

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB DINNER

It Was Intended. Says Harris, As a Protest Against the Knocker.

SALT LAKE, THE BEAUTIFUL.

Speakers Tell What is Necessary to Make This a Great City—The Needs Are Numerous.

Last evening's first annual mid-year dinner of the Commercial club was one of the marked successful social functions of the season. Over 150 people sat down at the tables in the great dining room of the club, with Gen. Charles A. Coolidge, U. S. A., retired, as the guest of honor, and Fisher Harris as toastmaster. The affair was entirely informal, and was therefore the better enjoyed.

President Quigley of the club introduced Mr. Harris as toastmaster, and the latter in his remarks said:

"This meeting has been intended from the first plans to be a protest against the knocker and an open rebuke to those who have wilfully and persistently misrepresented the state of the Club and her good people to the world. It was also its purpose to strike a blow at the man who, earning his living in this glorious state, has naught of good to say about it and renders no good toward its growth and development."

GEN. COOLIDGE.

Gen. Coolidge on being introduced, said: "When I first came west, 27 years ago, we were carried by the Pacific as far as Utah only. Fort Douglas was then a few three-mud huts. I was a refugee from San Francisco. Where once large buildings stand now is but a barren waste. Wooden homes are now springing up, reminding one of the huts of '49." The speaker remarked that a soldier is seldom a speaker and that the rule is not the exception applied to him.

CIVIC BEAUTY SUBJECT.

President Frank B. Stephens of the Civic league spoke on "Commercial Value of Civics." He said:

"We have reached an age when we must reach onward with our faces toward the front. We have reached an age when many start out in life instead of putting along as we have done for so many years. Good roads, sanitary conditions, beautiful trees and other public improvements have an influence which nets cold dollars and cents in return. The contemplated boulevard, affording a panoramic view embracing the Wasatch peaks, the fertile fields and the wealthy canyons is but an item in the long list of factors which will mean civic beauty for Salt Lake. Upon the base of necessity rests everything beautiful. The piece of sculpture, painting or literary masterpiece must carry a message to mankind to be beautiful, just as the lines of the face mark the character of the man, so does the appearance of a city mark the strength of its citizenship. Salt Lake is the educational center of the mountainous region. It is the base of industry. Idleness should be shamed. The gambler must take a shell and get to work. There should be open public places for the workingmen to ponder with the loaded dice and manipulated roulette wheel spending the money which belongs to his family. We are creatures of environment. Our surroundings build our character. Civic beauty thus has a value which cannot be estimated in money. We can and will make Salt Lake a city which will be an example to those who visit it."

THE BOULEVARD.

In commending on Mr. Stephen's reference to the Boulevard, Mr. Harris said:

"The Commercial club has $7,000 raised for this drive. Before completed the drive should cost at least $50,000 and be made one of the most beautiful in the country. We will start a work that the municipality of Salt Lake must aid in finishing. The city council, driven by public sentiment, will complete this Boulevard and it will be the glory of the state."

JUDGE COLBORN SCOLDS.

Judge Colborn said he was delegated to see some scolding in telling where Salt Lake had failed in her duty to the line of civic improvement. He then stated: "In starting out to make Salt Lake the really beautiful city she really means it. You are going to do something you never have done before. We are going to do this, however, and we will build the city here without regard to creed of nationality, and one of which we may all feel justly proud. There is one feature of this city that must be done away with and that is the long rows of salaried buildings in the business district that stand as they were erected in 1847, and are of no purpose except to disgrace the business and commercial reputation of the city and fatten the rental income of their owners. I see the day coming when there will be no Mormon and no Gentile in the sense there is now, and on that day there will come the beginning of the realization of our hopes for a city that will be without a peer in the whole country."

ALL HAIL PE-RU-NA

A Case of STOMACH CATARRH.

MARY O'BRIEN

UTE INDIANS ARE DISGRUNTLED

Redskins Are Angry and Have No Use for the Soldiers.

HELD A BIG WAR DANCE.

Three Hundred of Them Have Started North—Game Said to be Scarce And Provisions Low.

