WATCHES JEWELRY

ABOUT three months ago all the watchmakers in the city agreed and subscribed to certain prices for work in their line, for the purpose of obtaining uniform and Cheap Rates. This agreement, however, has already been broken by several watchmakers, who are underselling their colleagues and thereby proving themselves untrue to their written word. In consequence of which, the undersigned has withdrawn his name from said agreement and established his own prices, Cheaper than any other Watchmaker's in Salt Lake City.

For You, Madam,

Whose complexion betrays some humiliating imperfection, whose mirror tells you that you are Tanned, Sallow and disfigured in countenance, or have Eruptions, Redness, Roughness or unwholesome tints of complexion, we say use Hagan's Magnolia Balm. A delicate, harmless and delightful article, producing the most natural and entrancing tints, the artificiality of which no observer can detect, and which soon becomes permanent if the Magnolia Balm is judiciously used.

POLITICS.

The Results of the New York Election as Viewed by Both Parties.

WASHINGTON, 6.—The general results of the New York election, being definitely ascertained to-day, have given rise to much interesting comment among experienced political observers at the National Capital, which may be briefly summarized as follows:

In the first place it is admitted on all hands that New York must henceforth be considered the decisive battle ground for the Presidential contest, but opinions differ widely as to the right of one party or the other to prognosticate success next year from the outcome of this election. The democrats in Washington are unquestionably more cheerful over the news than their republican neighbors, and point to Potter's majority as positive proof that New York is reliably democratic. They call attention to the fact that the republicans persistently made the issues in New York of a national character, the same as in Ohio, and though the democrats were defeated on them in Ohio, the result in New York shows that those issues cannot make the north stalwartly solid. Tilden has but few friends among the democrats here, as most of them are southern men, and for this reason there is a general prediction that his failure to carry the State for Robinson lays him on the shelf so far as the presidential nomination is concerned. There is, however, a perceptible feeling that his defeat was not so overwhelming as to totally destroy his grip on things political, and there are some democrats who predict that his strength, and that of the democratic party in general, will be increased by the stand taken by the party under the lead of Tilden in risking defeat rather than submit to the dictation of a faction, whose connection with it has been for years a reproach throughout the country. It is quite generally believed that the result in New York largely helps Senator Bayard's chances for the Presidential nomination. His views on the financial questions have always been in harmony with that of the New York democrats, and he is not objectionable to any faction of the democratic party in that State, which must now be considered essential to democratic success. Had Robinson been elected, Tilden would have undoubtedly have easily obtained the Presidential nomination. It is now contended that Tilden cannot carry the whole party strength, but that Bayard can. Tilden's friends here, however, do not concede this, but claim that his organizing abilities and resources, although unable to save Robinson against Kelly's defection, nevertheless saved all the candidates who were elected and that cannot be separated from the party's success. They, therefore, look for an immense reaction of sympathy in his favor, and confidently claim his nomination and election next year.

The Washington republicans on the other hand, argue that there is no possibility for a cordial reunion of the New York democrats upon Tilden or any presidential candidate whom he would favor, and that in any event short of Conkling's nomination, which they consider out of the question, the full republican vote of New York will be polled next year, and prove to be larger than this year's aggregate of the votes, since the democratic faction brought out every democrat they could muster, whereas a large number of republicans stald at home and refused to vote for any portion of the ticket which they believe was nominated wholly in Conkling and Cornell's interest.

New York, 6.—The Evening Post has the following special from Albany: Great uncertainty exists here relative to the result of the election as to State officers other than Governor. The heads of departments and clerks at the State hall manifest much anxiety to ascertain the latest phase of the canvass, and dispatches are passing back and forth between this city and New York with frequency. It is believed that Tammany cut Alcott badly out of revenge. In other parts of the State the democrats fear that Wadsworth, republican, for comptroller, has run ahead of his ticket. The feeling among the Robinson democrats is bitter towards the faction that has wrought the mischief. Beach, democrat, is believed to be reelected Secretary of State, and Seymour, democrat, State engineer, is thought safe if any democrat is below Potter. Wendell's republican friends refuse to give it up and claim that he is elected treasurer. Fears are entertained that in the count there is to be a repetition of the uncertainty of the last national election.

A Washington correspondent of the Sun writes: Advices received here from democratic leaders of high national repute, especially from southern public men, leave no doubt that a broadly national and conservative course will characterize the democratic policy the coming winter. Zealots will be made to take a back seat. Passionate declaration, tropical rhetoric, and sectional recrimination will be severely sat down upon. The republicans will be furnished with no more campaign thunder in the shape of foolish utterances of excited orators addressed to backwoods audiences at home, rather than the intelligence of Congress and the country. About the sentiment in the interest of a Bayard boom, it may be said that a systematic programme has been in preparation lately in the Southern States to secure their delegations for Bayard for the coming democratic convention, and the result of the New York election will augment the movement greatly.

