. The assault took place at a very early hour, and while the fire at the Skating Rink was in progress. Powers was rescued by the police, who came in response to his call for help, and his assailant was arrested and taken into custody.