The Vermont Express says: The 300 disgruntled Utes who have started north, were in camp several days this month on Diamond mountain, in the head of Jackson draw. Reports brought to town by the sheepmen are to the effect that a big war dance was held Monday, but it was cut short by the rain. However, this wild, blood stirring custom seems to be part of the program. It is hardly possible that among all the 300 there is a single Indian who ever took a scalp; yet these young bucks, sons of the wilder Indians, have shunning in them the warlike ferocity of the race, which needs but the inciting. And nothing is just suited to awaken all the old time spirit of the Indians more than the warwhoop and war dance.

The Indians had scarcely pitched their first camp at the "Troubles" a place where the mountains meet in the valley of Vernal, until they saluted forth in genuine war style and danced themselves into a state of frenzy, in which frame of mind they are ready to commit any sort of depredations. In fact, this is the genius of the war dance; to bolster up the wild nature to violence. The warwhoop and demonstrative gesticulations are really intoxicating and are marvelously contagious. It is a wonderful way to stir up hot blood, and the intuition to fully sense this fact, seems to be born with every redskin.

A Great Tonic.

Mr. Austin M. Small, Astoria, Ore., writes: "During the hot weather of the past summer I lost my appetite. I tried Peruna, and found it pleasant to take a splendid appetizer and a great tonic."

honorable man?" may our decision of how worth depend."

BOSTON MAN SPEAKS.

Henry E. Browne of Boston spoke on Utah and Salt Lake from the standpoint of an outsider, and complimented this city as being the origin of the movement to see America first.

JUDGE COLBORN SCOLDS.

Judge Colborn said he was delegated to see some scolding in telling where Salt Lake had failed in her duty to the line of civic improvement. He then stated: "In starting out to make Salt Lake the really beautiful city she really means it. You are going to do something you never have done before. We are going to do this, however, and we will build the city here without regard to creed of nationality, and one of which we may all feel justly proud. There is one feature of this city that must be done away with and that is the long rows of salaried buildings in the business district that stand as they were erected in 1847, and are of no purpose except to disgrace the business and commercial reputation of the city and fatten the rental income of their owners. I see the day coming when there will be no Mormon and no Gentile in the sense there is now, and on that day there will come the beginning of the realization of our hopes for a city that will be without a peer in the whole country."

AT THE TABLES.

The tables were arranged in "U" form the full length of the room, with small tables filling the space between. Pink and green were the decorations of the occasion. A bed of plumes and ferns studded with carnations and ferns, peacock feathers, pink peacock feathers placed at intervals on the long side tables. Pink carnations were used for the boutonnieres.

THREE CLASSES STARTED

At the Deseret Summer Institute in Theology.

The Deseret Summer Institute opened last Monday at the Latter-day Saints' university buildings. Classes have been organized in the following subjects: Book of Mormon evidences conducted by Elder B. H. Roberts; Old Testament history, by Prof. A. C. Lund, and Beginnings of Church History (modern), by Instructor John H. Evans. All these courses are open to the general public and are free of charge. The first class is held in room 24, of the B. Y. Memorial building; the second in room 24, and the third in room 25, from 1:45 to 8:15 every morning, except Saturdays and Sundays.

WANT SOLDIER BLOOD.

They have repeatedly asked Mr. Whitlock if the soldiers were going to interfere with their journey north. They seem to think that the citizens in general are their friends, but they hold a deadly enmity toward the troops, and freely express their determination to kill, if Uncle Sam's boys attempt to bring them back as has been the case in the past.

Of course they are not all aware of the fact that the government cannot return them to their reservation as was done frequently under the old regulations. They are now citizens and can do as they please, so long as they respect the rights of others. But it is the opinion of Mr. Whitlock, and he so expressed himself to several leading men, that when they get into Wyoming they will be a public nuisance. Such a large company with horses and cattle will eat up much feed both for man and beast. The people over there will not furnish this freshhanded, and no doubt will take steps to send the migrants back. To do this will require the aid of troops, and as surely as it does, the result will be bloodshed.

BROUGHT HIS SON BACK.