In regard to the vote of the State ticket, the Herald says: Another day has passed, the third since the election, without settling the fate of any officer on the general State ticket, except the governor. The utmost that can be said is that the voting runs unusually close in the case of every one of them, and that the probabilities still favor the success of most of the democratic candidates.

The Sun estimates Cornell's plurality at 35,500, and Potter's majority at 4,290.

The World says: The most authentic returns received at the World office elect Mr. Potter by from 5,000 to 10,000 majority. Mr. Seymour for State Engineer is elected by a still larger majority. There appears to be no doubt of the success of Mr. Beach for Secretary of State and of Mr. Mackin for State Treasurer. Tammany cut off the city vote for Mr. Olcott for Comptroller and Mr. Schoonmaker for Attorney-General so extensively as to reduce their majority considerably in this city, and in these cases it may require the official returns to determine the result.

The Times says: The latest returns from the six counties of this State, while they reduce Cornell's plurality by a few hundreds, show an apparent majority for a greater portion of other candidates on the State ticket over their democratic competitors. Mr. James W. Wadsworth, the republican candidate for Comptroller, has received several thousand more votes than any of his colleagues, while General Joseph B. Carr, the candidate for Secretary of State, comes next in point of majority. The democrats are unquestionably more cheerful over the news than their republican neighbors, and point to Potter's majority as positive proof that New York is reliably democratic. They call attention to the fact that the republicans persistently made the issues in New York of a national character, the same as in Ohio, and though the democrats were defeated on them in Ohio, the result in New York shows that those issues cannot make the north stalwartly solid. Tilden has but few friends among the democrats here, as most of them are southern men, and for this reason there is a general prediction that his failure to carry the State for Robinson lays him on the shelf so far as the presidential nomination is concerned. There is, however, a perceptible feeling that his defeat was not so overwhelming as to totally destroy his grip on things political, and there are some democrats who predict that his strength, and that of the democratic party in general, will be increased by the stand taken by the party under the lead of Tilden in risking defeat rather than submit to the dictation of a faction, whose connection with it has been for years a reproach throughout the country. It is quite generally believed that the result in New York largely helps Senator Bayard's chances for the Presidential nomination. His views on the financial questions have always been in harmony with that of the New York democrats, and he is not objectionable to any faction of the democratic party in that State, which must now be considered essential to democratic success. Had Robinson been elected, Tilden would have undoubtedly have easily obtained the Presidential nomination. It is now contended that Tilden cannot carry the whole party strength, but that Bayard can. Tilden's friends here, however, do not concede this, but claim that his organizing abilities and resources, although unable to save Robinson against Kelly's defection, nevertheless saved all the candidates who were elected and that cannot be separated from the party's success. They, therefore, look for an immense reaction of sympathy in his favor, and confidently claim his nomination and election next year.

The Washington republicans on the other hand, argue that there is no possibility for a cordial reunion of the New York democrats upon Tilden or any presidential candidate whom he would favor, and that in any event short of Conkling's nomination, which they consider out of the question, the full republican vote of New York will be polled next year, and prove to be larger than this year's aggregate of the votes, since the democratic faction brought out every democrat they could muster, whereas a large number of republicans stald at home and refused to vote for any portion of the ticket which they believe was nominated wholly in Conkling and Cornell's interest.

Punished for Mutinous Conduct.

WASHINGTON, 6.—A court martial, ordered by the Secretary of the Navy, embracing the proceedings of the naval court martial, convened on board the United States steamship Hartford in May last, while off Montevido, was made public to-day by the navy department, from which it appears that Patrick Conley, an ordinary seaman, John Kelly, seaman, E. J. O'Brien and Henry Mullens, ordinary seamen, were tried for uniting with a mutinous assembly, and unlawfully destroying part of a battery on board of the Hartford. Conley was sentenced to hard labor in the penitentiary for 10 years, to lose his pay during the term of his confinement, and dishonorably discharged from the navy upon the completion of his term of imprisonment. Kelly's sentence was similar to Conley's, and O'Brien and Mullens were acquitted. Secretary Thompson approved the sentences.

Appointed.

The President has appointed Albert Johnson, of Colorado, surveyor General of the United States for Colorado.

Appropriations.

Estimates for the consular and diplomatic service for the next fiscal year will exceed those for the current year by about $96,000.

An appropriation of $2,750,000 will be asked for taking the census.

Financial.

NEW YORK, 6.—It is expected that the offers of bonds to the Treasury on Saturday will be large, and that the Department will take the whole $10,000,000 and pay for them as soon as they can be examined, which will be on Saturday or Monday. It is reported that purchases will be made of $10,000,000 per month hereafter, and if that is done the money market will be relieved that extent at least.