When this danger was explained to Patterson, he made haste and overtook the band on Taylor mountain, where after a stormy scene, he persuaded his son William to return home. Young Patterson is a hot-blooded fellow, and one of the number who cut his hair in token of his enmity toward the whites.

DIGGING "UNUCHI PAPAS."

Already the foot supply in the Indian camp is short. The shearing gangs on Diamond mountain sold all the provisions they could spare, but that was insufficient even with a number of sheep in addition. Indians could be seen elsewhere digging "unuchi papas," wild potatoes, which are plentiful on the mountains. When they get over into the valleys beyond they must buy most of their food—say, only the luckless prairie dogs and badgers along the route. So when the present supply of cash is gone, the cattle sold or eaten the ponies "swapped" off, the goodwill of the other Indians exhausted—if indeed they get so far—what will the redmen do?

Chances are very much in favor of trouble for them are long, and it will be hoped that circumstances may be adjusted without bloodshed.

FACT EASILY PROVED

that

POSTUM

will rebuild a broken-down, coffee-ruined system.

H. P. FABIAN ELECTED.

Secures Membership in the Elfin Club of Yale.

The last number of Yale Alumni Weekly announces the election of Harold P. Fabian of this city to membership in the Elfin (sorority) club.

Fourteen other members of the class of 1906 were thus honored, among them being L. A. Doherty of Murray, Ida. Mr. Fabian was offered an election to Wolf's Head, another senior society, but declined. During his college course, Mr. Fabian was a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, secretary of the Yale Athletic association, member of the junior promenade committee, captain of his junior class crew, a member of the Apollo Banjo club, of the University Banjo club, and an oratorical scholar. He prepared at Merriweather academy. Mr. Doherty was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, secretary of the Yale Debating association, alternate in the debate with Princeton, 1905, member of the executive committee of the Yale union, president of Phi Beta Kappa.

Mary's officiating in the presence of the relatives and intimate friends. The bride wore a going away outfit of dark cloth with a white sash and carried white roses. Miss Hallie Ferren played the bridal music and J. R. Carson gave the bride away. Mr. and Mrs. McElroy left later for a trip to the coast, after two weeks spent at home.

A large affair of yesterday was the reception at Rowland hall for the graduates of the high school, decorated with the school colors, white and red, roses being used everywhere with artistic profusion. Blasing Spalding assisted in receiving with the faculty and a number of students and their parents. The band played delightful music and about 200 guests dined during the evening.

Mr. J. C. McLean was hostess at an informal afternoon tea given in honor of his sister, Mrs. George E. King of Belvedere Cal. The hours being from 3 to 5 o'clock. The rooms were bright with flowers, roses being used in vases of Ivy throughout the house, and a number of intimate friends assisted.

Mr. Hubbard Reed entertained at a large bridge party yesterday about 50 guests being present. The rooms were decorated in pink and green with by Mrs. P. Wilson, Mrs. E. Lockwood, Mrs. G. P. Holman and Mrs. H. C. Woodring.

Mrs. S. P. Fenton entertained informally at a luncheon today at her home.

One of the most elaborate affairs of yesterday was the annual breakfast of the Woman's club, the function being given at the Commercial club. The table was laid in the private diningroom and decorated with a centerpiece of buds strewn over the cloth. The affair was restricted to the club members and the following reigned toasts: Mrs. N. Cook, Mrs. L. P. Johnson, Mrs. V. B. Cook, Mrs. Clesson S. Kinney, Mrs. L. S. Deane, Mrs. Howard S. Stow, Mrs. Helen V. Kimball and Miss Buckbee. Mrs. S. J. Powers was toastmistress and the subject of the breakfast was "Our Friends."

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Fell leave tonight for the Tetons, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey leaves next week for California.

Mrs. Marion Cutler, daughter of Miss Katherine Moffett and Willard Hartson, a singer famous for her friends and popularity abroad. The room was decorated with a profusion of flowers, palms and vines, the parlor being in pink and white roses, a canopy being formed with testicles hung from the chandelier to the room. The room was decorated with flowers and vines, the ceiling being pink and white, the floor yellow, the walls green and the chairs yellow, green and pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Lewis performed a program of songs and sketches. The program closed with a clever original piece by Mrs. H. S. Stow depicting the clubwoman of 2006.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Fell leave tonight for the Tetons, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey leaves next week for California.