Tracklaying Resumed.

Tracklaying has been resumed on the Southern Pacific eastward from Casa Grande, Arizona, the present terminus. It will reach Shakespeare, New Mexico, by March 1st, 1880, and Messila, on the Rio Grande, 346 miles east of the present terminus, by the end of 1880.

Enlargement of the Stock Exchange.

The governing committee of the Stock Exchange has decided to enlarge the membership from 1,060 to 1,100, and that the forty new members shall pay an initiation fee of $10,000. After the membership reaches 1,200, the entrance fee will be raised to $20,000. When seats are sold by transfer of members instead of by the Exchange, the purchaser will have to pay the Exchange $1,000, when there shall be 1,100 members, instead of $500, as at present. The matter will be submitted to a general meeting of the Exchange. The proceeds of the sale of the 40 new seats will pay for the new buildings recently purchased by the Exchange.

Gen. Hooker's Remains.

CHEYENNE, 6.—The remains of General Hooker arrived at 9:20 to-night, accompanied by J. H. Treadwell, G. R. Sanford, nephews of the deceased, P. B. Lawlor, Secretary, John Hooker, cousin, and Hon. Thomas L. Young. The casket was placed in the undertaker's wagon and placed in charge of Lieutenant McNeil, United States artillery, with an escort of eight men, and taken to the Second Presbyterian Church, where it will lie until 1 p. m. to-morrow. The church is tastefully decorated with U. S. flags. The pall-bearers tomorrow will be Generals J. D. Cox, N. T. Force, A. Hickenlooper Durbin Ward, Fred. W. Moore, W. H. Baldwin, J. H. Bates, Col. L. N. Anderson, Gen. Thos. L. Young, Gen. H. B. Banning, Cols. R. M. Moore, John Kennet, E. Jones, L. H. Bond, Major G. A. Remley and Major A. T. Goshorn.

A Successful Burglary.

KENNET SQUARE, Pa., 6.—The residence of J. G. and J. F. Bailey, north of Kennet, was entered last night by three masked burglars, who rifled the safe, extracting therefrom money, bonds and securities amounting to $200,000. The perpetrators were tracked to Kennet. The thieves threw away a number of bonds, certificates, etc., which were found and restored to the owners.

The burglars took away with them a Pittsburg water bond for $1,000, not recorded; a valuable gold watch and $1,000 more in cash. All the other securities were left behind by the robbers, as they could not be negotiated.

Settlement With Creditors.

FALL RIVER, 6.—At a meeting of the Sagamore Mill, a new organization was effected by the creditors, capitalizing their claims on the basis of $250,000, the stock being apportioned in proportion to 38½ per cent. of the indebtedness represented by them in the old mill.

The loss to the American Linen Mill by the operations of the late Treasurer Paine amounts to $156,000.

GALVESTON, 6.—A News' special from Lockhart, Texas, says: Bill Davis was executed this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the murder of Dolly Hudspeth, on October 20th, 1878. He acknowledged his guilt from the scaffold, and suffered death without evincing emotion. A large crowd witnessed the hanging.

WESTERN.

Mexican Feeling.

SAN FRANCISCO, 6.—By parties who profess to be on the inside of the movement in this city, it is asserted a very large proportion of the population of Mexico is dissatisfied with the government of Diaz; that this dissatisfaction has taken the shape of organized revolutionary governments, which include many of the most distinguished Mexican soldiers and politicians, and that an outbreak, which will involve several of the most important Mexican states, is imminent. The agent of the government of restoration of the Republic of Mexico, of which Gen. Angel Maria Carrilio De Abornos is president, is in this city endeavoring to negotiate for material aid to further their schemes for the overthrow of Diaz, President of Mexico. The agent invites capitalists, who are now considering the schemes, to supply the revolutionary government with certain arms and military supplies, in return for which they are to be granted authority to organize a national bank of Mexico, the notes of which are to be legal tender for all debts, public and private, and to be receivable in payment for public lands at the rate of one dollar per acre. All public lands of Mexico are to be set apart for this purpose: Second, franchises for railways and telegraphs in Mexico, and subsidies in bonds and national bank notes sufficient for their construction; third, the abolition of all duties on importations of goods from the United States into Mexico; the land rights of immigrants are guaranteed; taxation and service in the Mexican army for a stated period are to be remitted, and religious toleration assured. There seems to be no doubt that very ambitious men in Mexico are concerned in the movement. Some of the heaviest capitalists of the Pacific Coast are reported to be now examining it with a view of engaging in the enterprise if it promises success. By private letter from a gentleman in Boston it is learned that the same scheme has been submitted to capitalists who own the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway. These gentlemen have already sent an agent to Mexico to endeavor to obtain from Diaz the same franchises so far as their company is concerned, and failing in that, it is said they have promised to give the scheme their earnest attention.