Mrs. Marion Cutler, daughter of Miss Katherine Moffett and Willard Hartson, a singer famous for her friends and popularity abroad. The room was decorated with a profusion of flowers, palms and vines, the parlor being in pink and white roses, a canopy being formed with testicles hung from the chandelier to the room. The room was decorated with flowers and vines, the ceiling being pink and white, the walls green and the chairs yellow, green and pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Lewis performed a program of songs and sketches. The program closed with a clever original piece by Mrs. H. S. Stow depicting the clubwoman of 2006.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Fell leave tonight for the Tetons, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey leaves next week for California.

Mrs. Marion Cutler, daughter of Miss Katherine Moffett and Willard Hartson, a singer famous for her friends and popularity abroad. The room was decorated with a profusion of flowers, palms and vines, the parlor being in pink and white roses, a canopy being formed with testicles hung from the chandelier to the room. The room was decorated with flowers and vines, the ceiling being pink and white, the walls green and the chairs yellow, green and pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Lewis performed a program of songs and sketches. The program closed with a clever original piece by Mrs. H. S. Stow depicting the clubwoman of 2006.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Fell leave tonight for the Tetons, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey leaves next week for California.

Mrs. Marion Cutler, daughter of Miss Katherine Moffett and Willard Hartson, a singer famous for her friends and popularity abroad. The room was decorated with a profusion of flowers, palms and vines, the parlor being in pink and white roses, a canopy being formed with testicles hung from the chandelier to the room. The room was decorated with flowers and vines, the ceiling being pink and white, the walls green and the chairs yellow, green and pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Lewis performed a program of songs and sketches. The program closed with a clever original piece by Mrs. H. S. Stow depicting the clubwoman of 2006.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Fell leave tonight for the Tetons, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey leaves next week for California.

Mrs. Marion Cutler, daughter of Miss Katherine Moffett and Willard Hartson, a singer famous for her friends and popularity abroad. The room was decorated with a profusion of flowers, palms and vines, the parlor being in pink and white roses, a canopy being formed with testicles hung from the chandelier to the room. The room was decorated with flowers and vines, the ceiling being pink and white, the walls green and the chairs yellow, green and pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Lewis performed a program of songs and sketches. The program closed with a clever original piece by Mrs. H. S. Stow depicting the clubwoman of 2006.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Fell leave tonight for the Tetons, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey leaves next week for California.

Mrs. Marion Cutler, daughter of Miss Katherine Moffett and Willard Hartson, a singer famous for her friends and popularity abroad. The room was decorated with a profusion of flowers, palms and vines, the parlor being in pink and white roses, a canopy being formed with testicles hung from the chandelier to the room. The room was decorated with flowers and vines, the ceiling being pink and white, the walls green and the chairs yellow, green and pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Lewis performed a program of songs and sketches. The program closed with a clever original piece by Mrs. H. S. Stow depicting the clubwoman of 2006.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Fell leave tonight for the Tetons, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey leaves next week for California.

Mrs. Marion Cutler, daughter of Miss Katherine Moffett and Willard Hartson, a singer famous for her friends and popularity abroad. The room was decorated with a profusion of flowers, palms and vines, the parlor being in pink and white roses, a canopy being formed with testicles hung from the chandelier to the room. The room was decorated with flowers and vines, the ceiling being pink and white, the walls green and the chairs yellow, green and pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Lewis performed a program of songs and sketches. The program closed with a clever original piece by Mrs. H. S. Stow depicting the clubwoman of 2006.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Fell leave tonight for the Tetons, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey leaves next week for California.

Mrs. Marion Cutler, daughter of Miss Katherine Moffett and Willard Hartson, a singer famous for her friends and popularity abroad. The room was decorated with a profusion of flowers, palms and vines, the parlor being in pink and white roses, a canopy being formed with testicles hung from the chandelier to the room. The room was decorated with flowers and vines, the ceiling being pink and white, the walls green and the chairs yellow, green and pink.